He Is Expected to Go Beyond His Lind Proposals in Mexican Message to Congress.

STILL WANTS A FREE HAND

But in Submitting Negotiations He Is Supposed to Intend Enlightening the Public.

PENROSE DEMANDS TROOPS

Asks for $25,000,000 to Protect Americans in Southern Republic—Hulses' Peril Seems Real.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Convinced that Provisional President Huerta will not retract his rejection of the American Government's proposals for restoration of peace in Mexico, President Wilson decided to-day to lay before Congress the communications that have passed between the two Governments, accompanied by a message in which he may advise going a step beyond the suggestions made to the Mexican Administration through John Lind. It is understood the President will avoid everything that might be construed as intervention, but that it is possible his new plan will include a show of force for the protection of American citizens in Mexico without actual resort to arms.

What the President will say in his message has not been discussed. He made his intention known to men with whom he talked to-day, and they obtained from him the impression that his purpose in making Congress familiar with the terms he had offered to Mexico and the disappointing response to his efforts, was to supply the basis for discussion and the development of sentiment in and out of the Capitol. One of those who talked with Mr. Wilson said the President wished knowledge of what he had sought to accomplish to "sink in" among Senators and Representatives and the American people, and enable them to understand the situation confronting the Administration. The President was hopeful, apparently, that this exposition of the Administration's views would bring widespread support to the objects of Mr. Lind's mission and result in the formation of a public opinion that would point the way for the Government to follow in its further dealings with Mexico.

Senate Support Cheers Him.

In spite of the rebuff received from the Huerta Government, President Wilson was very cheerful to-day. That cheerfulness was due in large measure to the refutation given by Republican Senators this afternoon to the assertions of President Huerta in his conversation with Mr. Lind last Monday night. Gen. Huerta said on that occasion that President Wilson did not have the support of the American Congress and the American people in his efforts to bring Mexico out of her present condition of chaos, and that the refusal of President Wilson to recognize the present Mexican Government was not popular in the United States. When the happenings in the Senate were reported to the President he expressed his gratification, and paid a tribute to the non-partisan attitude which the Republicans in Congress had shown in connection with everything pertaining to the Mexican situation.

Discussion of President Huerta's assertion that President Wilson did not have the support of Congress or the American people in his Mexican policy was precipitated in the Senate by the action of Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania in presenting a resolution virtually directing the President to send United States troops across the border to protect American lives and property on Mexican territory, and in offering an amendment to the Urgent Deficiency bill to appropriate $25,000,000 for the uses set forth in the resolution.

Mr. Penrose soon found that his proposals were not popular even among Senators on his side of the chamber. It was evident before the discussion had proceeded far that Republican leaders of the Upper House were anxious to show President Huerta that there was no basis for his belief that the attitude of President Wilson toward Mexico was regarded in Congress as partisan and was not indorsed by many Senators. No action was taken on the Penrose proposals, but it was made evident that in bringing them forward at this time the Pennsylvania Senator had not taken a course popular among his colleagues.

Wilson at Work on Message.

President Wilson began work this evening on the message he will send to Congress, with copies of the note containing his proposals, and the response of the Mexican Government rejecting them. The massage hardly will be transmitted before Saturday and possibly not until Monday. Nothing was said in the White House to give a definite idea of what Mr. Wilson would recommend, but the inference was drawn from remarks made there that the President had definite ideas intended to meet the deadlock.

It is not understood the President will suggest that Congress take immediate action. His idea appears to be that the Executive should be permitted to pursue his own course for the present.

Although obviously seriously disappointed over the manner in which his programme has been received by President Huerta, Mr. Wilson continues to express hope that Mr. Lind's mission will be successful. The President is greatly pleased with the way in which his special representative has carried out the instructions given to him, and evidently has much confidence in Mr. Lind's wisdom, ability, and discretion.

Consul Admits Hulse's Peril.

NO MORE 14-FOOT BALLOTS.

Amendment to the Primary Law Cuts Two-Thirds from Their Size.

J. Gabriel Britt, President of the Board of Elections, said yesterday that, thanks to the amendment to the primary law passed on Aug. 15 over Gov. Sulzer's veto, there would be no more fourteen-foot ballots at the primary elections.

"This change was effected in a very simple way," said Mr. Britt. "The recent amendment to the primary law gives the Board of Elections the right, in its discretion, to print the names of party nominees and party committeemen in parallel columns when the number of any committee exceeds forty. Also, the space in front of each name is made by this amendment one-sixth of an inch instead of a quarter of an inch, as was the requirement of the original statute.

"This is simplicity itself, and conclusively proves that all the ridicule and odium heaped on the Direct Primary act was undeserved and that whatever unusual features existed in the form of the ballot by reason of its length, &c., were due to errors of calculation or of judgment on the part of the persons who framed the original act."

President Britt said that the ballot of the Twenty-third Assembly District, which last Primary Day was fourteen feet long, had been reduced to one-third of that length, and that the ballots of the other Assembly districts would be reduced proportionately, and in many instances would not be more than two feet square.

DREAM OF DEATH CAME TRUE

Garage Attendant Killed After Telling Other Employes of His Vision.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Aug. 21.—When George Knitteberger of this place arrived at the garage where he was employed this morning, he told other employes there that he had dreamed last night that he had been killed in an automobile accident. Later in the morning he, Anthony Hager, Frank Phelico, and E. Rabinowitz took Rabinowitz's auto from the garage to test it.

Hager drove the auto along the Boston Post Road at a speed of fifteen miles an hour. Rabinowitz, Knitteberger, and Phelico were on the chassis behind the chauffeur. They were driving on the trolley tracks and when Hager attempted to turn out to pass a car coming from the opposite direction the steering gear failed to work and the auto crashed into the front of the trolley car. Knitteberger and Phelico were thrown under the chassis and became entangled in the engine. Knitteberger's right leg was cut off below the knee and he suffered a compound fracture of the left leg. Phelico's right leg was mangled. Rabinowitz and Hager were uninjured. At the New Rochelle Hospital Phelico and Knitteberger died from shock.

FIRE THREATENS MRS. TRASK

Ill, She Is Carried from Summer Home—Now in Critical Condition.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Spencer Trask, who has been seriously ill in her Summer home on Three Brothers Island, was carried from her bed at an early hour this morning by servants, who escaped from their quarters in their night clothing when a fire, which started at 4 o'clock, destroyed their building. Mrs. Trask was taken in a motor boat to the mainland and is now in Abenia, the home of George Foster Peabody.

A maid in Mrs. Trask's home, Triuna, discovered the fire after it had gained much headway and gave the alarm. All the buildings on the island, occupied by the servants, were destroyed, as was Mr. Peabody's steam yacht Pocahontas, which was moored at the dock, and several motor boats. The nine servants barely escaped with their lives.

Scores of cottagers about the lake hurried to the scene and formed bucket brigades, which were unable to cope with the flames.

Dr. G. R. Butler, hastily summoned from New York, arrived here to-night and is attending Mrs. Trask, whose condition is critical.

The fire is believed to have started on the Pocahontas, due to carelessness of the firemen in dumping ashes from under the boilers.

WRECKS TRAIN, SAVES MANY

Quick Action by Tower Man Averts Disastrous Collision.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—The quick decision of Clarence Wise, a railway tower man stationed at the Calumet River Bridge, near Hammond, Ind., probably saved the lives of many men and women en route from Chicago to New York and other Eastern points this afternoon. Wise averted a head-on collision between a train carrying 350 passengers and an express train by throwing the switch which swept the express train down an embankment into the river.

At the Calumet River the Erie and the Nickel Plate Railways use the same bridge. The Nickel Plate train, known as New York, Chicago & St. Louis No. 1, was whirling along at a rate of thirty-five miles an hour. Coming in the opposite direction, but somewhat behind time, was a Wells Fargo express train on the Erie. The Nickel Plate train carried twelve vestibuled coaches filled with passengers.

While the Nickel Plate train was crossing the bridge, Wise saw the Erie express shoot suddenly from behind a curve and bear down upon the passenger train.

Wise threw the switch, causing the express train to take a header down the steep embankment of the approach to the bridge, totally wrecking the engine and derailing the cars. Even then he was not quick enough to prevent the cowcatcher from ripping into one of the vestibuled coaches and tearing a hole in it.

The engineer of the wrecked express, Henry Palmer, jumped as the train struck the derail. He landed in front of the Nickel Plate train, but managed to roll off the track in time to save his life. J. B. Hoffmann, the fireman, jumped from the other side of the cab at the same moment, and was also uninjured.

The Nickel Plate No. 1 did not hesitate, but continued on its way at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour. None of the passengers, except those in the coach which was struck by the cowcatcher of the wrecked train, knew how narrow their escape had been.

"I'm not a hero," said Wise, who is 24 years old, and lives in Hammond. "The Nickel Plate had the right of way, and I gave it to her."

ALCO MAKERS QUIT AUTOMOBILE FIELD

Will Close Their Big Plant at Providence and Stop Making Cars and Trucks.

GUARANTEES HOLD GOOD

And Parts Will Be Supplied to Owners for Five Years—Company Operated at a Loss from Start.

The American Locomotive Company, one of the three largest makers of automobiles in this country, announced yesterday that it had decided to abandon the manufacture of automobiles.

This decision was reached by the Board of Directors at a meeting on Aug. 13, but nothing was said about it until after a second meeting held yesterday. None of the officers of the American Locomotive Company could be reached last night, but the following statement was given out on behalf of President W. H. Marshall, who is at Cape Cod:

"The directors of this company, at a meeting held on Aug. 13, decided to discontinue the manufacture and sale of automobiles and motor trucks.

"The company takes this opportunity to assure all owners of Alco vehicles that arrangements will be made to furnish them with repair parts for a period not less than five years to come; further, that it will fulfill in every respect its obligations given under guarantee to its customers."

The American Locomotive Company engaged in the manufacture of high-priced cars in 1906, when it obtained the American rights to the Berliet car. Skilled mechanics were brought here from the Berliet plant in Lyons, France, and an immense factory was built in Providence. The new car proved an immediate success from the buyer's standpoint.

Has $6,000,000 Invested in Plants.

The Alco has been the highest priced car made in this country, most of the pleasure cars selling for $6,000. In the past three or four years the company has been pushing the manufacture and sale of heavy trucks as a more profitable end of the business. It ranks third among the American manufacturers of commercial vehicles. In the past year 85 per cent. of its business has been in trucks and 15 per cent. in pleasure cars. It makes more taxicabs than any other concern in the United States. The Alco has enjoyed the distinction of being the only automobile to win the Vanderbilt Cup twice. It won the great classic in 1909, and repeated the performance in 1910.

So far as could be learned last night from men familiar with the company's affairs, the Alco car is not to be made by any other company, and the enormous plant at Providence will be dismantled. It is said that the American Locomotive Company has $6,000,000 invested in the manufacture of motor cars. There are 1,200 employes at Providence, where high salaries have been the rule. It is understood that all of the employes other than those needed for the maintenance of service stations and in the manufacture of parts have been given thirty days' notice.

Besides the Providence plant, the company occupies an entire building at Broadway and Sixty-second Street, with a lease having fourteen years more to run. At Long Island City it has a completely equipped service plant, with a building which cost $100,000, where parts worth $125,000 are carried in stock. At Chicago it has a branch costing $112,000, while a service station on the Pacific Coast is valued at $175,000. In Philadelphia a building is leased by the company at an annual rental of $25,000, and one in Boston at $15,000.

The factory at Providence has a real estate value of $1,000,000, and is said to be the most complete plant of its kind in this country. It contains a large amount of costly special machinery, a large chemical laboratory, testing grounds, and service station.

Sold Its Cars at a Loss.

Automobile men say that the Alco always has been sold at a loss, owing to the remote location of its plant, the cost of getting raw material to Providence, and delays in making deliveries. The latter factor is said to have played an important part in running up costs. It is asserted that one-third of the company's output in recent years has reached the market after the season has closed. One well-known authority in the trade said last night that the company operated at a loss of $600,000 last year.

In an attempt to lower unit costs by increasing the volume of sales Harry S. Houpt was engaged as general sales manager two and a half years ago. At that time the company had only four agencies. With a liberal advertising appropriation Mr. Houpt began an aggressive campaign, which resulted in an increase of 365 per cent. in the sales and the acquisition of eighty-nine agencies for placing the cars. Houpt left the Alco Company last March to take the New York agency of the Lozier.

The company's trucks have been big sellers. The company had the distinction a few months ago of obtaining the largest single order ever placed for motor cars. This called for the delivery of eighty large trucks for the mail-carrying service in this city. These cars are now in operation.

SAVE ISHAM FOR COL. CODY.

Friends Bid in Buffalo Bill's Horse at Wild West Auction.

DENVER, Aug. 21.—At the auction of the bankrupt Wild West Show property here to-day an agreement between staunch friends of Col. W. F. Cody, that Col. C. J. Bills of Lincoln, Neb., would bid in Isham, the white horse ridden by Buffalo Bill at every performance of the show for twenty-five years, for presentation to the latter, was faithfully carried out.

Carlo Miles, an Indian, was unaware of the agreement, but, with the same purpose in view, went his limit in bidding.

The Nebraska man opened the bidding at $10, the price agreed upon.

"Twenty dollars," declared the Indian.

"Twenty-five dollars, thirty-five dollars, fifty dollars," came the bids from all sides in the same breath.

The bid was raised $5 or $10 at a time, until $150 was offered by the man from Nebraska. In the meantime Carlo Miles had lost his traditional stoicism. The tears had began to form in his eyes and were rolling down his swarthy cheeks. The bidding was carrying him beyond the value of his outfit.

"I can't go much further," he told a friend in a half whisper, "but if the man who buys that horse don't give him back to Col. Cody I'll steal the horse to-night and take it to him."

When he was told that all the bidders had the one idea of buying the horse for Col. Cody he wept tears of joy.

HER 14 TRUNKS SEIZED FOR DUTIES

Customs Men Charge Rich Mrs. Velie of Moline with Smuggling.

Mrs. William L. Velie, wife of the President of the Velie Motor Company of Moline, Ill., who was among the saloon passengers who arrived on the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm II. on Tuesday, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Edward J. Stanton in Hoboken yesterday, charged with attempting to smuggle into the United States jewelry and wearing apparel worth thousands of dollars. The charge was preferred by the Customs authorities of New York, who alleged that while Mrs. Velie declared dutiable articles valued at only $245, she had in her fourteen trunks dutiable things worth from $5,000 to $10,000.

Mrs. Velie is a fine looking woman of about 45. On the trip that ended in Hoboken on Tuesday she was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Marjorie Velie, and Miss Mary Lilly, a companion. In making her declaration she included also the baggage of her daughter and Miss Lilly, the total value of the dutiable things brought in by all three being placed at less than $250.

As soon as the Kaiser Wilhelm II. docked Mrs. Velie appeared at the desk of Acting Deputy Surveyor John P. O'Connor and asked permission to leave the pier, giving as her reason that she desired to make some purchases in New York before leaving for her home in the West. She said that she would leave her baggage in the care of her daughter and Miss Lilly. O'Connor referred the request to Deputy Surveyor Raczkiewicz, who was in charge on the pier, and Mr. Raczkiewicz granted the request, which is one often made by returning Americans, and is generally granted when the reasons given are reasonable. Acting Deputy Surveyor O'Connor noticed that Mrs. Velie was wearing a fine assortment of jewelry, and she was requested to leave that behind so that it could be properly registered. This she did, and then left the pier.

Customs Inspector William H. Kraft was assigned to examine the fourteen trunks brought over by Mrs. Velie. He went through them very carefully, and before he had finished with two of them he realized that the dutiable articles in those two trunks alone would reach a total much in excess of the $245 declared.

Kraft then called in Mr. Raczkiewicz and explained the situation to him, and the Deputy Surveyor ordered all of the trunks sent to the Appraisers Stores in Manhattan for further examination. So far the appraisers have finished with only half of the trunks, and the value of the dutiable goods found in them already totals about $3,000, while invoiced receipts and bills found in them indicate, according to the information given out at the Custom House yesterday, that the total may reach $10,000.

Gen. Nelson H. Henry, Surveyor of the Port, took the matter in hand and referred it to Commissioner Stanton in Hoboken. Mrs. Velie was told to appear before Commissioner Stanton yesterday afternoon. She did so, and was accompanied by ex-United States Senator John C. Spooner of Wisconsin and Henry Gennert as counsel. The hearing was brief. Mrs. Velie pleaded not guilty to the charge of smuggling. Commissioner Stanton postponed the hearing in the case until next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and paroled Mrs. Velie in the custody of Mr. Spooner and Mr. Gennert.

Mrs. Velie is stopping at the Hotel Gotham. She refused to say anything with reference to the predicament that she is in beyond the simple statement that she was not guilty, as indicated by her plea. Neither did her lawyers have any statement to make.

Mr. Velie, it is understood, will come from Illinois in order to be present at the hearing on Monday afternoon.

Special to The New York Times.

MOLINE, Ill., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Velie is well known both in the East and West. She is the wife of W. L. Velie, President of the Velie Motor Vehicle Company and head of the Executive Committee which controls the great John Deere interests. She is a niece of the late Mrs. C. H. Deere, National Vice President of the Daughters of the Revolution, an order of which she is an influential member.

NEW YORK GIRL A SUICIDE?

Miss Burns, Found Dead in Atlantic City, Wore Costly Clothing.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 21.—Following closely upon the suicide of Miss Edith A. Rea of New York, who was found dead in a hotel in this city, the police were called upon to-day to investigate the suicide of a young woman who registered as Elizabeth Burns of Philadelphia at the Hotel Ilesworth at Virginia Avenue and the Boardwalk.

Miss Burns, in order to keep the gas fumes by which she killed herself from escaping, slit a rubber bag up one side and laced this around her head and connected it with a tube leading to the gas jet. The suicide was discovered when employes of the hotel detected the odor of gas in the hall from which Miss Burns's room opened. The authorities up to a late hour to-night had been unable to find any one who knew the dead woman. She was about 25 years old, five feet eleven inches tall, had curly brown hair and wore clothing of good material.

The police said to-night that in their opinion Miss Burns came from New York instead of from Philadelphia. Her shoes came from a store in Fifth Avenue, New York, and other articles of clothing which she wore were purchased in the same city. The back of her watch was incrusted with diamonds, and the chain and the small catch by which it was attached to the watch were set with diamonds.

The body of Miss Rea was turned over to her mother and sister to-day. They learned of her death when they read the New York newspapers this morning. Mrs. Rea said she did not know why her daughter had killed herself.

TRAFFIC WAR BEGUN BY GERMAN LINES

Hamburg-American Announces Establishment of Steerage Service to Baltimore.

HAMBURG, Aug. 21.—The passenger war between the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd Steamship Companies, which, it was expected, would be started about the beginning of 1914, has already opened.

The early beginning of hostilities is directly due to the announcement of the North German Lloyd Line on Aug. 19 that it would begin a regular passenger and freight service between Bremen and Boston, the Boston service having heretofore been in the hands of the Hamburg-American. Officials of the latter company declared to-day that they considered the North German Lloyd's action as a trespass on the Hamburg-American's territory, and they will retaliate by establishing a steerage service to Baltimore, which heretofore has been left to the North German Lloyd.

In a statement this afternoon the North German Lloyd Company pointed out that the Boston traffic had attained such proportions that a service to that port had long been under consideration and had been definitely decided upon last January.

The Hamburg-American Company hints at further retaliatory measures.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 21.—A few years ago Baltimore ranked third among American cities as an immigration port, but in the last few years, owing to the pooling agreement between the Atlantic lines, the North German Lloyd has been the only company which could bring immigrants here.

Secure in its monopoly of this trade, the company began to land most of its steerage passengers at Philadelphia, and Baltimore has been surpassed by two other ports, now ranking fifth. The present order of American cities as ports of immigration is: New York, Boston, Philadelphia, New Orleans, and Baltimore.

With the termination of the pooling agreement and the inauguration of the Hamburg-American service, Baltimore may regain its former place. It is believed that the North German Lloyd also will now pay more attention to this port, since it must compete with another line.

The Hamburg-American Line announced yesterday that a new direct passenger service would be established between Hamburg and Baltimore, with the steamers Bulgaria, 11,440 tons; Bosnia, 9,683 tons, and Arcadia, 5,445 tons.

There will be a sailing every two weeks, starting from Hamburg on Sept. 16, by the Arcadia. The Arcadia will sail from Baltimore on Oct. 8. The next sailing from Hamburg will be on Oct. 2 by the Bulgaria, and from Baltimore Oct. 25. The Bosnia will sail from Hamburg on Oct. 16 and from Baltimore Nov. 9.

The Hamburg-American Line also contemplates a direct service between Hamburg and Galveston, Texas.

TOWN SAVED BY WIND SHIFT.

Forest Fire Had Nearly Reached Biddeford's Residence District.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Aug. 21.—A shift of the wind saved Biddeford from a serious disaster to-day, when it turned back a forest fire that had swept up to the very outskirts of the city, despite the efforts of 800 militiamen, firemen, and volunteers, summoned by a riot call. These fire-fighters, with the aid of powerful engines, were already devoting their best efforts to checking roof fires in the suburbs started by a shower of sparks driven by a strong southerly breeze, when the wind changed.

At West Street, where the danger was greatest, the flames were within a few yards of the ice plant of David Wilcox and a number of dwellings. Many fire-fighters, hemmed in by the rapidly spreading flames, had narrow escapes. Thousands of acres of land were burned over, but, as there was no valuable standing timber in the way, the loss was comparatively small.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 21.—Weather Bureau officials could see no break to-night in one of the longest droughts in Maine. Since Jan. 1 the deficiency in rainfall has amounted to 8.35 inches, while records show that the year has been 20 degrees warmer than usual. The most serious results of the prolonged dry period have been the destructive forest fires, especially those in Southwestern Maine.

HIS CHARMER HAD HUSBAND

Miner Who Traveled Far to Wed Her Suspects a Plot to Swindle.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Aug. 21.—It would be hard to find a more peevish man than Ralph Reviello, a miner of Old Forge, Penn., who, in the expectation of marrying a widow at Milltown, made the trip all the way from his Pennsylvania home only to find that the "widow" had a husband and five-year-old daughter.

According to Reviello, he answered an advertisement in a small paper out his way which was to the effect that "a widow with a small amount of money would like to meet a man in comfortable circumstances with the object of marrying." Reviello answered the advertisement and the "widow" and he exchanged letters for some time. Finally he proposed and was accepted, and today he landed at Milltown prepared to marry the woman.

Instead, he met a man at the Post Office who said he was the "widow's" brother and who took him to a house and introduced him to the "widow." According to Reviello, the "widow" and her brother demanded that he give an engagement present to her. The "widow" then introduced him to her five-year-old daughter. Reviello admits that he got "cold feet" and fled from the place.

He says the woman used the name Louise Fiurino, Box 24, Milltown, in her correspondence with him. Now he believes that name fictitious. He says he believes the "engagement present" was merely a new form of swindling, and that the "brother" was none other than the woman's husband. He has asked the Post Office authorities to investigate the case.

M'CALL IS ASKED TO RUN FOR MAYOR

Murphy and Leaders Offer Him the Nomination—To Give Answer To-day.

PICK METZ FOR CONTROLLER

KINGS OPPOSED GAYNOR

Justice Dowling Early Eliminated in the Race — Schulz for Head of Aldermen.

At an early hour this morning, following a conference at Delmonico's which lasted from the preceding afternoon, Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and a number of his advisers offered the Mayoralty nomination to Edward E. McCall, Chairman of the Public Service Commission. Mr. McCall is to give Mr. Murphy an answer to-day as to whether he will accept.

Herman A. Metz of Brooklyn was agreed upon for Controller, and George M. S. Schulz for President of the Board of Aldermen. Schulz was appointed a Police Magistrate by Mayor Gaynor on July 3 last. He served as State Senator in 1909-1910.

Shortly before midnight Mr. McCall, who had been at the conference earlier in the evening and had gone away, was hurriedly summoned back by Murphy, and he arrived in a taxicab. It was then that the nomination was offered to him. It was said that Mr. McCall told Leader Murphy that he was inclined to accept, but that he desired a few hours to think it over.

Gaynor's Chances Wane.

During the afternoon Mayor Gaynor's chances seemed to be in the ascendency, but as the night conference wore on the leaders became more and more convinced that Chairman McCall would make the ideal candidate.

Supreme Court Justice Victor J. Dowling was eliminated from the race early. It was considered most significant that Mr. McCall should be hurriedly summoned back to the conference, for it was said he went away after the discussion got to be a little "too personal," as one of the men at the meeting put it.

With the Mayoralty situation out of the way, the leaders turned their attention to the rest of the city slate. It was a foregone conclusion that, with a Manhattan candidate for Mayor, the Controllership would have to go to Brooklyn, and Herman Metz was looked upon by all hands as being the best man in sight, especially because of his familiarity with the office, having served as Controller. The Bronx was then looked upon to furnish the Borough President candidate.

At the conference these men were present besides Murphy: John H. McCooey, Democratic leader of Brooklyn; Representative John J. Fitzgerald of Brooklyn, Arthur Murphy of the Bronx; Thomas F. Smith, Secretary of Tammany Hall; John F. Galvin, a member of the Board of Water Supply; Representative Herman A. Metz, of Brooklyn, ex-Sheriff Thomas F. Foley, and Philip F. Donohue, Treasurer of Tammany Hall. Chairman McCall attended the afternoon session and part of the evening session.

McCooey Was for Metz.

John H. McCooey's candidate presented to the conference was Mr. Metz. The Brooklyn leader told the others at the conference that there was very little sentiment in his borough for the Mayor, and that he would run far behind the ticket there if he were nominated. On the other hand, he said Mr. Metz was very popular, and would be sure to poll a large vote. Representative Fitzgerald also pleaded hard for the former Controller. Murphy did not seem to be impressed.

Thomas F. Smith did most of the talking for Gaynor. He told Murphy that he had received reports from district leaders all over the city who demanded the renomination of the Mayor as the strongest possible candidate.

"Big Tom" Foley's candidate was former Justice McCall. Mr. Foley urged that he be nominated and presented many reasons. Mr. McCall, earlier in the evening said he did not want the nomination, but when he returned after being sent for it was said that he agreed to accept the nomination if Murphy insisted.

Murphy himself was inclined to favor Justice Dowling. He wanted to see him nominated, but he was willing to take the advice of his subordinates, especially if they could show that their constituents want some one else.

Drop Plan to Indorse Whitman.

During the afternoon the plan was discussed either of indorsing District Attorney Whitman for renomination or leaving the place blank on the ballot, in which case the City Committee would adopt strong resolutions indorsing Mr. Whitman's administration and recommending him to the Democratic voters as the right man for the office.

Several of the leaders favored this plan and urged that Murphy carry it out. It was explained that it would embarrass the Fusionists, and subordinate the police issue. At the night conference, however, the plan was practically dropped. It was thought that the voters might consider it a trick, and that it would work more harm than good.

Before the conference broke up it was decided to have Representative Goulden act as Chairman of the City Designating Committee to-morrow. Two other persons were discussed for the place—James D. Bell of Brooklyn and John F. Galvin. Mr. Galvin was also discussed as a possible Mayoralty candidate, but the suggestion did not receive serious consideration.

The conference was held in Murphy's

HORNBLOWER'S SON DYING.

No Hope for New Yorker Who Shot Himself, Says Doctor.

Special to The New York Times.

BRISTOL, Tenn., Aug. 21.—Lewis S. Hornblower, son of the New York lawyer, is dying at Johnson City from the bullet wound he inflicted upon himself yesterday. Several special trains carrying physicians as well as members of his family have been rushed to Johnson City in an effort to save his life, but Dr. George Ben Johnson of Richmond, who is attending him, is quoted as saying that his chance of recovery is remote.

Mr. Hornblower is reported to have made a statement admitting that he intended to commit suicide, that he had been leading a fast life, and that when he shot himself he had been drinking heavily. The ball passed alongside the heart and through his body, burying itself in the chair in which he sat. A brother arrived to-day from New York.

SULZER OPPONENT BEATEN.

Schnirel, Who Voted for Impeachment, Loses Renomination.

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Assemblyman Herman F. Schnirel, one of four Republicans who voted for the adoption of the Sulzer impeachment resolution, was defeated for renomination to-day, receiving only thirteen of forty-six votes cast.

Ex-County Treasurer Heber E. Wheeler was designated as the candidate.

LIGHTNING KILLS FOUR.

Ozark, Arkansas, Suffers from Severe Electrical Storm.

OZARK, Ark., Aug. 21.—Lightning killed four persons and fatally injured another near here to-day during an electrical storm of ten minutes' duration. Russell Snow and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Bert Moore, met death while at work in a hay field, Frank Kesingler was struck and killed while in his wagon, and Sid and Charles Harmon were knocked from the roof of a barn they were repairing.

Sid Harmon was instantly killed, while Charles Harmon will probably die. Much damage to property was done by the storm.

WOMAN HURT IN COLLISION.

Mrs. Roder Is Hurled from Car When Autos Meet.

Mrs. Mary Roder, 69 years old, of 247 South Fourth Avenue, Mount Vernon, was injured last night when an automobile, in which she was riding, owned and driven by her son, Henry Roder, collided with an automobile owned and operated by Fred Arfman of 510 East Thirty-ninth Street. The collision occurred at the intersection of Eastchester Road and Pelham Parkway.

Arfman's auto was going east in Eastchester Road and Roder's automobile was going north in Pelham Parkway, when they collided. Mrs. Roder was hurled from the car and landed in the roadway. She was severely cut about the head.

STEALS $120 FROM CAPITOL.

Thief Gets Booty in Connecticut Governor's Office.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 21.—Because the inner door of the vault in the office of Gov. Simeon E. Baldwin at the Capitol was left unlocked, some one, apparently familiar with the place, forced an entrance and stole $120, an accumulation of fees which had been paid to clerks of the Executive Department. The State police are working on the case, but thus far there is no clue to the thief.

The money was in a tin box in the vault of the inner office. There is an inner and an outer door on this vault, and if both had been locked it would have been practically impossible for any one to reach the inside.

Eight persons, including the watchmen, have keys to the Governor's office. Frank D. Rood, executive clerk, who was on his vacation when the robbery was committed, refused to-day to answer questions about the affair. This is not the first time there has been robberies in the Capitol, but the present one excels all others for daring.

MUD DELAYS LAUNCHING.

Zeigler Yacht Gem Sticks Fast After Being Named.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—The steam yacht Gem, built for William Zeigler, Jr., who inherited the Zeigler fortune, was launched this afternoon at Lawley's ship yard, or rather, an attempt was made to launch her. Mrs. T. N. Sanborn of Fair Haven smashed a bottle of champagne against the bow, exclaiming, "I name thee Gem," and the yacht started down the ways. Then she stuck in the mud and resisted all efforts made to move her. To-morrow's tide is expected to complete the launching.

The Gem is one of the finest steel craft that has been turned out in recent years, and one of the fastest. The boat is 165 feet long, 17½ feet beam and 7 feet draft. Her accommodations and fittings are commodious and sumptuous despite her small beam.

Crude oil will be the fuel used and the two engines which will turn the twin screws will develop about 1,100 horse power each.

APPROVED AS FILIPINO HEAD

Harrison Promptly Confirmed for Governor General.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Without any opposition, the Senate Committee on the Philippines favorably reported today the nomination of Representative Francis Burton Harrison of New York to be Governor General of the Philippines. Though debate on the Tariff bill lasted late into the afternoon, the Senate held an executive session for the express purpose of considering the nomination, and it was confirmed in a few minutes.

The fact that the nomination was approved on the day it was reported from the committee indicates that Mr. Harrison had the unanimous support of the Senators present. Under the rule a single objection can send a nomination over for one day, but, though Senator Bristow of Kansas yesterday suggested vague objections to Mr. Harrison, he let the motion to confirm the appointment go unopposed.

STATE APPEALS TO BRYAN

Dr. Evans Calls in Local Physicians for Sanity Test — Shearn Hurrying to Canada.

Special to The New York Times.

SHERBROOKE, Quebec, Aug. 21.—A group of the ablest lawyers in Canada to-day gained a respite until next Wednesday for Harry Kendall Thaw, and until that time, at least, he cannot be deported by the immigration officials, who were asked by the New York State authorities to take immediate action. The victory for Thaw was won this afternoon, when Justice Globensky of the Superior Court adjourned the arguments on the habeas corpus proceedings until next Wednesday at 2 o'clock.

News of the postponement of the proceedings was followed by the report that an attempt would be made to get Thaw out on bail by arraigning him before Magistrate Mulveney here and then taking him beyond the jurisdiction of the Canadian authorities, probably into Pennsylvania. His chief counsel, Charles D. White, emphatically asserted that no such move would be made. However, the immigration authorities were taking no chances, and it was announced to-night that the Immigration Department would seize Thaw and deport him even if he got out on bail. To guard against any possibility of the immigration authorities being outwitted an order was served on the Governor of the jail directing him not to recognize a bail bond if presented. The Governor, fearing that Thaw might attempt to make his escape, detailed armed guards to duty outside the jail, and a fast automobile will be kept ready for any emergency.

Thaw told George Lauder Carnegie, his brother-in-law, to-day that he had intended to go to Pittsburgh when he escaped from Matteawan. A few days before the break was made from the asylum Thaw was cut off from communication with his accomplices and was unable to perfect his plans.

Quarreled with Rescuers.

During the wild dash by automobile Thaw had a quarrel with the men who accompanied him, because of the course they took, and it was then that he was forced to leave his automobile and continue his journey by train. He saw that it would be impossible to reach Pennsylvania without being recognized, and continued on to Canada, believing that if captured he could fight off all efforts to deport him and finally get back to Pennsylvania.

The arrival here to-day of Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy of New York State caused Thaw's opponents to renew their efforts to get him back to Matteawan. Kennedy brought with him S. W. Jacobs, a Montreal attorney. They at once went into conference with District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County, and began to lay their plans for the fight which is impending.

It was announced to-night that Clarence J. Shearn of New York would be here to-morrow to join the other Thaw lawyers. Those who have been retained are N. K. Laflamme of Montreal, one of the most noted criminal lawyers of Canada; J. N. Greenshields, K. C., and W. K. McKeown of Montreal, and W. L. Shurtleff, K. C.; H. R. Frazer, K. C., and Charles D. White, K. C, of Sherbrooke. At present Mr. White is in charge of Thaw's interests. It is said that several other barristers will be called in before next Wednesday.

Opposed to this formidable list, and seeking to deport Thaw, are Mr. Franklin, Mr. Conger, S. W. Jacobs, K. C., of Montreal; Jacob Nicol, K. C., Crown Prosecutor, and Hector Verret, K. C., of Sherbrooke. Emile Rioux, ex-Crown Prosecutor of Sherbrooke, will represent the immigration authorities.

Fight to Prove He Is Sane.

Mr. Shearn will bring with him all the documents in connection with the proceedings at White Plains, N. Y., in July, 1912, when Thaw made a fight to prove he was sane. It will be part of the programme of Thaw's lawyers to establish to the satisfaction of the immigration officers that Thaw is not a dangerous lunatic and if possible the question of his mental condition will be fought out in Canada. To that end Dr. Britton D. Evans, the alienist, who figured in the Thaw trials in New York, had Thaw examined late this afternoon by three physicians, Dr. W. A. Sterring of Coaticook and Drs. G. L. Hume and J. O. Ledoux of Sherbrooke. It was said to-night that they would make affidavits that their examination showed that Thaw was not insane. These affidavits will be used in support of other evidence intended to show that Thaw was held in Matteawan for more than six years as the result of a conspiracy on the part of his enemies.

If evidence of this nature is of no other value Thaw's counsel believe that it can be used in gaining delay while other means of keeping Thaw out of the hands of the New York authorities are whipped into shape.

The presence of Dr. Evans and the examination of Thaw, coupled with the fact that Mr. Shearn is speeding here armed with evidence to prove that Thaw is sane, has brought out another move contemplated by Thaw's counsel in the event he is set free on the habeas corpus proceedings, and falls into the hands of the immigration officials.

Thaw's case must be considered by the Immigration Board which sits at three places—Montreal, Coaticook, and Beebe Junction. The meetings are not held at any set time, but whenever the necessity arises and at the place decided upon by the three inspectors who compose the board. If the person involved is adjudged an undesirable person he is deported at the point on the boundary nearest the place where the board sits. If Thaw should be adjudged an undesirable person while the board was in session in Montreal he would be returned to the United States authorities in New York State. However, if the board sat at Coaticook or Beebe Junction Thaw would be turned loose in Vermont. Mr. Shurtleff of Thaw's counsel is in Ottawa conferring with the immigration authorities and bending every effort to prevent a meeting of the Board of Commissioners in Montreal. The Immigration Department has been appealed to in the name of "British Fair Play."

Resort to Conspiracy Plea.

If it finally comes to deportation Thaw's counsel will bring every influence to bear to have him set free in Vermont, where he can continue his legal fight.

Mr. Shearn, Dr. Evans, and the physicians who examined Thaw to-day will be prepared to go before the board and attempt to prove that Thaw is not an undesirable person within the meaning of the Canadian law, and then if it turns out that he must be deported because he was an inmate of an insane asylum for five years, an effort will be made to show that his incarceration in Matteawan was the result of a conspiracy.

Representatives of the United States Government here expressed the opinion that nothing could stave off the deportation of Thaw if he faced the Immigration Board. The law was explicit in that regard, they said. But counsel for Thaw is delving into the law and hopes to find a vulnerable spot.

It is evident that every possible influence is being brought to bear in Thaw's behalf, and the men retained to help him in his fight for what they say is justice are affiliated with the Conservative Party, which is in power now. The local attorneys are prominent in the ruling political circle.

Conger Is Outwitted.

There was a dramatic scene in the little room occupied by the Superior Cout when it was announced this afternoon that the proceedings had been adjourned until next Wednesday. District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County was in the hallway off the court room when Justice Globensky's decision was made known, after a consultation of counsel.

"Adjourned until Wednesday!" Mr. Conger exclaimed in amazement. "Why, I'll see about that. They didn't even give me a chance to protest."

He ran into the private chambers of the Justice, but was informed that he was too late. Sheriff Hornbeck strode up just then.

"Well," said the Sheriff, "I always thought the American law was beyond understanding, but this Canadian law gets me."

Mr. White of Thaw's counsel seemed to know more about the proceedings. He told the newspaper men that an adjournment had been granted until Wednesday, because Mr. Shurtleff, who was associated with him in Thaw's interests, was in Ottawa conferring with the immigration officials, and also because Thaw's counsel here had been unable to confer with his lawyer from the United States, who was on his way to Sherbrooke. It was then that Mr. White was told of the report that an attempt would be made to get Thaw out on bail at once. At first he denied knowledge of any such move, indicating that it had rot even been considered.

"While habeas corpus proceedings are pending it is not the practice to seek bail for a prisoner," he said. "In fact, I do not know that it could be done. I can absolutely guarantee that no such request will be made for bail."

Thaw Enjoying His Rest.

When Thaw was seen after the postponement of the case he was asked about the reports that he was planning another dash for liberty.

"I've had enough excitement for a few days," was his reply. "I want to rest now."

The writ of habeas corpus was served upon Gov. La Force at the jail at 3 o'clock this afternoon by Bailiff N. A. Wright under circumstances said to be somewhat unusual. After he had arrived at his decision to postpone the proceedings Justice Globensky telephoned to the jail keeper telling him of his decision.

When Bailiff Wright appeared at the jail with the writ, however, there was no notation of the adjournment on the paper, and it called for the immediate production of Thaw in court.

Gov. La Force got his officers ready and ordered a carriage to convey his prisoner to court. Then he got his keys and started up the stairs to the room in the hospital ward occupied by the prisoner. Chance alone saved Thaw from a trip to the courthouse, which, by that time, had been deserted. Sheriff Hornbeck of Dutchess County was standing by watching developments with ever-growing interest, when two of Thaw's attorneys were admitted by the jailer. Gov. La Force turned to them for information and they told him that Justice Globensky was not in court; in fact, that he had gone home for the day. Gov. La Force then telephoned to Sheriff Henri Aylmer for instructions and was told not to bring Thaw to the courthouse.

Thaw Has Fun with Hornbeck.

Sheriff Hornbeck had intended to return home to-day, but changed his plans. Before he had decided to remain he dropped in to see Thaw. The prisoner's talk was characteristic and illustrated his high spirits over the success of his lawyers.

"I can't see you, company coming," said Thaw cheerily when the Sheriff was announced.

"Well, I've come to say good-bye," replied Sheriff Hornbeck. "I'm going away."

"Going away without me?" said Thaw, as a broad smile broke over his face.

"I am," returned the Sheriff, "but I'll be back soon."

"That will be a waste of time," was Thaw's rejoinder. "I haven't done anything and they can't arrest me. I'm never going back to Matteawan with you."

That ended the interview and the Sheriff went away smoking one of Thaw's cigars.

Family to Stand by Plotters.

George Lauder Carnegie, after a long conference with Thaw, gave out considerable information about Thaw's escape from Matteawan and his future plans in the event of a victory over the New York State authorities. Mr. Carnegie said in the most emphatic terms that Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, mother of Harry and other members of the family, had known nothing of the plot to escape. He added, however, that they would "stick to Harry to the end," and that the men who aided Thaw would be taken care of if they were in any danger of going to prison for their part in the escape.

Mr. Carnegie also said that Thaw's personal fortune had not been wiped out, by any means, and that if Thaw could get to Pennsylvania and prove he was sane he would have plenty of money at his command.

Mr. Carnegie and his wife, who was Miss Margaret Thaw, a sister of Harry Thaw, left here for New York to-night, after spending twenty-four hours in forwarding Thaw's fight for liberty. They stayed at the Sherbrooke Hotel, occupying a small room on the second floor and mixing freely with all who dropped in to discuss Thaw's case.

"Thaw wanted to get to Pittsburgh," was Mr. Carnegie's first comment in a talk with a reporter for THE NEW YORK TIMES. "He can't get a square deal in New York and knows it. His family knows it, too, and that is why we are all delighted that he made this break for liberty and got away from the New York State authorities. The only thing for him to do was to run away."

"How about the five men who assisted him; will the family aid them?" Mr. Carnegie was asked.

"Yes, he replied in the most emphatic manner. "But if Harry gets to Pennsylvania and his sanity is proved he will be able to take care of them. He will have plenty of money of his own then. If his sanity isn't established, then the family will see the men through their troubles.

"No member of the family knew anything about Harry's plans to escape," said Mr. Carnegie. "I was in Europe and Mrs. Thaw first heard of it when the news got about."

Asked if there was any chance of a reconciliation between Thaw and his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Thaw, Mr. Carnegie said:

"I don't believe there is. I think that while Harry has the greatest sympathy for her, he is done with her forever."

"Will he take care of her financially?" was the next question.

"Mrs. Evelyn Thaw doesn't need financial aid," said Mr. Carnegie. "She is making plenty of money and is able to take care of herself just as he is able to take care of himself. I think Harry is sane," said Mr. Carnegie. "Of course, he has been under a severe nervous strain, but he is all right mentally.

"The Thaw family would be the last people in the world to want him out of Matteawan if he were not a sane man. I certainly would make no effort to aid him if I thought him insane. We wouldn't take the chance of his doing violence and causing the family to go through another seven years like the last seven years."

"Do you think he bears malice toward any one, and would you say anything about the so-called 'death list'?" asked the reporter, referring to one of Thaw's letters, which mentioned several men and bore the notation "kill" after their names.

"Harry bears no malice," returned Mr. Carnegie. "The talk about a death list is all tommyrot. There never was a death list."

Then he was asked why Thaw had not gone to Pennsylvania after his escape.

"If he had tried to go directly to Pennsylvania he would have had to pass through more of New York State than he did on the course chosen," said Mr. Carnegie, "but I don't know all the details about the arrangements for the trip. You see, I was away.

"I am going back to New York to-night and Harry will take charge of his case. I think that shows what we think of his mental condition and whether we are convinced he is sane. I came here principally because Mrs. Thaw, Harry's mother, wanted me to do so and to know how Harry was getting along."

Mr. Carnegie said that he did not know whether Mrs. Thaw intended to come here or not.

"I don't think it necessary," he said. "But you can't tell."

The general opinion here is that Mrs. Thaw will come to Sherbrooke if the proceedings drag along for weeks.

Thaw's sister, Mrs. Carnegie, was with him for nearly two hours this morning. It was the first time they had met for three months, and they made no effort to conceal their emotions. Mrs. Carnegie told Thaw that she was overjoyed at his escape from Matteawan, and assured him that he never would go back if anything that the family could do would free him and establish his sanity. Thaw told his sister much of the details of his flight from the asylum, and as he proceeded with his narrative, he paced up and down the room.

Dr. Britton D. Evans left here for New York to-night, but he will return if the question of Thaw's sanity is brought before the immigration officials.

"It looks as if Thaw had a good chance to obtain his freedom," said Dr. Evans. "I think he has beaten the game. He is as sound as I am mentally."

Trace Thaw's Route.

It was said here to-night that other influences would be brought to bear to have Thaw returned to Pennsylvania. It was reported that Thaw had appealed to ex-District Attorney Blakslee of Pittsburgh, D. B. Watson, a prominent lawyer of that city, and to ex-Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania to take the matter up with Gov. Tener and ask him to use his influence with the State Department at Washington.

Roger Thompson, who drove the automobile in which Thaw escaped, will be arraigned at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning on the charge of aiding an undesirable citizen to enter the Dominion of Canada. He will ask for an adjournment until Monday because his attorney, Mr. Shurtleff, is in Ottawa.

Octave Nedeau and his wife and several farmers have been summoned to appear against Thompson as the result of an investigation made by C. G. Rene and D. Neveu, immigration officials, who for the last two days have been trying to establish the route by which Thaw entered Canada.

They found that Thaw left the train at Beecher Falls after being recognized by the Deputy Sheriff, and with two companions hired a team at a livery stable. They were forced by rough roads to go back to Canaan, Vt., and had reached a point two miles from Canaan, over the Canadian border, when their rig broke down.

Thaw and his companions then walked along a road until they reached the little farmhouse of Octave Nedeau. They pounded on the door and aroused the farmer and his wife. Nedeau first ordered them away, but when he heard Thaw's enticing offer for a carriage, he came out. He had a one-horse cart with seats for two, and Nedeau and Thaw and his companions piled into it. They bumped along the rough country roads until they came to the little cabin of Ben Cadieux, where Thaw was placed under arrest.

THAW'S DEPORTATION PLEA.

Asks That He Be Allowed to Select His Route Out of Canada.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 21.—W. L. Shurtleff of Sherbrooke, one of the lawyers retained by Harry Thaw, arrived in Ottawa to-day and had a short interview with C. J. Doherty, Acting Minister of the Interior. He asked that Thaw be permitted to select the point at which the Canadian immigration officials would deport him. This would enable Thaw to avoid being returned to the State of New York. Mr. Shurtleff is a prominent Conservative in the Eastern Township District, and his appeal to the Government was made to political friends.

The mission failed. The only assurance Mr. Shurtleff got was that the immigration law would be enforced without variation or favor. Mr. Shurtleff started back to Sherbrooke at once.

It is plain to Government officials in Ottawa that, so far as the immigration law is concerned, Thaw's case is hopeless. The law provides for appeal in most cases of deportation, but insane persons have no right of appeal. In the event of an appeal being allowed, it is heard before a board of inquiry sitting at the port of entry and appointed by the Minister of the Interior. An appeal from the decision of this board may be made to the Minister.

Perhaps the most serious obstacle to be encountered by Thaw is one of which he and his counsel do not seem to be aware, but which clearly is before the immigration authorities here. This is a provision of the immigration law whereby any person, sound or unsound, sane or insane, who enters Canada by stealth or otherwise than at an established point of entry may be deported on that ground alone. It is held here that Thaw undoubtedly is liable to deportation under this provision.

Formal demand for the surrender of Thaw was made by telegraph upon the Canadian immigration authorities here to-day by Acting Governor Glynn of New York. The department replied that it would take no action until the present extradition proceedings had been concluded. Mr. Glynn's telegram requested that Thaw be turned over to District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County, New York.

The Immigration Department offers no assurance that Thaw will be surrendered to the New York officers. On the contrary, it is understood that if Thaw is returned to the United States by those authorities, it will not be by way of New York, but that he will be taken to Coaticook and thence, after the formal inquiry, to the border, possibly at Island Pond, Vt.

A new point developed to-day was that Thaw might not be deported, but rejected. Between the terms there is an important distinction. Deportation, it is pointed out, can only take place after an immigrant has passed the Immigration Inspectors and is domiciled in Canada. This Thaw did not do. He entered the country by stealth, evading the Inspectors.

E. Blake Robertson, Assistant Superintendent of Immigration, left Ottawa to-day and it was believed that he went to Sherbrooke. This is taken as a further indication of the determination of the Canadian officials to send Thaw back to the United States at the first opportunity. With the Assistant Superintendent on the ground, the officers will have the benefit of direct instructions and quick decision in case they are confronted by obstacles at the instance of Thaw's counsel.

TWO APPEALS TO BRYAN.

Sulzer and Glynn Both Ask Him to Urge Return of Thaw.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 21.—Some State officials here believe that Canadian politics is playing a part in the Thaw deportation proceedings. Acting Gov. Glynn did all in his power to-day to have Thaw returned to New York. Attorney General Carmody, who has been absent since the first of August, came to the city to-day to offer any aid he could for the return of the fugitive.

Mr. Sulzer also took a hand at long range, sending to Secretary Bryan of the Department of State this telegram:

> Please instruct the Consul General at Ottawa to request the Minister in charge of immigration to advise the local immigration officers at Sherbrooke to return Harry K. Thaw, an escaped lunatic to the United States at Rouse's Point, N. Y.
> WM. SULZER, Governor.

At 2 o'clock this morning District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County telegraphed to Acting Gov. Glynn that conditions were favorable for the deportation of Thaw at the New York border as soon as the habeas corpus proceedings were disposed of. The Acting Governor at once telegraphed to the Commissioner of the Canadian Immigration Department requesting that Thaw be sent over the line into this State. At 10 o'clock Mr. Conger telegraphed again, and it was shown that Mr. Glynn's first telegram had not been delivered in Canada. The Acting Governor said he could not understand the failure to receive his message, and that an investigation probably would be made.

Franklin Kennedy, Deputy Attorney General, representing the State's Law Department in Canada, consulted Supt. John B. Riley of the State Prison Department and Deputy Attorney General Parsons by telephone. He said the court proceedings were in progress, but that efforts were being made to make sure of Thaw after he was released by the court.

It is believed here that the engagement of J. D. Greenshields of Montreal to represent Thaw might have a political bearing upon the case. Until he took charge to-day, it was pointed out, the Canadian officials intimated that it would be only a short time before Thaw would be back in this State. Mr. Greenshields is said to be influential in the present Administration of Canada. Officials at the Capitol fear that the delay until next Wednesday will be used to advantage by Thaw's friends.

"The escape of Thaw is discreditable to the administration of this State," Attorney General Carmody said to-day. "Thaw had too many privileges at Matteawan. He grew to believe he was a privileged character and the influence was not good. This department did its best to prevent the private interviews with counsel and other advantages Thaw enjoyed over other inmates of Matteawan. This matter is still in the courts.

"We shall do everything in our power to get him back. It seems plain that the immigration law of Canada is all that is necessary in dealing with Thaw, and there seems to be no reason why he should not be given to the officers of this State."

Acting Governor Glynn said that his communication to Commissioner Scott of Canada was a request that Thaw be deported to this State. At 1 o'clock he sent a telegram to the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Commerce at Washington as follows:

> In the name of the State of New York we request that you ask Canadian immigration authorities to deport Harry K. Thaw to the State of New York. Haste is necessary.

The message was signed by Martin H. Glynn, as Acting Governor, and Attorney General Carmody.

Before communicating with the authorities at Washington, the Acting Governor received a reply to his second dispatch to Commissioner Scott, who said the "extradition proceedings in the Thaw case are now in the hands of the court. This department cannot deal with him until the court's decision is announced. Will advise you immediately the case is dealt with by our officers."

The Acting Governor afterward telephoned to Fred C. Blair, Supervisor of the Bureau of Immigration at Ottawa. Mr. Blair said the immigration authorities would have full power to act if the court discharged Thaw, and he would be returned either to New York, Vermont, or New Hampshire.

CROSSED FROM VERMONT.

Thaw Believed to Have Entered Canada from Beecher Falls.

CAVENDISH, Vt., Aug. 21.—It appears now that Harry Thaw entered Canada from Vermont, and not directly from New Hampshire, as had been supposed. The village of Beecher Falls, where he left the train, is on the Vermont side of the boundary line between the States.

This was believed by State officials to have been the basis for the report from Sherbrooke, Canada, last night that Thaw would be turned over to the authorities of this State.

Beecher Falls is in the extreme northeast of the State and very close to the Canadian line. From this village Thaw drove by team, and he probably did not enter New Hampshire again, although he might have done so by taking a roundabout route. It is expected that this point will be definitely determined and the Canadian authorities informed accordingly.

Gov. Allen M. Fletcher said to-day that he did not wish to make an official statement as to the attitude of Vermont should Thaw be returned to this State. The Governor, however, had before him a statement by Attorney General Rufus E. Brown, which, the Executive said, best expressed his own view.

The Attorney General said he considered Thaw an undesirable and dangerous person, and that if he had the authority to do so he would surrender the fugitive to the police of New York State.

"If I had the authority and were to exercise it," said Mr. Brown, "I should surrender Thaw to the State of New York. I consider him not only an undesirable but a dangerous person. However, should Thaw be in Vermont and the State of New York seek to have him surrendered simply on the ground that he had escaped from an insane asylum, it probably would be an altogether different matter."

The Attorney General added that he could not see how Thaw could get into Vermont by any legal means, although he might have entered Canada through the point of entry at Beecher Falls. He thought it probable that Canada would co-operate with the authorities of New York and return the prisoner direct to that State.

"I feel," said the Attorney General, "as they do in New Hampshire—that Vermont does not want Thaw within its limits."

RUTLAND, Vt., Aug. 21.—Attorney General Rufus E. Brown, who was in this city to-day on official business, was called this afternoon to Island Pond in connection with the Thaw case. He went in response to a summons from State Attorney Charles R. Powell of Essex County.

Mr. Brown said he expected that Thaw would be delivered by the Canadian immigration officials to the United States immigration officials at Island Pond.

THAW PAPERS FOR CONGER.

Copies of Commitment and Dowling Verdict Sent to Canada.

A representative of the office of District Attorney Conger of Dutchess County went to the Criminal Court Building yesterday and got a certified copy of Harry Thaw's commitment to Matteawan. The commitment and a copy of an opinion of Justice Dowling delivered in 1908, when Thaw was seeking to be transferred from Matteawan to the Middletown Hospital, were forwarded to Mr. Conger in Canada.

Justice Dowling held that Thaw was "a dangerously insane person, who is to be kept under proper restraint that he may neither injure himself nor anyone else."

ABLE CANADIAN COUNSEL.

Greenshields Defended Louis Riel and Greene and Gaynor.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—The action of Harry K. Thaw's friends in choosing James Naismith Greenshields as his leading counsel is highly commended here. Mr. Greenshields is a criminal lawyer with an unexcelled knowledge of Canadian and international law and an exceptionally intimate acquaintance with all the intricacies of extradition and immigration laws. For more than thirty years he has been actively connected with many of the most famous cases, both criminal and civil, that have come before the Canadian courts. The first case that brought him prominently before the Canadian public as a criminal lawyer was the defense of Louis Riel, the leader of the Red River rebellion. He was also one of the leading figures in the famous Gaynor and Greene case.

Mr. Greenshields is confident that Thaw will never be deported to the United States, or extradited. He says that his transportation to Detroit was purchased in the United States, and that he is also in possession of transportation to Europe purchased in the United States.

BARNUM IN COURT.

Asylum Gate Keeper's Hearing Is Postponed to Sept. 6.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Aug. 21.—It is said that an important part of the defense offered by Howard N. Barnum, former Keeper at the Matteawan State Hospital, charged with bribery and aiding Harry Thaw to escape, will be that the system in vogue at the hospital is to blame for the escape of Thaw. Barnum's counsel will hold that there should have been an inner gate, and that Thaw should not have been allowed to approach the outer gate.

Barnum, who has been in jail here since last Sunday night, was arraigned before Justice Morschauser this morning and his hearing was postponed to Sept. 6. He was represented by F. A. Hoyt, Jr., of Beacon, and John Ringwood of Poughkeepsie. He was remanded to jail, being unable to furnish bail. Barnum made no statement in court this morning.

He has grown surly and refuses to say anything about Thaw's escape. He was asked to-day if he would say Yes or No to the question of whether he received any money from Thaw.

"No, I won't," stormed Barnum, "I won't say anything at all."

THAW SUSPECTS STILL MISSING

Report That Richard J. Butler Recently Bought a Saloon.

The police search for the men charged with aiding Harry K. Thaw in his escape from Matteawan proved that up to late last night none had returned to their homes or usual haunts in this city. Information that Richard J. Butler, described as the leader of the gang, might be in Oyster Bay or some other near-by town led the police to ask the Long Island authorities yesterday to be on the lookout.

It was said yesterday at the District Attorney's office that a week or so ago Butler purchased a saloon near Eighth Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street, paying $5,000 in cash and giving a mortgage for the balance. This transaction was considered significant by those who credited the story, widely current, that $25,000 or so was the amount paid to Thaw's helpers.

TRAIL ARCH CONSPIRATOR.

Detectives at Beacon Hunting for the Chief Thaw Plotter.

BEACON, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Detectives were here to-day trying to get some clue to the intermediary who helped Harry K. Thaw and the five automobile conspirators plan the escape of last Sunday. The three men—representing an agency—registered at a local hotel last night as James Retrae, John Doman, and F. S. Sloan. It was said to-night that they had gleaned some facts which pointed to a resident of this city as the go-between. The detectives also believed this individual had the co-operation of some one in the hospital.

The detectives spent a good part of their time in searching out the men who showed the Thaw conspirators the best roads round about here. They found several persons who had helped in this, but refused to say whether this evidence would lead to any arrests.

GLOBENSKY EXPLAINS DELAY.

Justice Says Thaw's Counsel Failed to Serve the Jail Writ.

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—"All that I have to decide is whether the warrant of commitment on which Harry K. Thaw is confined in jail was legally issued or not," said Justice Globensky, before whom the Thaw case in Sherbrooke is pending, on his arrival here to-night from that city.

"As the case now stands before me," the Justice added, "it has nothing to do with extradition or deportation proceedings. The warrant on which Thaw is confined was signed by Justice of the Peace Dupuis of Coaticook. The charge against Thaw is that he illegally escaped from Matteawan Asylum. The writ of habeas corpus was issued yesterday afternoon. It was to have been served on the jailer at once, in which case Thaw would have been produced in court before me this morning and the merits of the case would have been argued. I would then have had to decide whether the writ should be maintained and Thaw set free or quashed and the prisoner returned to jail.

"The writ, however, was not served on the jailer by the defense. When I left Sherbrooke this afternoon I understood it would be served to-night. I will sit in Sherbrooke again in the ordinary course of events on Wednesday next, and if the writ has been served by then Thaw will be brought before me and the case argued. Until next Wednesday, therefore, there will be no further action in the Thaw case as far as the habeas corpus goes."

Justice Globensky said he could not explain the action of the defense in not bringing the matter to a head to-day, but suggested that possibly they desired more time in which to perfect their argument for the maintenance of the writ and the discharge of the prisoner.

The Justice did not care to discuss the question of deportation or the probable action of the immigration authorities, saying that it did not come within his province.

In the matter of extradition, Justice Globensky and his colleague, Justice Hutchinson, act as Extradition Commissioners. No proceedings have come before the courts in Sherbrooke in this connection, however, and the only point at issue is that brought up by the habeas corpus procedure.

"I want to make it clear," Justice Globensy said, "that I have not to decide whether the offense charged is extraditable or not, or give any ruling in regard to deportation or anything of that kind. All that I must decide is as to whether Thaw is at present confined in jail at Sherbrooke legally or not."

THAW'S "AFFECTION" DERIDED.

His Wife's Attorney Tells of His Refusal to Support Her.

In a pre-arranged interview with reporters from all of the morning newspapers, Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw and her personal attorney, John Riley of 170 Broad Street, last night issued a bitter reply to Thaw's declaration of affection for his wife.

"As Mrs. Thaw's attorney," said Mr. Riley, "I desire to make public the fact that my client was in receipt of an allowance from her husband, which was discontinued periodically, causing her much financial embarrassment, and which finally ceased in June, 1912. This was after Mrs. Thaw had testified in the habeas corpus proceeding at White Plains to Thaw's threat to kill her if he should ever regain his freedom. In September of that year I visited Matteawan at the suggestion of Clarence Shearn, who was then Thaw's attorney, to protest against the latter's continued non-support of his wife. To all my pleas he responded:

"'I refuse to recognize that I am legally or morally responsible for this woman's support. I decline to recognize her as my wife.'"

Mr. Riley continued: "I urged Thaw to reconsider his attitude, and he told me that he would take the matter under consideration and would advise me of his decision later. He said: 'I want her to try her claim in court first, and after I have beaten her then we will take the matter up.'"

"Do you reciprocate your husband's expressions of undying affection, Mrs. Thaw?" asked one of the reporters.

"I certainly do not," was the emphatic response. "I love him just as much as he loves me."

"Another example of the manner in which Mrs. Thaw has been treated by her husband and by his family," the lawyer resumed, "was when Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw entered into a signed written agreement to create a trust fund paying her son's wife an income of $12,000 a year, providing she would bring suit for annulment of their marriage. It had been agreed that the income was to begin when the suit was begun, but after Mrs. Evelyn Thaw had started proceedings her mother-in-law repudiated the agreement and the suit was withdrawn."

BRYAN WON'T ASK CANADA FOR THAW

Sends Glynn's Request to the British Ambassador Only as Information.

DIRECT APPEAL UNWISE

No Stated Crime on Which to Base Such Course and No Reason to Ask Action as a Courtesy.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Martin H. Glynn, signing himself Acting Governor, and Attorney General Thomas A. Carmody telegraphed Secretary Bryan this afternoon in the name of the State of New York a request that the Canadian immigration authorities be asked to deport Harry Thaw to the State of New York. A similar telegram, signed by Mr. Glynn and Mr. Carmody, was received at the Department of Commerce, addressed to the Secretary of that department, evidently in the belief that the Secretary had jurisdiction over immigration matters.

The telegram read as follows:

> Albany, N. Y., Aug. 21.
>
> In the name of the State of New York we request that you ask Canadian immigration authorities to deport Harry K. Thaw to the State of New York. Haste is necessary.
> MARTIN H. GLYNN,
> Acting Governor.
> THOMAS A. CARMODY,
> Attorney General.

After full consideration of the perplexing questions involved Secretary Bryan denied the request indirectly, his only action being to send this telegram to Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, who is at Dublin, N. H.:

> We are informed that Harry K. Thaw, who lately escaped from an insane asylum, in the State of New York, in which he was confined, after he was acquitted of the crime of murder, on the ground of insanity, is in custody in the Province of Quebec with a view to his deportation under the Canadian immigration laws. The department, while not in a position to make a request in the matter, which, in its present aspect, is not within our extradition treaties, brings it to your notice with a view to such action as the Canadian authorities may find themselves justified in taking.

Telegrams were sent by Secretary Bryan to Mr. Glynn and Attorney General Carmody also, telling them of his action. It was stated by department officials that Mr. Glynn and Mr. Carmody were addressed as individuals, nothing being done to imply recognition of Mr. Glynn as Acting Governor of the State of New York.

It was said to-night that Mr. Sulzer had sent a telegram to Secretary Bryan asking that the Canadian Government be requested to deport Thaw at Rouse's Point, N. Y. No confirmation of this statement could be obtained from State Department officials.

Puzzling Question Involved.

The request for Federal action did not come as a surprise to officials here. Since the news came of Thaw's escape from Matteawan the law officers of the department had been discussing the many questions involved in the case.

The first, and possibly the most interesting, phase of the affair was the question whether recognition should be accorded to Mr. Glynn as Chief Executive of the State of New York. This matter, however, proved no embarrassment to the President or Secretary Bryan, who early conferred on the matter.

The law officers of the department were quickly set at work to-day on the problem presented by Acting Gov. Glynn's request, and Frederick Van Dyne, Acting Solicitor, and John Bassett Moore, counsellor, spent several hours in consultation. Secretary Bryan joined in the discussion several times.

A decision was speedily reached that only on the ground that he was charged with bribery could this Government ask the extradition of Thaw. The fact that Mr. Glynn based his request on the supposition that Thaw's presence was obnoxious to the immigration laws of Canada seemed to dispose of the possibility of presenting a criminal charge as ground for extradition. No crime with which Thaw might be charged, except bribery, is mentioned in any treaties between the United States and Great Britain.

To ask the Canadian immigration authorities directly to take some particular course in carrying out their own laws regarding undesirables presented a novel problem.

After considering Glynn's request from every possible angle, it was decided to deny it, but to suggest to the Canadian authorities, through Ambassador Spring-Rice, the action sought by the Acting Governor. This course would, it was thought, leave the Canadian officials free to use their discretion, and if they so desired deport Thaw in such a way as to accomplish all that could have been done if the State Department had acted directly.

The Federal officials have been expecting to see the Canadian authorities take action to put Thaw across the boundary, but they had not expected to have New York officials request the Washington Government to urge Canada to do this.

No precedents for such action have been found except where, in the absence of extradition treaties between the United States and another country, a request has been made for the extradition of a criminal as a matter of international comity. The difference between such a case and one where there is no question of a crime involved is a wide one, and the law officers of the State Department had many doubts as to the right or wisdom of compliance with Glynn's request.

Moreover, to ask the Canadian authorities that Thaw be deported not into New Hampshire, whence he entered Canada, but into New York State, and thus accomplish by indirection what could not be done by law, appeared to the officials here to be objectionable.

Objection was made also to the incomplete basis of the request. There was nothing upon which to act but the telegram from Mr. Glynn. No further information or evidence to come by mail was mentioned in the telegram, and altogether the case was presented to the State Department on very slight foundation, hardly warranting direct action at this time, even if it had been desirable otherwise.

Hamilton Fish, Jr., for the Assembly.

BREWSTER, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The Democratic Committee for Putnam County at Carmel yesterday nominated Hamilton Fish, Jr., former Harvard football captain and son of ex-Congressman Hamilton Fish, as a candidate for the Assembly at the September primaries. Fish is the Bull Moose County Chairman and will receive on Saturday an indorsement from his own party, the Progressives and Democrats combining in an effort to defeat Assemblyman Yale and County Judge J. Bennett Southard, Republicans. Peter A. Anderson, a Democrat, was nominated for County Judge, and will be indorsed by the Progressives.

VOTE CRUSADERS DISMOUNT

Enter Goshen Afoot and Abandon Races to Treat Limping Horses.

Special to The New York Times.

MONROE, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Tom Foley proved to be the suffrage crusaders' best customer, and bought all their remaining supplies before they left the Red Swan Inn at Warwick.

Although the crusaders started off gaily enough for the Goshen races, Senator Root developed a limp within the first mile and got so lame before reaching Goshen that Capt. De Forest had to call a halt, and the afternoon ride to Monroe was given up. The races were abandoned, and the day was devoted to bandaging the legs of Senator Root and Dr. Parkhurst and sponging them with hot water.

This afternoon the crusaders had to travel like ordinary mortals by train to Monroe. Their entrance into town, lugging their saddle bags, was in marked contrast to the usual dash and clamor and flag-flying.

After a street meeting the crusaders returned by train to Goshen to-night, and with to-morrow dawns the most humiliating day of all.

From Goshen to Highland Falls is more than thirty miles, and Senator Root says he just cannot do it. So the crusaders have decided to ship themselves and their horses half way. At 5 o'clock to-morrow morning they will be installing the Senator and Dr. Parkhurst in a box car. Capt. De Forest will carry a bucket for watering and sixteen quarts of oats, Miss Porritt a soap box for the crusaders to sit on and the "votes for women" supplies. They expect to convert many jockeys from the races on the journey.

They will disembark at Central Valley at noon and speak there, and then, the Senator willing, they will ride to Highland Falls for the night meeting.

NORA BLATCH DE FOREST.

PROVES HE IS NO BURGLAR.

Brooker Was Arrested When Fleeing from Robbers.

Hyman Brooker, 36 years old, a shoe cutter, of 386 Flushing Avenue, whose wild flight through the back yards in the neighborhood of Hewes Street and Wythe Avenue, Brooklyn, early on last Friday morning, with five policemen in pursuit and residents firing shots from their windows, looked like a bona fide burglar chase, turned out to be no burglar at all.

Brooker was released in the Manhattan Avenue Police Court by Magistrate Nash on Wednesday, no complaint of attempted burglary having been preferred against him, as at first reported. Although the police did attempt to prefer a vagrancy charge against him, the Magistrate declined to entertain it.

Brooker was represented in court by his lawyer, Rudolph Stand of 170 Broadway, who told the Magistrate that his client had been assaulted and robbed on last Friday, and that he was trying to escape from his assailants by climbing the rear yard fences, when he was seen by nervous residents, who promptly jumped to the conclusion that he must be a burglar and opened fire on him.

MULHALL REFUTED ON LOBBY CONTROL

Willis Shows That Make-Up of 1909-10 House Committee Was Not as He Stated.

JOHNSON TELLS OF THREATS

Congressman Says His Life Was Menaced After Passage of Loan Shark Law.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Martin M. Mulhall, late lobbyist for the National Association of Manufacturers, refreshed by a week's vacation, took the stand before the House Committee again late to-day. He repeated some of his testimony before the Senate Committee relative to efforts to control committees in Congress which dealt with labor legislation.

Representative Willis of Ohio questioned the witness sharply about his statements in regard to the make-up of the Judiciary Committee of the House in 1909-1910. Mulhall swore that, through the efforts of former Representative James E. Watson, two men were taken from that committee and two others, Representatives Vreeland of New York and Bannon of Ohio, obtained their places.

"The record shows," said Mr. Willis, "that Bannon went on that committee in 1906 and that Mr. Vreeland never served on it while he was in Congress."

Mulhall said he might have been mistaken about the names or the dates, but he was sure the National Association of Manufacturers could control the selection of men on the committees.

Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky told the lobby investigators that the passage of the Federal loan shark law was marked with daily threats against his life. He introduced an affidavit by a former capital policeman, who swore that another former policeman said he had followed Johnson three nights to kill him.

Testimony has been given that the loan sharks fought the Federal law with a "slush fund" of $12,000. Representative J. T. McDermott of Illinois was charged by L. H. McMichael, a former House employe, with having received $7,500.

Fell Into Fourth Avenue Tunnel.

Sitting on the railing that guards the Park Avenue surface car cut where it emerges from the tunnel at Forty-ninth Street last evening, John Kinbacher, 18 years old, of 17 Gratton Street, Brooklyn, lost his balance and fell twenty-five feet to the tracks. He narrowly escaped being crushed by a northbound car which came out of the tunnel as he fell. Dr. Howard of the New York Hospital revived Kinbacher, and found that he was suffering from concussion of the brain and lacerations of the face. He wouldn't go to the hospital.

KINGS REPUBLICANS RATIFY.

Fusion Nominations Are Indorsed—Pounds Heads Ticket.

The Brooklyn Republicans met at Prospect Hall, Brooklyn, last night and indorsed most of the candidates nominated by the Fusion Committee for that borough. Following the action of the Fusion Committee, which at its afternoon session in Manhattan withdrew John T. Rafferty for Sheriff and substituted Louis M. Swazey and put Edward T. O'Loughlin, the present Register, in the same place instead of Jesse Fuller, Jr., the Republicans nominated Mr. Swazey and Mr. O'Loughlin.

Lewis H. Pounds was nominated for Borough President; City Judges Fawcett and Dike were renominated, and City Clerk Charles S. Devoy was also named for his present place. The Coroners nominated were Ernest C. Wagner and Dr. Frank Senior.

NO REPUBLICAN PARLEY.

Convention to Restore Harmony Put Off Till Next Spring.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The proposed Republican National Convention to consider plans for restoring party harmony has been abandoned for this year, and no attempt will be made to call the convention for a date earlier than next Spring. When the Executive Committee of the National Republican Committee met here some months ago it was decided that the full National Committee should be called together sixty days after Congress adjourned.

The subject was discussed at a dinner to-night given by Senator Cummins of Iowa at the University Club to the committee selected at Chicago to arrange for the harmony convention. The committee determined that as it was doubtful whether there would be any recess between the extra session and the regular session in December, a new plan would have to be devised.

They therefore decided to communicate with Charles D. Hilles, Chairman of the National Committee, and ask him to call his committee together either late this year or early next to consider calling the convention some time in the Spring.

At the dinner were Senators Sherman of Illinois, Crawford of South Dakota, and Jones of Washington, and Representatives Anderson of Minnesota, Crampton of Michigan, and Rogers of Massachusetts.

BULGER DESERTS SULZER FOR GLYNN

After Visit to Acting Governor, Former "War Board" Member Tells of Break.

CONDEMNS SULZER METHOD

Impeached Governor Drops Plan to Indict Tammany Leaders—Horgan Before Hennessy Won't Testify.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 21.—Martin H. Glynn sat in the new Executive Chamber on the third floor of the Capitol to-day and disposed of such of the State business as came to him as Acting Governor. William Sulzer sat in the old Executive Chamber on the second floor and transacted such State business as came to him as Governor. Neither made any attempt to interfere with the other. True to his promise, Mr. Glynn caused no "political earthquakes."

Almost the only administrative activities that were engaged in to-day by either Mr. Sulzer or Mr. Glynn had to do with the Thaw case. The Acting Governor honored two requisitions for fugitives from justice brought by representatives of the Governor of Georgia and the Governor of Massachusetts, respectively.

Mr. Sulzer continues to receive the mail addressed to "the Governor" and to the Executive Chamber. Acting Gov. Glynn said to-day that he had made no demand for mail unless addressed to him.

As a result of the uncertainty arising from the rival claims of Glynn and Sulzer, the State Departments are virtually paralyzed and the State's business almost at a standstill. The opinion of the Attorney General supporting Glynn, which it was expected the department heads would heed without question, apparently has made no change in the situation. The heads of departments to-day were holding aloof both from the impeached and the Acting Governor.

At the old Executive Chamber, which Mr. Sulzer continues to occupy, it was stated that the Governor was conducting the State's business just as though there had been no impeachment. But there was no indication that anything was being done. The reams of typewritten matter which, prior to the impeachment, were handed out from the Executive Chamber as a record of each day's activities were lacking. Chester C. Platt, Mr. Sulzer's secretary, has admitted that Mr. Sulzer preferred not to let the Acting Governor know what the impeached Governor is doing in State matters.

Acting Governor Glynn was urged to-day by friends that the time had arrived for him to assert his powers and occupy Mr. Sulzer's Executive Chamber by force if need be. But Mr. Glynn replied that he would look upon any exhibition of force as unseemly and that he would not enter upon any physical scramble for possession of the Executive Chamber.

Bulger Breaks with Sulzer.

Ex-Judge Charles N. Bulger of Oswego, a "Cleveland Democrat," who was one of the active leaders in the Sulzer direct primary campaign, and a member of the Sulzer "war board," called on Acting Gov. Glynn to-day. Neither Mr. Glynn nor Mr. Bulger would discuss the visit. It was learned, however, that Mr. Bulger had severed his friendly relations with Mr. Sulzer.

"I made speeches for the Sulzer direct primary bill," said Mr. Bulger, "because I believed it to be a good measure and because I was in thorough sympathy with the ostensible purpose of that campaign—to get rid of the bosses. For the same reason I continued the propaganda even after I had found that Gov. Sulzer preferred to surround himself with a piratical band of political dynamiters, who were willing to use 80 per cent. dynamite, fourteen sticks to the charge, and a time clock arrangement attached to that, for their selfish ends.

"While the campaign was in progress I was called to the Capitol for a conference with the Governor, who took me to task for having said nice things about Norman E. Mack in a speech delivered at Rochester.

"'Don't you know that Mack signed the attack on my primary bill, which my political enemies have sent out in pamphlet form all over the State?' the Governor asked me. 'You will have to stop praising Mack. Those who are not with me are against me.'

"I told the Governor that I had made merely passing reference to the pleasant relations that had existed between Mr. Mack and me for many years, prefatory to a statement that I believed Mr. Mack had been deceived when he signed that attack. The Governor was very much displeased, however. He asked me next to make personal attacks on Tammany Leader Murphy, attacks that could have accomplished nothing except to demean and belittle the man who uttered them.

"Some of the things he wanted me to say were not true, and he wanted me to say them on my own responsibility. I refused. I had been attacking the things Murphy typefies, but I had been training my guns on a higher level, on which I thought this fight should be conducted.

"My refusal seemed to infuriate the Governor. He told me that he would take all the patronage, especially the highway patronage, away from my district. I called his attention to the fact that the measure carrying the new fifty-million-dollar appropriation provided for an equitable distribution among the counties. The Governor replied that he had reference to maintenance and repairs, in which there was considerable latitude.

"'Hennessy, Carlisle, and myself have decided to draw the line between the friends and the enemies of the administration,' the Governor said. I told the Governor that if he intended to consign the Democratic Party, including his friends, to the nether regions it would be just as well if they went drunk with spoils and that I did not care what he did with the patronage.

"The Governor rose from his chair and said with a burst of anger that as Governor of the State he expected to have the last word. He did. I bade him good-day and left him, and I have not seen him since."

Sulzer Modifies Reprisal.

Mr. Sulzer was in consultation with D Cady Herrick, his chief legal adviser, to-day, as usual. After the visit it was learned that Mr. Sulzer had been dissuaded from carrying out one of his pet schemes, that of trying to have a number of Tammany leaders indicted in this county for conspiracy in connection with his impeachment. Judge Herrick, it was said, advised Mr. Sulzer that he had better devote himself to his defense for the present and leave retaliation to the future.

The Frawley Committee will meet in New York City next Wednesday, to further investigate the Sulzer campaign fund. In the last ten days the committee's agents have been following some new leads, and, it is said, have dug up a lot of new material. The committee has received information that Mr. Sulzer last week had $50,000 to his credit in a big New York bank.

Matthew T. Horgan, once a close friend of Mr. Sulzer, a Deputy State Commissioner of Efficiency and Economy, and Secretary of the Frawley Committee voluntarily appeared to-day before John A. Hennessy, the Sulzer Commissioner, appointed under the Moreland act to investigate the State Departments. When Mr. Horgan read that a warrant had been issued to compel his attendance as a witness before Mr. Hennessy, he dropped his work in New York and responded without waiting for the service of any court papers.

"I decline to be sworn or answer any questions," said Horgan to Hennessy. "I decline on the ground that Mr. Hennessy's power to investigate departments for the Executive closed with the impeachment of the Governor and on the additional ground that I have not been, since the first of July, actively connected with any Department of the State, but am now an officer of a Legislative Committee, and under the protection of the law covering investigations of the Legislature. Commissioner Hennessy has no power to investigate a legislative body, committee, officer, or member."

Mr. Hennessy asked Mr. Horgan if he did not want to appear voluntarily as a witness in answer to questions affecting himself and not as an officer of a legislative body.

"Not at this time," was the reply. "I am willing to take advantage of the advice of counsel and decline to testify upon the grounds stated."

No evidence before Commissioner Hennessy, Mr. Horgan said, affected his official conduct in the department of efficiency and economy.

Commissioner Hennesy said Justice Cochrane of the Supreme Court had decided that the examination of Horgan was within his authority. Steps will be taken to punish Horgan for contempt of court; it is said.

BRIBE INQUIRY ON TO-DAY.

Assembly Committee Sifting Garrison Charge May Call Sulzer.

The Assembly Judiciary Committee will meet in the Council Chamber at the City Hall at 11 o'clock this morning to begin an investigation into the charge that money was used to influence certain Assemblymen to vote for the impeachment of Gov. Sulzer. Aaron J. Levy, Democratic leader of the Assembly, and a member of the committee, was at the City Hall yesterday arranging for the use of a room in which to hold the hearings.

Subpoenas were sent out last night for James C. Garrison, the Sulzer-Hennessy press agent; ex-Judge Lynn J. Arnold, editor of The Albany Knickerbocker Press, a Sulzer champion, and Louis A. Sarecky and Frederick L. Colwell, both of whom refused to testify before the Frawley committee. Mr. Levy said several Albany newspaper correspondents also would be asked to testify.

According to Mr. Levy, the persons making the charges will have to substantiate them or go to jail. The committee will report its findings to the Legislature, and under Section 4, Subdivision 3 of the Legislative laws the Legislature has the power of punishment. The section states that "each House may punish by imprisonment not extending beyond the session of the Legislature," any person found guilty of contempt. The contempt, it is stated, may consist of "the publication of a false and malicious report of its proceedings, or of the conduct of a member in his legislative capacity."

If the witnesses refuse to obey the subpoenas, Mr. Levy says, the Legislature can inflict the same punishment under Sub-division 5, which states that it is contempt for a person to "neglect to attend or to be examined as a witness before the House or a committee thereof, or, upon reasonable notice, to produce any material, books, papers, or documents, when duly required to give testimony or to produce such books, papers or documents in a legislative proceeding, inquiry or investigation."

"If we can produce evidence to show that these reports emanated from Gov. Sulzer, he will be immediately subpoenaed to testify before the committee," said Mr. Levy. "We are going to probe this thing to the bottom. We owe it to the dignity of the Assembly to do so. I understand that the whole thing was a 'fame-up' between Mr. Arnold and Mr. Garrison, with a third party knowing all about it. The charge was made that the dough bag had arrived at the Assembly and that four votes had been purchased. If that is so, the public ought to know all about it, and if it isn't some one is going to jail for contempt."

The committee, which is heavily Tammany, is made up of Assemblymen Mark Goldberg, Chairman, New York; Peter P. McElligott, New York; Edward Weil, New York; Louis Cuvillier, New York; Patrick J. McMann, the Bronx; Charles D. Donohue, New York; Louis D. Gibbs, the Bronx; Vincent A. Connor, Brooklyn; Mortimer C. O'Brien, Westchester; Cyrus W. Phillips, Monroe; John J. Sullivan, Chautauqua; Charles J. Vert, Clinton, and Michael Schaap, New York.

HITCH IN ROAD INQUIRY.

Carmody Refuses to Approve Man Designated to Investigate Scandal.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., Aug. 21.—The investigation into the alleged frauds in connection with the construction of State roads in Suffolk County, inaugurated by John A. Hennessey, William Sulzer's special commissioner, has met with a hitch.

It was planned to put the investigation in the hands of Peter Smith of Brooklyn, but Attorney General Carmody has declined to approve Mr. Smith's appointment, and the Suffolk County Board of Supervisors has refused to agree to pay him for the work.

When Justice Kapper, ordered by Mr. Sulzer to preside over a special Grand Jury called to consider the case, convened court this morning, James M. Eaton of West Islip, a Sulzer man, was named as foreman. Justice Kapper said that the special term and jury had been directed by the Governor of the State to investigate allegations of fraud in the construction of roads in the county. It mattered not to the court or to the jury or to the county whether the man who was Governor at the time the special term was called was still Governor or not, he said. But other matters had arisen, he explained, which made it impossible to go on at this time. Therefore the Grand Jury was excused until Sept. 10.

NATION IS NEUTRAL IN GOVERNORS' WAR

Sulzer Gets Gubernatorial Mail, but Glynn Protest Would Hold It Up.

ALL PUT INTO LOCK-BOX

Key to This Retained by Sulzer—Wilson Administration Not to Take Sides.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The Gubernatorial mix-up at Albany was formally presented to the Wilson Administration to-day. Mr. Sulzer virtually asked the Post Office Department to recognize him as Governor by directing the Postmaster at Albany to deliver to him all mail addressed to the Governor.

Postmaster General Burleson took the ground that mail addressed to the Governor of New York should be deposited as usual in the Post Office box at Albany rented in the name of the Governor. Mr. Sulzer has the keys to this box. The Postmaster General took no action other than to sustain the position of the Postmaster at Albany, that, unless Mr. Glynn made a demand for mail addressed to the Governor, such mail should continue to be placed in the Governor's box in the Albany Post Office. If a demand is made by Mr. Glynn, as Acting Governor, the Postmaster at Albany will withhold from both Mr. Sulzer and Mr. Glynn all mail addressed to the Governor of New York, and report the conflicting demands to the First Assistant Postmaster General, in accordance with a provision of the postal laws and regulations.

The request from Mr. Sulzer in regard to the mail and communications from Mr. Glynn, Mr. Carmody, and Mr. Sulzer in connection with the Thaw matter formed the subject of conferences held by President Wilson, Postmaster General Burleson, Attorney General McReynolds, and Secretary Bryan, and additional conferences held by Secretary Bryan, Counselor Moore, and Acting Solicitor Van Dyne of the State Department. There were conferences also at the Post Office Department, participated in by Postmaster General Burleson, Assistant Attorney General Lamar, who is the legal adviser of the department; First Assistant Postmaster General Roper, and other officials.

The upshot of all these conferences was that it was determined that the United States Government should not be drawn into the controversy at Albany, and care was taken that in none of the communications sent by any officer of the Federal Government to either of the contestants for the New York Governorship should there be any recognition of the claims of either.

The application of Mr. Sulzer that mail addressed to the Governor of New York should be delivered to him was contained in this telegram sent yesterday by Chester C. Platt, secretary to Mr. Sulzer, and addressed to the Postmaster General:

> William Sulzer is the constitutional Governor of the State of New York by vote of the people. Please instruct the Postmaster at Albany to permit no one to divert his mail or tamper with the same. Letter follows. CHESTER C. PLATT,
> Secretary to the Governor.

This telegram was repeated by telegraph to S. F. Snyder, Postmaster at Albany, with a request for a report. This response was received:

> Mail addressed to William Sulzer, Governor, or simply Governor of the State of New York, is being delivered through lock box rented by the Governor, keys being in possession of William Sulzer. Letter follows. SNYDER, Postmaster.

The Assistant Attorney General for the Post Office Department also received a letter from William G. Van Cott, Assistant Postmaster at Albany, who wrote in behalf of Postmaster Snyder. In this letter it was explained that Acting Gov. Glynn had inquired of a clerk in the Post Office why Mr. Glynn was not receiving mail addressed to the Governor, and that the clerk had replied that such mail was being delivered to a lock box rented by the Governor, the keys of which were in the possession of Mr. Sulzer.

Mr. Glynn, according to the letter, said he would take up the matter with the Postmaster, and Tuesday afternoon counsel for Mr. Glynn informed Acting Postmaster Van Cott that they would present a written demand that mail addressed to the Governor be delivered to Mr. Glynn. Up to the time Mr. Van Cott's letter was written the demand had not been presented.

FOR SULZER; FLAY MURPHY.

Rockland County Vote of Confidence in Impeached Governor.

Special to The New York Times.

PLACE RIVER, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Resolutions of confidence in William Sulzer as Governor were adopted to-night at a meeting of Rockland County citizens. The resolution objects to the charges made against Mr. Sulzer because preferred by "a joint committee of the two houses of the Legislature, the membership of which is largely made up of members of a political organization in the City of New York, the head of which—the absolute master and dictator of which—Charles F. Murphy, has threatened the political extinction of Gov. Sulzer because the Governor has declined to accept his dictation and refused to be obedient to his commands."

The resolutions point out that "a Governor of the State of New York has never been impeached in 136 years of its history and therefore there have been established no precedents for action," and, declare that, "in accepting the report of the Tammany controlled committee on the one day and railroading through the resolution of impeachment in the all night session of the next day without discussion, examination or debate there was an attempt to establish precedents fraught with danger to the civil rights and liberties of each citizen of the State of New York."

It is resolved, "that the act of impeachment in the dark hours of the night of the 11th of August at the direction of and by the command of Boss Murphy was, in its unseemly haste, a betrayal of trust so indecent as to be criminal and we denounce as unworthy of further trust all those engaged in the conspiracy to overturn the orderly processes of Government and of organized society."

Martin H. Glynn is denounced in the resolutions as "a willing tool of Tammany," and Attorney General Carmody comes in for criticism for his opinion upholding Glynn, it being resolved "that we denounce as wicked and criminal the impudent and audacious attempt of the Attorney General, Thomas Carmody, in his recent opinion to usurp the functions the people of the State have reserved to themselves, of amending the Constitution, and reading into the Constitution a word that is not there, so that it can be tortured into meaning that which will best serve his master, Murphy, the Tammany Boss."

McGEE GETS CHANCE TO TALK.

"Suspender Jack" Takes Charge of Abandoned Sulzer Meeting.

Something went wrong with the meeting of east siders, which was to have been held last night in Jefferson Hall, in Columbia Street, to denounce Assemblyman Aaron J. Levy for his part in the impeachment of William Sulzer. S. Schnur, proprietor of the hall, said that the committee which had the affair in charge had called off the meeting on the advice of Louis Marshall of counsel for Mr. Sulzer, but many of the more than 500 men who surged about the closed doors of the hall and clamored loudly for admission thought that Tammany was responsible for their disappointment.

But an unexpected leader turned up to take charge of those who had assembled. "Suspender Jack" McGee, who stampeded the Bull Moose State Convention for Oscar Straus for Governor last year, worked on the feelings of the proprietor of a saloon in the neighborhood to such an extent that he consented to hire the large room in the rear of his establishment to the friends of Mr. Sulzer for $15. Having collected cash in advance the proprietor allowed the meeting to proceed, and McGee received a noisy welcome as he mounted a table in lieu of a platform and started right in to lambaste Tammany, not forgetting frequent references to himself.

"How about Harris & Fuller?" a voice from the audience interrupted. Those who had come to cheer for Sulzer and jeer Levy cried "Put him out!" The owner of the voice said he was Murray W. Stand, leader of the Young Men's Democratic Club, but when he was allowed to speak, instead of attacking Levy, as the audience expected, he began to defend Levy. Again a chorus of "boos" came from all sides. Stand stood his ground for a while, but when it got too hot for him he descended from the rostrum and consoled himself by distributing copies of the speech he had intended to make to the reporters.

McGee after more oratory then introduced S. Feldman as temporary Chairman of the meeting. After a long speech in Yiddish Mr. Feldman introduced McGee as the principal speaker of the evening. McGee spoke again and then introduced Mr. Feldman as the next speaker. They continued to introduce one another until a late hour.

Refuse to Indorse Sulzer.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The St. Lawrence County Democratic Committee, in session here to-day, refused to adopt a resolution of confidence in William Sulzer. A motion to adjourn interrupted a warm debate, and when the motion prevailed a committeeman shouted:

"Stand by our Governor! I move we are all cowards!"

ABBOT GASQUET COMING.

Noted Benedictine to Lecture on Work of Bible Revision.

Dom Gasquet, Abbot President of the English Benedictines, whom Pope Pius X. in 1907 appointed Chairman of a commission to undertake the revision of the Latin Bible or Vulgate, will be met at the pier by delegates of the Knights of Columbus upon his arrival here on Aug. 30 to give a series of lectures in the United States devoted to the work of the commission. A committee of the Board of Directors of the Knights of Columbus, after a meeting here yesterday, announced that Abbot Gasquet would be entertained at a reception to be attended by clergymen, Bible students, college and university Presidents, editors, and publishers.

During his lecture tour Abbot Gasquet will be entertained by Cardinals Gibbons, Farley, and O'Connell, Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul, Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis, and other prelates.

The work of the Pope's commission is far from completion. Benedictine scholars have been searching archives and libraries in every part of Europe, and nuns in distant convents and laymen also have aided. It is planned to give the world the nearest accurate copy of the Latin Bible since the fourth century.

The commission has collected 14,000 manuscripts. Copies of 30,000 pages of Biblical documents were obtained with the camera's aid. Photographs were made of manuscripts too precious to be removed from libraries, and there will be compiled pictorial volumes of every known Bible manuscript in existence.

SUES TO PROTECT PICTURE.

H. C. Kendall Hester Says There Are Too Many 'September Mornings'

"September Morning," the picture of a young woman bathing in a lake, which aroused the ire of Anthony Comstock, got into the Federal courts yesterday. H. C. Kendall Hester of this city, who says he is the owner of the copyright of the picture, brought an infringement suit in the Federal District Court against the McGowan Silsbee Litho Company.

The suit is for $25,000 damages and a perpetual injunction against the defendant corporation. Hester says that on June 28 last he was the first to apply for a copyright for "September Morning," and that on July 2 a certificate was granted to him by the Librarian of Congress. Soon after obtaining the copyright Hester says he ordered certain reproductions of the illustration from the defendants, and that since then they have manufactured and sold large numbers of copies of the picture without his consent.

PUTS SCHLEY UNDER BOND.

Court Then Frees His Income from Attachment in Wife's Suit.

Supreme Court Justice Guy signed an order yesterday requiring James Montfort Schley to furnish a bond of $35,000 to secure the payment of that amount to his former wife, now Mrs. Morna Cliff Andrews, if he failed in his attempt to break a separation agreement made with her. Justice Guy issued an order protecting Schley's income from an attachment by Mrs. Andrews.

Mrs. Andrews alleges in her complaint that while her suit for divorce was pending against her husband in Texas he entered into an agreement with her under which he promised to pay her $200 a month, and to insure his life in her favor for $20,000.

GOV. WHITNEY KILLS 2 MORO ASSAILANTS

American Executive Is Badly Wounded in a Hand-to-Hand Fight with Jolo Tribesmen.

LIFE ATTEMPTED BEFORE

He Was Appointed to Present Office Following Injury by the Natives Last January.

MANILA, Aug. 21.—Vernon L. Whitney of Iowa, Governor of Jolo, is in the hospital suffering from five barong wounds inflicted by two Moros. The Governor is badly injured, but will probably recover. He killed both of his assailants after a dramatic struggle.

Gov. Whitney had just completed an inspection of the scout camp at Bual Looc and had sent his interpreter to order his launch. The interpreter was attacked by Moros, but escaped. Whitney heard of the attack, and as he ran to investigate he met two Moros, who approached in a friendly manner, but suddenly attacked him.

Whitney clinched one of the Moros while he shot the other. Then, after a struggle, wrested the barong from the other man and killed him with it. During the struggle, however, Whitney received bad wounds.

Whitney Wounded Before.

This is not the first time Moro outlaws have attempted to "get" Gov. Whitney, who was appointed to his present post from an inspectorship of constabulary following his disablement from a wound received in the fight at Sahipa's Cota, in the Island of Jolo, on Jan. 23.

A Times correspondent met Whitney at Jolo City last March on the day when the Inspector, who then had the rank of Lieutenant, got out of the hospital. Over at Zamboanga the correspondent had heard much of Whitney's reputation as a scrapper, which has been maintained pretty much from the time the Iowan went over as a volunteer in the early days.

A big man, much over 6 feet in height, limped across the porch of the Army and Navy Club, shook hands, sat down heavily, and then began to swear.

"It's my pet corn," he apologized. "I have nursed that thing for fifteen years, and now I can't feel it at all."

"The Moros got Whitney's sciatic nerve at Sahipa's Cota," explained a Secret Service man.

"Can't feel a thing in that foot now," supplemented Whitney. "I had come to look on that corn as a friend. It was a barometer, and I had come to enjoy each twinge it gave me."

The Times correspondent expressed a wish to see the Sultan and Datto Mandi, the latter having come over a few days before, at the instance of Gen. Pershing, the Military Governor of the Moro Province, to assist in inducing the renegade Moros, who were then gathered in the crater of Bud Dao to the number of 8,000, to disperse and give up their arms. Whitney called out something in Malay, and a dark, lithe individual, dressed in bright colors, appeared.

Sends for the Sultan.

"Tell the Sultan and Datto Mandi that I would like to see them here," said Whitney, who had even then been slated for the Governorship and who was feared and respected by the natives.

The messenger was back in an incredibly brief time, and was followed by Datto Mandi. The messenger reported the Sultan had said he was sick.

When a party was made up to take a view of the native town of Tulay, where the Sultan's palace is, Whitney insisted upon going along. He declined to ride in the army wagon and disdained to slip a gun into his hip pocket, as the others did, before leaving the walled city. As the little procession went along the natives saluted the big Iowan with every evidence of respect. It was evident from what his brother officers said that Whitney's reputation was widely established in the Moro country.

It was difficult to get the Lieutenant to describe the fight, in which one of his legs was put out of business, and he gave all the credit for the successful outcome to his younger subordinates. Whitney himself appeared to be in the neighborhood of thirty-five.

"Sahipa had been a cattle thief for many years," he said finally.

"It happened that in a fight last June I killed his brother, and Sahipa had sworn vengeance. He made several attempts to get me, but didn't succeed, and this time I suppose I was wounded in the ordinary course of a fight. But if I had been of the height of the average Moro constabulary soldier, the bullet that got me in the leg would have got me in the abdomen, and that would have been the end of me.

"After committing a lot of robberies and murders, Sahipa and his band fortified themselves in an old shack of a mosque, about a forty-five minute hike from Taglibi camp. They dug a six-foot trench around the four sides of the building, covered it with cocoanut logs, and between the logs placed bamboo tubes, on a slant. Outside they built a tall bamboo fence. The men in the trenches did not have to see an attacking force. They just lifted their guns above their heads, putting their muzzles into the bamboo tubes, and blazed away. This method worked so well that one of our companies was almost wiped out.

Fired on White Flag.

"When we had surrounded the fort on all sides I took a scout soldier, an interpreter, and a white flag, and advanced within speaking distance, in an effort to parley with the renegades. I suggested that they had better surrender to avoid bloodshed. They greeted my words with jeers, and a volley of shots. After I had spent ten minutes at this word game I decided the bullets were coming uncomfortably close, and I retreated to our lines.

"We had a mountain gun detachment with us, and it was brought up and put into action, and the mosque and the stockade were soon in flames. Soon after this I saw Lieut. Cochran drop his gun, hold up a wounded right arm, and draw his pistol with his left. Men were falling on every side. Word came that Capt. Patrick McNally, in command of the scouts, had been killed, and I gave an order to retire temporarily to a creek near by. I had gone just ten yards when I felt a sting in my thigh, and went down. Lieut. Townsend was struck on the side about the same time, and that left only three officers, all young men, but they finished the fight, and at the end of thirty minutes the engagement was over. Eleven Moros managed to escape.

"Yes, I like the life in this part of the world," said Whitney, in answer to a question. "I have a high opinion of the capabilities of the Moro, when he learns how to behave himself. You have got to be firm with them, and keep your word. They mistake gentleness for weakness. By treating them with strict justice, and by giving them the impression that you are not afraid of them you can get along with them easily."

WILL DIE WITH SWEETHEART

Miss Hamilton, Found by Rich's Body, Is Wounded Mortally.

Physicians of St. John's Hospital in Yonkers said last night that Miss Ruth Hamilton, who was found mortally wounded in Yonkers early yesterday morning beside the body of her sweetheart, Charles Rich, would soon join him in death, thus carrying out the agreement they made when the young man shot the girl three times through the chest with a revolver and then killed himself.

It was learned yesterday that the suicide agreement followed the refusal of the parents of the young man and woman to consent to their marriage. This refusal was based upon their youth.

On Wednesday night Rich called at the home of Mrs. Henri Morand, Miss Hamilton's sister, with whom she lived, and arranged the details of their death. Before they departed from the house Miss Hamilton wrote this note to Mr. and Mrs. Morand and put it under the front door:

> Thank you for all the kindnesses you have shown me and Charlie. We are going to end it all. Tell mother and William you are in no way responsible for this. Love and kisses to all, especially little Annette. RUTH.

Miss Hamilton and Rich then walked to a grove in Thomas Street, near Buena Vista Avenue. There the girl wrote another note on the back of an old envelope and pinned it to the lapel of the young man's coat. This one read:

> We thought it best to die together.

Both signed their names to this.

Rich was employed by the Otis Elevator Works, in Yonkers, as an electrician. His father, Charles E. Rich, is prominent as a politician in Yonkers.

ARREST ORDER FOR GRAGG.

Wife, Suing for Support, Tells of Assault in Broadway.

Deputy Sheriff Gilmore served a civil order of arrest yesterday on Frank P. Gragg, whose wife, Helena A. Gragg, suing him for a separation, said he earned more than $6,000 a year as salesman for a Park Row china house. Gragg furnished $750 bonds to appear on the trial of the suit.

Among the allegations in affidavits submitted to the Supreme Court, on which Justice Giegerich issued the civil order of arrest, was one by Mrs. Gragg and her brother, Harry Schultz, of 3,129 Broadway, that Gragg assaulted his wife at Broadway and Twenty-seventh Street on Aug. 2 and escaped arrest after a policeman had been called by holding a whispered conversation with the policeman and handing him something from his pocket.

The assault, according to the affidavits, followed a demand by Mrs. Gragg that her husband contribute to her support. The Graggs were married in Philadelphia in 1892 and separated in 1905 under an agreement by which Gragg was to pay his wife $60 a month. He stopped the payments in May, 1909, and she brought suit for separation, she said. Judgment for $20 a week alimony was entered against him, and he fled the State, she said. They became reconciled and resumed marital relations in March, 1911, and he left her, she said, on June 29, 1912.

Birthday Party at the Allimony Club

Edward Pacey, who is prominent in the Allimony Club of Ludlow Street Jail, although he is confined there for refusal to pay only $15 a week, has invited other members of the club to attend a party in celebration of his forty-fifth birthday. This event will take place on Sunday afternoon in the "club's" dining room. The only guest of honor, uninitiated in the secrets of escaping alimony, will be Sheriff Harburger.

him by State Secretary Bryan after the Senate discussion, in which it was said the forty-two American men and six women in La Boquillo, State of Chihuahua—including Shirly C. Hulse, son-in-law of Lieut. Gov. Reynolds of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Hulse, and the couple's 6-year-old daughter—were in danger. Consul Letcher had wired Mr. Bryan that Mexicans had threatened to kill Mr. Fuller without trial if he impounded water at an authorized dam in La Boquillo, and that it was probable the threat included Mr. Hulse.

Mr. Penrose demanded that the State Department warn President Huerta and Gov. Carranza, Constitutionalist Commander in Chief, to protect the Hulses and all the other Americans in the danger zone. He also induced Chairman Bacon of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to telephone to the Secretary of State on the subject.

WANTS TROOPS IN MEXICO.

Penrose Asks for $25,000,000 to Protect Americans.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—As soon as the Senate convened Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania brought up the Mexican question by introducing his resolution requesting the President to place American troops in Mexico for the protection of American lives and property. He accompanied the resolution with an amendment to be offered later to the Urgent Deficiency bill placing at the President's disposal $25,000,000 for use at his discretion in protecting American lives and property in Mexico.

Mr. Penrose's resolution follows:

> Resolved, That the Senate recognizes that it has been the policy of the United States to maintain the Monroe Doctrine throughout the western hemisphere, and that the United States acknowledges its responsibility under the Monroe Doctrine; that there exists in the Republic of Mexico a condition of internal warfare and lawlessness, and that a continuation of these present conditions, accompanied by the destruction of property, may involve international complications and intervention by European nations.
>
> Resolved, That it is believed by the Senate that it is the first duty of the Government of the United States to protect the lives and property of its citizens at home and abroad, and that such protection in the Republic of Mexico will lessen the prevailing lawlessness and destruction of lives and property, and the danger and complications that might arise from European intervention in the Republic of Mexico.
>
> Resolved, That in the opinion of the Senate it is not the policy of the Government of the United States to recognize, aid, or assist any faction or factions in the Republic of Mexico.
>
> Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to take such steps as are necessary to place a sufficient number of troops, as a constabulary, in the Republic of Mexico, wherever and at such points as in his opinion they may be needed properly to police and to protect American citizens and their property; and it is hereby declared that such employment of troops for the protection of the lives and property of American citizens is not made with any intent that such policing and protection shall be construed as an act of hostility or unfriendliness toward the Mexican nation.

Mr. Penrose's proposed amendment to the Deficiency bill provides:

> For the protection of the lives and property of American citizens in the Republic of Mexico and for each and every purpose connected therewith, to be expended at the discretion of the President and to remain available until July 1, 1914, $25,000,000.

The presentation of these measures was the signal for an unexpected rally of Republican Senators to the support of President Wilson. With a unanimity that heretofore has characterized only their criticisms of the Administration's foreign policy, such Republican leaders as Mr. Lodge, Mr. Sutherland, Mr. Nelson, Mr. Smoot and Mr. Gallinger indorsed the plea of Chairman Bacon of the Committee on Foreign Relations that the delicate situation should not be aggravated by impetuous talk at this time.

Mr. Penrose took those indirect rebukes in good part. He insisted that his measures merely were permissive and that the President could not be embarrassed simply by authority to take strong measures should his judgment find them necessary. Mr. Penrose asserted that this proposal to use American troops for policing the troubled zones of Mexico where Americans were in peril would involve no interference with either faction.

It was thought afterward that Senator Penrose would have taken a sharper tone if a telegram which he received from State Secretary Bryan when the discussion was over had been delivered a little earlier. That dispatch set forth that recent advices from American Consul Letcher in Chihuahua reported that the insurgents had threatened immediate death without trial to W. P. Fuller in La Boquilla if he again should impound water in the reservoir supplying the works at that point, and that it was feared this threat applied also to Shirley C. Hulse, son-in-law of Lieut. Gov. Reynolds of Pennsylvania.

This is the telegram which Mr. Bryan sent over the Government wire between the State Department and the Capitol:

> Department of State, Washington, D. C.,
> Aug. 21, 1913.
> The Hon. Boies Penrose, United States Senate:
> Referring to your interest in Shirley C. Hulse and family, I have the honor to inform you that in a telegram dated Aug. 18, 12 noon, the American Consul at Chihuahua states that on Aug. 4 a verbal message was sent by the Mexican insurrectionary leaders to Mr. Fuller, who telegraphed in the first instance regarding this matter to the Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania, that Fuller's execution without trial would be ordered if he again impounded water in the dam under his charge. The Consul states that he has a written statement covering the matter, which presumably will be forwarded to the department.
>
> Although no specific threats were made against Hulse, the Consul states it may be supposed that such threat applies equally to any employes of the same company who might attempt the act prohibited by the insurrectionaries, and that as the dam referred to was built under a lawful concession for impounding water for power purposes, it is of vital importance that such impounding be done at once during the rainy season.
>
> The Consul further states that recent information indicates that there are forty-two American men and six women at La Boquilla, that all are well, and that, although it is not known when Federal forces will arrive there, they are at present operating southward in that direction from Chihuahua, and doubtless will relieve the situation upon their arrival.
>

Hulse News Angers Penrose.

Mr. Penrose was very angry when he read the telegram, partly because the information had not been at his disposal earlier in the day, but chiefly because Mr. Bryan made no reference to any measure on the part of the State Department to protect Mr. Fuller and Mr. Hulse.

The Pennsylvania Senator showed the dispatch to some of his Republican associates and then handed it to Mr. Bacon, uging him as the Democratic Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations to send a telegram at once to the Secretary of State insisting that demands for protection be made immediately to President Huerta, Acting Gov. Carranza of Coahuila, and the insurrecto chief immediately in charge at La Boquilla, and that the demands be accompanied by a solemn warning that the officials named would be held responsible for the lives of the Americans.

This Mr. Bacon declined to do, but at Mr. Penrose's insistence he did have a long telephone talk with Mr. Bryan. When that conversation ended Mr. Penrose sent to Mr. Bryan a message conveying his wishes in positive language.

"The Americans in Mexico," said Mr. Penrose, when he presented his resolution, "have a right to stay in Mexico. Their business and their interests are there. The Government has requested an appropriation of $100,000 to bring these Americans out of Mexico. Their protection in Mexico is more essential. Instead of providing this pittance for their escape, it would be better to appropriate $25,000,000 to protect them there in the lawful pursuit of their callings."

Mr. Bacon replied that the question was very delicate, that the Committee on Foreign Relations had decided unanimously to consider all proposals relative to Mexico before their discussion in the Senate and that he hoped Mr. Penrose would let his measures be referred.

Lodge Wants Silence, Too.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts supported Mr. Bacon's suggestion. He said he was impressed by the seriousness and delicacy of the task confronting the Administration, and assured Mr. Penrose that the committee would consider his propositions carefully.

Mr. Penrose said he was willing that his two resolutions introduced last week should go to the committee, but he insisted that his measures presented to-day remain before the Senate for automatic consideration to-morrow.

"It is unwise at this time to agitate this question," said Mr. Nelson of Minnesota, a Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee. "The Administration is doing all that is possible to solve the problem. The introduction of such resolutions serves only to keep the trouble open and to embarrass the Administration. There should be no exploitation in the Senate, and I protest against speeches on Mexico just now."

Mormons for Peace.

"The citizens of Utah," said Mr. Smoot, a Republican leader from that State, "have suffered more than any other body of American citizens. Five or six thousand of them have been driven from Mexico at a moment's notice and their property has been destroyed. But none of them wants war. They say, let the Mexicans fight it out among themselves. Everything is being done that can be done, and we should stand squarely behind the President in his efforts to restore peace."

The one dissenting note was sounded by Mr. Fall of New Mexico. He said he never had questioned the President's patriotism, but that he saw no reason why discussion should be suppressed. Public opinion, if well-informed, he said, would act conservatively, but as things now stood, there was a feeling of resentment in every State.

"The people," concluded Mr. Fall, "had better be informed rather than inflamed."

DENY THEY ARE ALARMISTS.

Mexican Officials Tell of Taking Zapata's Last Redoubt.

Dr. L. L. Pardo, editor of the weekly paper, Below The Rio Grande, sent to The Times last evening the following Mexican cable dispatch, with the statement that it had been received from an authorized source, and that it contained the latest information about the campaign in the State of Morelos:

"Reports stating the Mexican Government and Mexican press are favoring the circulation of alarming news are absolutely false. On the contrary, the Mexican press is maintaining an attitude of commendable reserve and dignity, and it has even refused to print news and comments transmitted from the United States tending to complicate the situation.

"The last redoubt of Zapata was captured yesterday by the Federal forces after a terrific battle. This victory puts an end to the campaign in the State of Morelos, which for the last three years had been in revolt."

SAYS IT WOULD BE WAR.

Proposal to Land Troops in Mexico Attacked by Gamboa.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21.—Provisional President Huerta declined to be interviewed to-night in regard to the negotiations between the United States and Mexico for restoration of peace in this republic. So did John Lind, President Wilson's personal emissary to this capital.

Federico Gamboa, the Mexican Minister of Foreign Relations, said in regard to the resolution offered by Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania in the United States Senate to-day on the subject of protection for Americans living in this country:

"I cannot believe that the Penrose resolution as to the landing of American troops in Mexican territory is compatible with the statement, 'This is no unfriendly act.'

"Passage of the resolution would be equivalent to a declaration of war. It would necessitate all the usual preliminaries to conflict, such as the withdrawal of the chancelleries of the two countries and the taking of measures to protect Mexicans in the United States and Americans in Mexico.

"Even publication of the story of the Penrose resolution in Mexico would be dangerous. Practically the entire attention of the Mexican Government through the last few days has been devoted to calming public opinion here. A published report of such action on the part of a United States Senator would nullify all our efforts.

"It is doubtful that in the event of such publication the police would be able to prevent demonstrations against Americans on the part of Mexican citizens."

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 21.—The Mexican press devoted itself editorially to-day to the possibilities of recognition by the United States of the belligerency of the rebels and intervention, either of which courses the newspapers appear to consider imminent.

El Pais, the organ of the Clerical Party, after pointing out that the Madero rebellion had one recognized chief, says:

"Suppose Gen. Huerta relinquishes power—to whom would he deliver it? Carranza? No, because Zapata would claim it for himself. Maytorena? No, because Pesqueira would not be conformable. To Zapata!

"Should the United States recognize the belligerency of the rebels, which group could it recognize as a belligerent? This, Mr. Lind, is the precise situation."

The Independence quotes ex-Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks as saying it would "be foolis hto sacrifice one soldier for all the dollars of American speculators," and asks "how he would characterize intervention from the Mexican point of view, which is that thousands of Mexicans would be forced to die opposing a most unwarranted aggression. There is only one adequate word," the newspaper concludes, "and that is 'crime.'"

Officially, Mexico continues silent regarding the negotiations with the representative of the President of the United States, John Lind, although the public has been given to understand that they still are in progress. Mr. Lind has shown no indication of early departure, and the conferences between him and the Foreign Minister, Federico Gamboa, which have been held at intervals serve as a basis for the statement that cordial relations prevail.

A conference between Mr. Lind and the Foreign Minister was held this afternoon, but as usual the nature of the talk was not revealed.

PARIS DOUBTS HUERTA LOAN.

Bankers Deride Report Mexico Has Borrowed $20,000,000.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Leading French bankers and institutions deride the idea that the Mexican Government has floated a new loan of $20,000,000.

In Paris the news is considered the more incredible from the fact that the Minister of Finance gave his assurance that no Mexican loan would be floated or marketed until the reopening of the French Parliament in the Autumn.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—The French Foreign Office continues to take the attitude that it would be unwise for French bankers to lend money to the Mexican Government until the United States Government has recognized the Huerta Administration.

The Foreign Office has received from the State Department in Washington an outline of President Wilson's policy toward Mexico, including the recent suggestions made by ex-Gov. John Lind, the President's personal representative. The communication seemingly does not require a reply.

WOULD STOP ALIENS' LOSS.

Consul Asks Rebels to End Useless Destruction of Towns.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Aug. 21.—A step to protect Americans and all foreigners in Constitutionalist territory was taken to-day by Acting American Vice Consul W. H. Blocker in Piedras Negras, Mexico, in protesting formally to Constitutionalist leaders against the destruction of the mining town of Lampacitos, Coahuila, last Saturday, when about $1,000,000 worth of property—much of it French-owned—was wiped out.

Mr. Blocker said he found the destruction of that town was of no military advantage to the Constitutionalists. He asked them as a "civilized body of men" to stop destroying property of foreigners not interested in the revolution, pointing out such acts only weakened their cause.

Rushing Cruiser for Mexico.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 21.—Orders were received at the navy yard here to-day to rush work on the armored cruiser Montana, which is undergoing her annual overhauling. Double shifts have been put to work, and it is thought the vessel will be ready to sail the latter part of the month. The Montana's destination is not known officially here, but it is reported she will be sent to Mexico.

VENEZUELA CRUSHES CASTRO REVOLUTION

Ex-President's Brother-in-Law, Nephews, and Most Trusted Intimate Are Captured.

THINK MENACE OBLITERATED

Castro's Career Believed to be at an End—Public Support That He Expected Utterly Failed Him.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CARACAS, Aug. 21.—The Government officially announces the complete defeat and capture at Coro of the Castro invading force, including Castro's brother-in-law, Gen. Simon Bello; his nephews, Vincente Parra Castro and Julio Velasquez Castro; also Juan Liendo, Castro's most trusted intimate.

It appears that the Government had the Coro situation well in hand from the beginning, but had been hoping to capture Castro himself. His present whereabouts are unknown.

Castro counted upon public support, which has utterly failed him everywhere. It is believed that his ignominious defeat marks the end of his career and obliterates him as a menace to Venezuelan peace.

President Gomez remains at Maracay. The disbanding of the army is not expected yet, as guerrilla invasions from Colombia and fighting in Tachira continue, though considered unimportant.

Great satisfaction is felt in all circles at the efficient handling of the revolution by the Government, and business will, it is expected, revive promptly.

CARACAS, Aug. 21.—Gen. Leon Jurado, Governor of the State of Falcon, in co-operation with the gunboat Mariscal Sucre, attacked and completely defeated the rebel followers of Gen. Cipriano Castro yesterday at Coro, according to an official announcement issued by the Government to-day. All the officers commanding the rebel forces were captured and are now on board the Venezuelan warship.

Unimportant invasions of Venezuelan territory continue to be made by rebels from across the Colombian border. A few insurgent bands are operating near Coro.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The report that Cipriano Castro, who was supposed to have landed in Venezuela recently to direct a revolution, has not been there was confirmed to-day by a cablegram to the Navy Department from Commander Long of the cruiser Des Moines, who was sent to investigate the situation.

"The fullest information," the commander reports, "indicates that Castro has never been in Venezuela; that the present disturbance has not been important, and that it is practically finished."

LEGUIA COMING HERE.

Exiled ex-President of Peru Says an Attempt Was Made to Kill Him.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PANAMA, Aug. 21.—Ex-President Leguía of Peru has arrived here on his way to New York, having been exiled on a charge of conspiracy by order of President Billingshurst. He declares that after an attempt had been made to assassinate him he was imprisoned in Lima for seventeen days and then expelled. He will remain here for a week and then sail for New York, from whence he will go to visit his son, who is a student at the University of Wisconsin.

Señor Leguia asserts that a condition of anarchy exists in Peru.

MOTOR BANDITS IN GERMANY

Cashier of a Hamburg Bank Shot Dead and the Bank Robbed.

HAMBURG, Aug. 21.—A robbery which culminated in murder, and resembled in its methods recent outrages by Parisian and American automobile bandits, took place this morning at the Communal Savings Bank at Wilhelmsburg, a suburb of Hamburg.

Two men drove to the bank in a taxicab, and on entering the building leveled revolvers at two young clerks, who scurried for shelter. The cashier of the institution, an aged man, in an attempt to save the money in his care until help could be summoned, fought with the two men, but he was shot dead.

The bandits then appropriated all the cash in sight and escaped in the automobile.

LIKELY TO BAR JOHNSON.

Belief That London Manager Will Cancel Pugilist's Engagements.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, Aug. 22.—It is probable that Jack Johnson's London vaudeville engagements will be canceled as a result of the emphatic protest made by the Executive Committee of the Variety Artists' Federation.

At a meeting yesterday this body passed a resolution "that Johnson's engagements in the existing circumstances are a question of public decency." The resolution also protested against "the tendency on the part of certain managements to sacrifice good taste by making engagements based on unsavory notoriety acquired through the law courts or otherwise rather than on the abilities of the performers."

Henry Toher, manager of the two halls in which Johnson was to appear, admits that the decision of the Variety Artists' Federation is not to be treated lightly, and intimates that the contract will probably be canceled.

Johnson is in Paris. His nephew says he will come to London to-morrow.

Several papers call attention to the many protests against his appearance, and The Daily Mail says: "It is generally felt that it would be a public scandal, if not an affront to the United States, where he is still 'wanted.'"

VARDON AND RAY DEFENDED

Said to Have No Desire to Play Here Except in Championship.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—In connection with the reports which have been published regarding the visit of Vardon and Ray, the professional golfers, to America, referred to in THE NEW YORK TIMES dispatches yesterday, a letter has been addressed to the editor of THE TIMES by Percy Burton, who, "as sole maker of arrangements with them on behalf of the distinguished sportsman who desired to see England properly represented in the American championship," points out these facts:

"First, that no exorbitant sum was offered them, nor were they pressed to go. As a matter of fact, Vardon expressed a desire to play for nothing. Both were anxious to have the honor of winning the American championship

"Second, that their expenses were computed by an American friend and that the money paid them naturally includes the loss on the exhibition games they would have played in this country between Aug. 7 and the day of their return.

"Third, that as soon as their visit was announced they were approached by American clubs anxious to see them play, and that they are wisely asking high, though I do not think prohibitive, prices, in order that they may play as few games as possible before the great event."

Mr. Burton adds: "The gentleman who kindly defrayed their expenses has nothing whatsoever to do with their trip other than to see that Great Britain is properly represented in the American championship."

It is generally understood that the sportsman who defrays the golfers' expenses is Lord Northcliffe.

CHINESE STAY IN PANAMA.

Drastic Deportation Law Will Not Be Enforced.

PANAMA, Aug. 21.—An agreement has been reached between the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Panama, Ernesto Lefevre, and a committee representing the merchants of Panama regarding the Chinese situation. The Chinese in Panama have failed to comply with the law requiring the registration of all Chinese in the republic, but pressure has been brought to bear on the Panama Government by the merchants for the modification of the provisions of the law which require deportation.

It has now been agreed that all the Chinese shall register. Those who have been smuggled into the country during the last five years will pay one-half of the tax of $250 in cash, the balance to be charged against each individual until the next Assembly convenes, when it is expected a relief bill will be passed. It is estimated that 1,000 Chinese will be affected.

STRATHCONA WILL RETIRE NEXT YEAR

To Give Up High Commissionership in London on Reaching the Age of 94.

HIS WONDERFUL CAREER

Early Hardships Followed by Brilliant Success—Canadian Pacific Railway Due to His Efforts.

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—Lord Strathcona has signified his intention of resigning the post of Canadian High Commissioner in England. He will retire early next year, when he will be ninety-four years old.

He will probably be succeeded by the Hon. Clifford Sifton, ex-Canadian Minister of the Interior.

It was rumored some years ago that Lord Strathcona was about to resign the High Commissionership of Canada in London, to which office he was appointed in 1896, but the report proved incorrect. Two years ago, however, he announced that he was determined to give up the post, and it was with difficulty that he was persuaded to retain it.

At that time a writer in The Daily Mail, in a column article headed "The Triumph of Character," outlined Lord Strathcona's amazing career. He said in part: "What novelist would have the audacity to create a hero whose youth was an adventure among the Indians in the frozen wilderness, whose manhood was that of a railway pioneer and nation builder, and whose old age was that of a statesman—a hero who became a millionaire by his own industry and an imperial force by his wisdom and experience?

"When Donald Smith, age 18, left his home in Morayshire and sailed for Canada, Queen Victoria had just been crowned and the first steamship was preparing to cross the Atlantic. It took him six weeks to do a journey which is now accomplished in six days. There was no Dominion of Canada in those days. Neither the people nor the provinces were united. French-Canadians and English-speaking people in Upper Canada were disaffected toward Great Britain. The revenues of the country were not worth speaking about. The centre and west were inaccessible, for there was no railway across the continent, and the vast territories administered by the Honorable Company of Adventurers, founded by Henry VIII. and known as the Hudson Bay Company, were the Great Lone Land of adventurous trappers and traders.

"Into this wilderness went Donald Smith in 1838. After ten years in the St. Lawrence ports he entered Labrador, where he remained until 1864, and established a reputation as a trader in pelts and an administrator of the Hudson Bay Company. His tact and wisdom won the confidence of the Indians, and his iron constitution enabled him to thrive on the rigors of the climate. Threatened with snow blindness, the hardy young Scot made a forced march through 500 miles of snow to Montreal, and after a successful operation returned to his post—the sole survivor of that terrible journey.

"So great was his influence with the people of the West that when the Red River expedition started under Lord Wolseley Donald Smith was chosen to act as negotiator with the rebels. 'His word,' as Lord Wolseley says, 'was law in all that wide region.'

"The confidence he inspired was manifested when a year later Lord Strathcona entered political life as member for Winnipeg in the Provincial Assembly. He had long realized that if the Northwest was to remain part of the empire, and if the Eastern Provinces were to be united with the West, and Canada was to become a nation, a railway must be built across the continent. To that vast enterprise Lord Strathcona applied all his energies and ingenuity. In these days of abounding prosperity and development it is impossible to realize the obstacles that these pioneers had to overcome. Not nature alone had to be vanquished, but man, for there were then, as now, men who see only failure and disaster. Lord Strathcona lived to reap a great reward in wealth and in gratitude.

"After such an undertaking he might well have been content to relax his efforts. But the imperial spirit summoned Lord Strathcona, at the age of 77, to transfer his energies to a wider field. He came to London as High Commissioner for the Dominion, and for nearly a generation has been one of the strongest bonds between Canada and the United Kingdom.

"Sir Charles Tupper did not exaggerate when he said that 'only the pluck, energy, and determination of Lord Strathcona carried the Canadian Pacific Railway to success.' His watchful and resolute policy as chief factor and resident Governor of the Hudson Bay Company saved Western Canada for the Empire. Winnipeg is the enduring monument of his foresight, for by securing the Great Northern Railway and refusing the enormous bribe of United States magnates he made it the wheat market of the Middle West.

"Two talents, little noticed in the world, Lord Strathcona has cultivated to perfection. He is never vehement, for he believes in quiet and steady perseverance. He who foresees no difficulties and apprehends no obstacles is always more vehement than the man who is accustomed to observe the rocks and quicksands of human affairs and who knows with how much vehemence men often oppose their own happiness and well-being. What Lord Strathcona has done he has done by continuous effort, not by sudden blows; by foresight rather than by inspiration.

"He has cultivated also the habit of doing business with regularity and ease. This is one of the secrets of his success, and has enabled him to live three lives—the life of a pioneer in the frozen wilderness, the life of a nation builder on the prairies, and the life of a statesman in the capital of the Empire. It has kept him in health and vigor of body and mind at the age of ninety and started him on a new and active career which has lasted over thirty years at a time when most men begin to think seriously of their latter end.

J. H. Hobson Dies in France.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—J. H. Hobson died to-day at the American Hospital at Neuilly. Mr. Hobson for more than thirty years was a resident of Paris, and was born at Dover, Del., fifty-eight years ago. He was one of the best-known characters of the American colony in Paris.

STONE RUMANIAN KING.

Bandits Attack Him and the Queen in the Carpathians—Neither Hurt.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—A telegram received here states that as King Charles of Rumania and Queen Elizabeth (Carmen Sylva) were driving in a motor car in the neighborhood of Sinaia, in the Carpathians, they were attacked by brigands, who suddenly sprang up at the side of the roadway.

The brigands shouted to the driver of the motor car to stop, and as he did not slacken speed pointed revolvers at him. The chauffeur, instead of stopping, went on at full speed.

The brigands sent a shower of stones after the car, but neither the King nor Queen was struck.

BOUGHT BY AN AMERICAN.

Extra-Illustrated "Tour in Wales" Has Nearly 2,000 Pictures.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, Aug. 22.—It is announced that an American collector has bought a superb copy of Thomas Pennant's "Tour in Wales" that was sold at Sotheby's last May to a London bookseller for $1,750.

The book has been extra-illustrated to such an extent that the original volume has been expanded to eleven quarto volumes and one folio volume by the addition of nearly 2,000 pictures illustrative of Welsh history, scenery, &c.

The Times regrets that the work was not bought for the Welsh National Library.

ADMIRAL LOSES BOTH LEGS.

Three Killed and Others Badly Injured by Gun Explosion in Austria.

POLA, Aug. 21.—Admiral Count von Wellenburg of the Austrian Navy lost both legs, three petty officers were killed, three other petty officers and two civilians were desperately wounded, and a number of other persons were slightly injured by the bursting of the breach of a 305-centimetre gun while it was being tested here to-day.

Both legs of Admiral von Wellenburg, who is President of the Naval Technical Committee, were so shattered by the explosion that immediate amputation was necessary.

Sharp Earthquake Shock at Messina

MESSINA, Aug. 21.—A severe earthquake shock occurred here this afternoon. It was brief in duration, lasting not more than four seconds, but it caused a great panic among the populace, who ran out of the wooden huts in which they have lived since the earthquake of 1908.

FIND DYNAMITE NEAR MAYOR'S WINDOW

Four Sticks of Explosive at City Hall Wrapped in Italian Cambric.

HAD FUSE AND CAP READY

Gaynor in His Office When Explosive Is Found—Police Are Mystified—Perhaps a Thief's Booty.

Wrapped in Italian cambric, tied about with a blue and white cord, four sticks of dynamite were found at the noon hour yesterday in the areaway within the iron picket fence at the northwest corner of the City Hall, almost directly under the window of Mayor Gaynor's private office. Some persons called the package a bomb. City Hall Park was filled with its usual lunch hour throngs when the news of the discovery flashed over the neighborhood. A crowd of several thousand persons in a jiffy gathered on the Broadway and Chambers Street sides of the City Hall. Reserves from the Oak Street and Elizabeth Street Stations were called to keep the crowd in check.

Joseph Ryan, son of the janitor of City Hall, and J. J. Madden, an acting foreman in the city's employ, both say they discovered the package containing the dynamite. According to Madden a few days ago near the same spot inside the areaway he found a number of pawntickets. In passing the place yesterday he looked down and saw a package wrapped in heavy cambric, from one end of which several chocolate-colored sticks protruded. Ryan, on the other hand, says that he was passing along the walk on the west side of the City Hall when he glanced into the areaway and saw a white bundle, from one end of which a half burned fuse projected.

Fire Commissioner Joseph Johnson was standing in the corridor on the ground floor of the City Hall talking to Alderman John J. White, when word was brought to him that a dynamite bomb had been found. Mr. Johnson at once hurried to the spot where the bundle rested and directed that a piece of burlap be thrown over the package pending the arrival of Owen Eagan, Assistant Inspector of the Bureau of Combustibles. Inspector Eagan first placed the bundle in a bucket of water. Then it was taken to the Oak Street Station and thence sent to the magazine of the Bureau of Combustibles in the building of the Thomas Crimmins Contracting Company, at 444 East Sixty-ninth Street, near Avenue A.

Eagan Finds It Is Dynamite.

There Eagan made an examination. He later filed the following report with Fire Commissioner Johnson at Fire Headquarters, 159 East Sixty-seventh Street:

> Hon. Joseph Johnson, Fire Commissioner.
>
> Sir: At 12:20 P. M., Thursday, Aug. 21, I was notified through Fire Headquarters of a suspicious package left in the areaway on the west side of City Hall about one foot from the window of his Honor Mayor Gaynor's office.
>
> After examining the package I found it contained four sticks of 40 per cent. du Pont gelatine dynamite, with fuse and detonating cap attached; also a piece of Chinese punk and three burned matches. The matches and punk were attached to the powder fuse. The punk was partly burned.
>
> The dynamite was incased in Italian cambric—a strong cloth. This was tied about the centre with a piece of strong blue and white cord.
>
> One stick of dynamite was broken. In this fracture the detonating cap was found inserted.
>
> Respectfully,
> OWEN EAGAN,
> Assistant Inspector of Combustibles.

When news of the discovery of the package first reached Mayor Gaynor's office neither the Mayor nor his acting secretary, James Matthews, betrayed more than cursory interest. Mayor Gaynor declined to make any comment.

Mayor Gaynor was seated at his desk when the dynamite was found. He had just concluded a conference with Herman Ridder and Water Commissioner Henry S. Thompson. Fire Commissioner Johnson had just left the Mayor's office when the discovery was made.

Fire Commissioner Johnson soon returned to the Mayor's office and remained with the Mayor for several hours. When he returned to Fire Headquarters the Commissioner declined to talk about the matter, and his secretary, Lloyd C. Willis, merely gave to the newspapers a copy of Inspector Eagan's report. Inspector of Combustibles Dr. K. S. Kennard, the head of the bureau, said that he had been ordered by the Fire Commissioner not to talk about the discovery.

Detectives Are Set to Work.

At Police Headquarters last night Inspector Faurot said that he was conducting a thorough investigation in order to ascertain if possible how the dynamite came to be placed so near the Mayor's window. He said that Acting Capt. Tunney had been assigned to the case and Detectives Foley, Nelson, and Williams had questioned the Subway contractors at work near the City Hall to see if they could find the owner of the dynamite, but they had no success.

The Degnon Construction Company is engaged in building the section of the new Broadway subway that passes the City Hall, and this led to the conjecture that the dynamite might have been left under the Mayor's window by some careless laborer. The Superintendents of the company, however, said that the contractors did not use any dynamite in their work.

While some persons thought they saw in the placing of the explosive an attempt on the Mayor's life, most persons who investigated the facts thought that the dynamite had been left in the areaway by some person who had taken it from a legitimate storing place and concealed it, awaiting an opportunity to remove it in safety.

LIBERMANS ARE ARRESTED.

Horse Poisoning Case at Last to Have Court Hearing.

Julius and Simon Liberman, who were indicted on Wednesday as a result of the confession of Joseph Toblinsky in connection with the poisoning of horses on the east side, were arrested yesterday at the office of their lawyers, at 299 Broadway. They were held in $3,000 bail each by Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions.

The Libermans, who own the Liberman Dairy Company, are specifically charged with the poisoning of a horse belonging to Mrs. Bessie Israel of 34 Norfolk Street. Mrs. Israel had incurred the enmity of the Libermans because she started a milk route which cut into their business.

As a result of Assistant District Attorney Weller's investigation, Joseph Kellman, a storekeeper and peddler, living at 179 East 100th Street, was committed to the Tombs yesterday without bail by Judge Rosalsky. He is charged with extortion and assault by Hyman Moscoff, a milk peddler, of 227 East Ninety-eighth Street, and was indicted on both charges.

Moscoff complained that Kellman visited him several weeks ago and demanded $20, threatening to poison one of his horses if the money were not forthcoming. Moscoff refused to pay the money and the following day one of his horses died from poison.

CENTURY PLANT IN BLOOM.

Rare Flower Now on Exhibition in the Botanical Gardens.

The narrow century plant Agave stricta is now in bloom in the New York Botanical Gardens. This species comes from Mexico, and has very narrow leaves and long, wandlike flower clusters. The plant now flowering in the Bronx was presented to the garden by Mrs. George Such in 1900. It has very narrow, flat, spine-tipped, light green leaves, from among which the slender, wandlike stalk extends. The exact age of the plant is not known, but it is probably 25 or 30 years old.

Many other plants are now in flower at the Botanical Gardens. The pink Indian lotus, the American yellow lotus, water lilies of all colors in great variety, and the crape-myrtle of India may be seen near the century plant. Spider lilies are in fine flower in Conservatory House 3, many aroids and bromeliads in House 10, and Wendland's nightshade in House 4.

BABY HIT BY AN AUTO.

Motor Cyclist Also Hurt in a Collision with a Truck.

Enrico Julean, 5 years old, of 109 Eighth Street, Long Island City, was knocked down on the Vernon Avenue Bridge in Long Island City yesterday at noon by an automobile owned and driven by Lester Walbridge of 171 Rugby Road, Brooklyn.

Mr. Walbridge was accompanied by his wife. He picked the boy up and took him to St. John's Hospital, where it was found that he had been injured seriously.

Hugh McDonald of 109 Buena Vista Street, Corona, while riding a motor cycle along the old Flushing Road yesterday, collided with a truck going in the opposite direction. McDonald was thrown from his cycle and suffered a broken leg and other injuries. He was taken to St. John's Hospital in Long Island City.

CROSSED CONTINENT AND DIDN'T KNOW IT

Caleb Hughes, Jr., Medical Student, Missing for Months, Found in California.

WRECKED BY OVERSTUDY

Returns to Father's Home in the Bronx with His Memory Still Clouded.

Caleb Hughes, Jr., the young student of the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia, who disappeared from that city more than four months ago, returned yesterday to his father's home at 720 East 220th Street, the Bronx. He had been found in a California mining town, where he had wandered in the intervening months. The family physician calls it a case of lost identity, a nervous collapse from overstudy. Young Hughes's memory is still clouded, and, according to his father, he has sent him on to Philadelphia for the healing influence of renewed association with the friends he had made there.

Both the finding of the youth and the discovery of his disappearance were due to a Philadelphia school teacher, Miss Lottie Gibbs of 2,229 South Sixty-eighth Street, to whom he had been attentive. He had seen her on the evening of April 13, and had arranged to come over from Darby, where he boarded, to take her to church the next morning. He did not keep the appointment and she did not see him again.

The alarm she felt when inquiries showed he had disappeared from his boarding house redoubled a few days later when she received a brief note from him, bearing a Camden postmark and containing the sentence: "I am held an unwilling captive."

This letter was put in the hands of the young man's father, who became convinced his son had been "shanghaied." Hughes is a member of the Fire Department here and he appealed to his fellow fire fighters of Philadelphia to help him. The boy had been active in Y. M. C. A. work in New York, where he studied at City College, and circulars were sent out to the different associations throughout New Jersey and Pennsylvania. They never found any trace of him until June 30, when Miss Gibbs received a letter purporting to come from the missing youth and bearing the postmark of Colfax, Cal. It was dated June 1. What the contents of that letter were could not be learned here last night, but it led to Mrs. Hughes writing a letter. This letter, the boy says, brought back recollections in a tumbling flood. He knew who he was, he wrote home and started East later.

He appeared yesterday, strong and ruddy, with a full beard that led his father and mother to start him off posthaste to a barber shop. As the father told it last night, this is the boy's story:

The first thing he remembers was his working at odd jobs in Chicago. Of how he came to leave Philadelphia, or how he came to send the letter that so frightened the family, he remembers nothing. He remembers moving on West and of a long sickness somewhere, whether in a hospital or in somebody's home, he does not know. Then he worked his way to Colfax and lived there something of the life of a "mysterious stranger"—under what name he does not recall. He might never have recalled had it not been for the curiosity of a friend he made there, a close companion who tried to sound the boy's memory and get some light on what he had been and whence he had come. The best clue was a picture in the boy's watch—a picture of Miss Gibbs with her name and address on it. Hughes said it was a friend of his, but it was his companion who insisted that he write to her. It was this letter which arrived on June 30.

The family doctor, who was called in to the Hughes home here, thought that the clouded memory would clear more rapidly if the young man were sent back among the associates he had left so abruptly four months before.

GRAND JURY AFTER THE HEALY RAIDERS

Calls Four of a Score or More of Witnesses Eager to Tell of Dwyer's Doings.

TWO INDICTMENTS LIKELY

Whitman Says Grand Jury Is Acting of Its Own Volition, but That He Is Ready to Assist.

The additional Grand Jury yesterday began its investigation of the complaints against Inspector Dwyer and the police of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station, growing out of the ejectment of diners from Healy's restaurant on Mayor Gaynor's order to have the restaurant closed at 1 o'clock in the morning. Assistant District Attorneys Rubin and Ellison conducted the prosecution, and District Attorney Whitman was present part of the time.

Mr. Whitman announced, however, that he was not running the investigation, as it had been ordered by the Grand Jury itself. The District Attorney was present during part of the raiding, but probably will not appear as a witness.

"I am not taking the initiative," Mr. Whitman said. "I did not ask for indictments, and while I am ready to assist in the investigation, the entire programme is in the Grand Jury's hands."

It is understood that from the testimony to be offered two indictments are expected. One is against a police Inspector and the other against a civilian in a high position at Police Headquarters. There are five or six cases, the first that of George F. Flannery, a reporter, who, it is alleged, was struck over the head and arm by Patrolman Sheridan at the command of Inspector Dwyer. Inspector Dwyer was held on an assault charge several days ago by Magistrate Deuel in the West Side Court.

It was said yesterday that it would take nearly a week to hear the testimony of the score or more of witnesses who have been asked to appear. About fifteen witnesses were present yesterday, but only four testified. They were George F. Flannery, complainant on the assault charge; Patrick Kyne, manager of Healy's; Max Levy, a real estate man, and Lieut. O'Neill from Police Headquarters. The last named brought the police records to show the names of the different policemen whose numbers were taken after they had roughly handled some of the restaurant patrons.

The prosecution, it is said, will make an effort to get indictments for assault in the third degree, the penalty for which is imprisonment for one year, or a fine of $500, or both.

BRIDE SEES AIRMAN FALL.

Gray's Biplane Crashes Into a Tree at Asbury Park.

George Gray, an aviator of this city, attached to the Eugene Kester hangar at Hempstead, L. I., began a flight in a Wright biplane yesterday afternoon at the athletic ground at Asbury Park. One of the planes of his flyer struck a tree on the edge of Deer Lake as he ascended, and the biplane fell into the water. The biplane was some twenty feet in the air at the time, and Gray fell beneath it. Canoeists who had just returned to the shore were standing under the tree with which the biplane collided, and they hastened to his rescue.

Gray was dragged from beneath his biplane in the lake and taken to the Long Branch Hospital. There it was found that he had suffered painful bruises and that one of his legs was injured. His bride, to whom he was married a month ago, saw the accident and accompanied him to the hospital.

LOST AFTER 95 YEARS

And Aged Professor Tells Police He Is 110 Years Old.

It was a very old man that approached Police Sergeant Smythe at Fifty-third Street and Third Avenue yesterday afternoon, and, after murmuring unintelligibly for a while, wrote out on a pad:

"I am lost."

The Sergeant piloted him to the East Fifty-first Street Station, and there, after a rest, he was able to remember that he was Prof. A. F. Cooper of Flushing, L. I.

"It is my 110th birthday," he said.

Prof. Cooper could not remember just where he lived, but was confident that if he were put on a car bound for Flushing some one would recognize him and guide him home. This was done, and he reached home before his absence was discovered by his daughter, Mrs. John M. Moe of 56 South Parsons Avenue. He has made his home with her for thirty years. He was formerly a Professor of Chemistry. And yesterday was not his 110th birthday. Prof. Cooper is only 95 years old.

Maryland Theatrical Manager's Widow Bequeaths All to Lawyer.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 21.—When the will of Mrs. Margaret McCray was filed here to-day it was found she had bequeathed her automobile and the remainder of her estate, estimated at $50,000, to her attorney, J. Phillip Roman.

Mrs. McCray, who died yesterday, was the widow of W. L. McCray, who, during his life, was a theatrical manager here.

CAMINETTI'S TRIAL AUG. 26.

His Father Denies Making a Political Bargain to Aid Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—When the case of P. Drew Caminetti, a co-defendant with Maury I. Diggs, was called to-day, Judge Van Fleet set it over for trial until next Tuesday, Aug. 26.

Friends of Caminetti were depressed to-day over Diggs's conviction and the attitude of the court toward that defendant. Judge Van Fleet, who also will try Caminetti, said in his charge to the Diggs jury:

"If you find that the defendant and his companion, Caminetti, were actuated in their departure or flight from Sacramento by a fear of exposure or arrest, but that nevertheless, in taking these two girls along, there existed the intention to subject them to the immoral purpose charged, the defendant is guilty."

The testimony in the Caminetti trial is expected to follow closely that adduced for and against Diggs.

Lola Norris, the companion of Caminetti on the Reno trip, was shown in the trial just completed to have won more sympathy and consideration from the jury than Marsha Warrington. Whether that fact will prove of significance in the trial of Caminetti is the subject of considerable speculation.

Diggs, who was visibly shaken by the jury's verdict last night, was released at midnight on $20,000 bail, furnished by his father, I. P. Diggs, and his uncle, Marshall Diggs. He will be sentenced to the penitentiary on Sept. 2. Five years is the maximum penalty for his offense.

Owing to the fact that he is the son of Anthony Caminetti, a leader in State and national politics and the present Commissioner General of Immigration, the trial of Caminetti will command exceptional attention. When United States District Attorney John L. McNab (resigned) brought the Diggs-Caminetti cases into national prominence by accusing the Attorney General's office of having delayed the trial for political reasons, Commissioner Caminetti figured in the explanation of the delay.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—A positive denial was made to-day by Immigration Commissioner Caminetti that he recommended Thomas Fox for Postmaster at Sacramento in return for Fox's influence in behalf of his son, charged with violation of the White Slave law. Caminetti's statement was made to the Senate Post Office Committee at a continuation of yesterday's hearing, when Rudolph Spreckels attacked the appointment of Fox.

He testified that he wrote out an indorsement of Fox on March 6 in Washington, three days before his son left Sacramento for Reno on the trip which resulted in his trial. When shown the indorsement, bearing a stamp showing it was received by the Postmaster General on March 14, Mr. Caminetti said he might have left the letter with his wife to be forwarded, as he did other papers. He explained that he left Washington for California on March 11 or 12, but did not learn of his son's trouble until he neared the California border, at Truckee, on March 15 or 16.

SLAYS COUSIN AND HIMSELF.

Pistol Shots Lead to Discovery of Sordid Crime in Greek Market.

Five revolver shots in rapid succession at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon sent Patrolman John A. Maskeill of the East Thirty-fifth Street Station on a run to a Greek market at 210 East Twenty-ninth Street. Maskeill forced an entrance. In a small room at the rear, separated from the rest of the market by a partition, he found two men lying beside each other on the floor.

In the right hand of one was a revolver, and in the left a cigarette that was still lighted. The patrolman called an ambulance from Bellevue Hospital. Dr. Knowles, who came with the ambulance, said that both men were dead. The man with the revolver in his hand, Dr. Knowles said, undoubtedly had killed his companion and then taken his own life.

On the body of the murdered man were found three bullet wounds, one in the head, one in the shoulder, and one in the left leg. The suicide had shot himself in the mouth.

The police found papers in the pockets of the murdered man bearing the name of George Karatety. From persons living in the neighborhood they learned that Karatety was a partner of Adam Alexander in the Greek market. The suicide, they learned, was Demetri Tsiponketin, a cousin of Karatety.

At the time of the shooting Alexander was out collecting bills. It was about 5:30 o'clock when he returned. He told the detectives that the crime was a mystery to him. He said that Tsiponketin appeared at the market about a month ago. He knew of no enmity between the cousins. Tenants living above the market said that they had heard Tsiponketin and Karatety quarreling on several occasions.

LOVES HIS AEROPLANE BEST

Aviator Denies He Will Wed to Win His Uncle's Bequest.

Special to The New York Times.

HEMPSTEAD, L. I., Aug. 21.—Hans J. Weidemann, an aviator of this place, says he has received word that his uncle, Hans Weidemann, who died not long ago in Germany, left him $50,000 on condition that he should marry before he was 40 years old. He has twenty-one years in which to think it over.

Weidemann denied a report that he was in love with a girl of Los Angeles, and that he was trying to reconcile her to his profession. He asserted that while he knew many girls, the aeroplane still held first place in his heart.

"I think that a married man, and, particularly a father, has no right to fly," Weidemann said.

MISSOURI PULLED OUT OF THE MUD

Gov. Major and 250,000 Citizens Complete Work of Roadbuilding.

STATE SAVES $1,500,000

Governor of Kansas, Who Helped, Goes Home to Set Aside Two Similar Days in His State.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 21.—Sunset to-night put an end to the two days' work of "Pulling Missouri Out of the Mud" and with nearly 400 miles of new roads built and old roads improved Gov. Major estimates that work, which if paid for would have cost $1,500,000, has been done for the State by the 250,000 men of all classes who labored with picks and shovels during the good roads movement yesterday and to-day.

Other Middle Western States will probably follow suit at once, and Gov. Hodges of Kansas, who left here tonight on his way to Topeka, Kan., announced that he would issue a proclamation at once for two good-road days in his State when al the men capable of working would be expected to turn out and labor on the highways.

As Gov. Major bade the last of his workers stop work at Jefferson City to-night Gov. Hodges, who has been helping with the "job," grasped the Missouri's executive's hand.

"Its over, Governor, and I congratulate you and the State of Missouri," said he.

"And I thank you and the people of Kansas for letting you come down to relp us," responded Gov. Major, who later celebrated the evtn with a dinner in honor of the Kansas executive.

Although the number of volunteers who engaged in the first day's campaign exceeded expectations, reports rfom nearly every county indicated that a larger number were wielding the picks and shovels to-day. In some districts farming operations practically were suspended, as the farmers decided the road improvement was the most important work in which they could engage.

Gov. Major, who with Gov. Hodges left Jefferson City early to-day to resume active work on the roads, was elated with the results accomplished by the men of Missouri, but he also issued a statement thanking the women of the State—"the mothers from 250,000 firesides"—for their suport in the work.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 21.—Sentences of prisoners who do good work on State roads will be commuted ten days for each thirty that they work on the highways, Gov. Dunne announced to-day. The honor system will be used; convicts whose terms are under five years will be ineligible, and counties which are the beneficiaries of the plan will be required to pay 50 cents a day to maintain each convict employed.

The new State Highway Commission to-day announced a preliminary estimate of proposed allotments of the State aid fund, from automobile taxes, for good roads which will be made to each county in Illinois. It is estimated that the total amount to accrue from the automobile tax each year will be $400,000. The special State appropriation for the year will total $300,000.

TWO NEW POLICE CAPTAINS.

Waldo Also Advances Five Sergeants to the Grade of Lieutenant.

Police Commissioner Waldo yesterday announced the appointment of two Captains and five Lieutenants. The Lieutenants advanced to the grade of Captain are William M. Duggan of the School of Recruits and Patrick O'Neill, attached to the staff of the Fifth Inspection District, commanded by Inspector Cahalane.

In selecting Lieuts. Duggan and O'Neill the Commissioner skipped the name of Lieut. Joseph O'Connor of New Dorp (S. I.) Station, who stood at the top. This was done after the Commissioner had consulted with Mayor Gaynor. O'Connor in May, 1912, was dismissed from the department, but reinstated by the Appellate Division in Brooklyn last May.

The five Sergeants advanced to the grade of Lieutenant were Abraham L. Stewart, Garvan C. Dunham, William Kelleher, James C. Collins, and Edward J. Quinn. These names were taken from the civil service list and held positions at the top.

Capt. Duggan was born July 2, 1875, is married, and resides at 413 Sixty-third Street, Brooklyn. He was appointed to the force on Nov. 17, 1896, made a Detective Sergeant Aug. 6, 1901, and became a Lieutenant under the law which transferred the grade of Detective Sergeant to Lieutenant.

Capt. O'Neill was born June 16, 1866, is married, and resides at 1 Washington Terrace. He was appointed a patrolman on Jan. 8, 1894, made a Sergeant on Dec. 27, 1902, and advanced to the grade of Lieutenant on Dec. 7, 1905.

Lieut. O'Connor, who was skipped in the appointments, was charged while acting Captain in the Bedford Avenue Station, Brooklyn, with having collected money from saloon keepers. He was dismissed from the department on May 7, 1912, and reinstated on May 31 last.

DUPED OUT OF $10,000 BONDS

Lee, Higginson & Co. Give Them to a Stranger on a Forged Check.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 21.—Negotiable bonds of a value of $10,000 were stolen from the banking firm of Lee, Higginson & Co., of this city and New York this afternoon by means of a bogus certified check. The man who tendered it is thought to have disposed of the securities and left the city.

The check was certified by a Boston bank whose name is withheld to which it was only sent and was returned with the information that the bank had no account to the credit of the person upon whom the check was drawn, and that the certification was forged.

The stolen securities consist of about $5,000 worth of Illinois Steel Company 4½ per cent debenture bonds, due April 1, 1940, numbered 2,356, 11,184, 11,185, 11,186, 11,187; and about the same amount of American Telephone & Telegraph Company 4 per cent. bonds due July 1, 1929; numbered 11,196, 17,496, 75,511, 75,512, 75,513.

Brokerage offices and other places where the thief would be likely to try and negotiate the bonds were at once warned by the police against accepting them.

A. I. Glidden, manager of Lee, Higginson & Co's office here said the man told one of the clerks that he had $9,000 to invest and asked the advice of the clerk as to the best securities to buy.

"It is probable that he negotiated the bonds shortly after he purchased them," Mr. Glidden said, "and if that is so, the firm will have to assume the loss. Each bond was as good as a dollar bill and could be easily negotiated. The man is a stranger to the firm."

The bond salesman described the thief as apparently about 40 years of age, 5 feet 6 inches in height, and weighed about 145 pounds. He was of dark complexion and wore a small mustache. The check which he gave was signed with the name of Robert W. Barnett.

Warning was sent out through the ticker in this city yesterday notifying the financial district of the robbery and directing persons not to negotiate the bonds, but to communicate with Lee, Higginson & Co., at 43 Exchange Place, if they heard of the whereabouts of the securities.

Dean Coes's Estate to Radcliffe.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 21.—The income of $71,000, representing all but $5,000 of the estate of Dean Mary Coes of Radcliffe College, is left to Radcliffe by a will, offered for probate here to-day. The remaining $5,000 is bequeathed to relatives. Dean Coes died last week, leaving $16,000 real estate, and $60,000 personal property.

GERMANS AT PLAYGROUNDS

Imperial Athletic Commissioners Begin Long Tour of Inspection.

The Olympic Commission sent here by the German Government to study the American methods of athletic training had a busy time yesterday inspecting the municipal parks. The commission is headed by Carl Diem, General Secretary of the German Imperial Olympic Games, and includes Lieut. von Reichenau of the War Department, Joseph Waltzer, and Dr. Martin Berner. In the absence of James E. Sullivan the commission was in charge of Daniel J. Ferris, who represents the Amateur Athletic Union.

A visit was paid to the New York A. C. clubhouse in the morning, and a tour of inspection followed which included Hamilton Fish, Tomkins Square, St. Gabriel's, Chelsea, and De Witt Clinton Parks. The Directors at each of the playgrounds explained to the members of the commission the method of arranging the exercises and how the boys are controlled, while the workings of each apparatus used at the playgrounds were explained.

The Commissioners were interested in the method of the systematic development of boys, and expressed surprise that boys weighing under 130 pounds were not permitted to compete in races of one mile or over. The shower baths and track at De Witt Clinton Park appealed strongly to the visitors, and they took many notes of the information imparted.

A visit to Mr. Sullivans' office followed, where Mr. Ferris explained the working of the Amateur Athletic Union This included the registration system track building, and method of granting sanctions for athletic meets and tabulating statistics. Copies of all official A. A. U. books were presented to the Germans, who were particularly anxious to learn the number of athletes in the different associations of the A. A. U., and how the clubs derived the necessary revenue to run the organizations. A visit to the Woolworth tower completed the day. The visitors were the guests of Mr. Ferris and Matthew P. Halpin at a dinner last night.

After transacting private business this morning Capt. Dean will join the party and the Commissioners will visit the Brooklyn armories, public school fields in Brooklyn, and the Thirteenth Regiment summer camp at Bath Beach. Supreme Court Justice Bartow S. Weeks will entertain the visitors at dinner to-night at the Atlantic Yacht Club.

The itinerary for the visitors' stay will include the schoolboy pageant at Central Park to-morrow. On Sunday the Germans will visit the Vailsburg track at Newark, and probably Brighton Beach Motordrome. President P. J. Conway of the Irish-American A. C. has invited the visitors to be the guests of the Club at Celtic Park. On Monday they will go to West Point, in which place they are very much interested owing to their military training. Tuesday is set apart for the Board of Education camps, and on Wednesday the Germans will see their first baseball game at the Polo Grounds. The annual assembly of Forts Hancock, Hamilton, and Wadsworth will engage the attention of the visitors, and a series of athletic games will follow the assembly. The visit will end Friday week, when the Germans will go to Washington to see President Wilson.

CYCLISTS FOR EBBETS PARK

Ebbets and McKeevers May Build Portable Track on Ball Field.

President Charles H. Ebbets, Steve and Edward McKeever of the Brooklyn Baseball Club have become interested in the bicycling game and are considering the advisability of erecting a portable track for Ebbets Field and conducting cycle racing there under a franchise to be granted by the National Cycling Association. The owners have been holding conferences with Frank Mihlon and Inglis M. Uppercu, the promoters of the Cycle Racing Association which controls most of the bicycle tracks in the East, with a view of launching the Brooklyn enterprise.

Mr. Ebbets was at the Newark Velodrome on Wednesday night and will go there again to witness the races on Sunday. The Brooklyn owners realize that if they can erect a portable track at the field their investment in the grounds, which are not in use for more than half a year, may show a better return. Mr. Ebbets said on Wednesday night that the seating capacity of his grand stand in Brooklyn is more than that of the whole Velodrome.

There does not seem to be any trouble about getting the franchise, as the National Cycling Association is very favorably disposed toward the Mihlon-Uppercu interests.

GOLF "PROS" AT SHAWNEE.

Vardon and Ray of England to Compete with Americans To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

SHAWNEE, Penn., Aug. 21.—Practice rounds over the links of the Shawnee Country Club to-day indicated that when more than sixty professional golfers and three amateurs tee up in the open tournament to-morrow the quality of golf will be of the highest.

Champions of all sorts are here and four nations are represented. There are such men as Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, former British title holders; Will Smith of Mexico, erstwhile champion of the United States; George Sargent of Chevy Chase, the Canadian champion, and John J. McDermott, the American title holder. There are Alec Smith, former national and four time metropolitan champion; Tom McNamara of Boston, last year's metropolitan winner and Massachusetts title holder, and James R. Thompson, the Pennsylvania State champion.

Vardon is paired with McDermott to start at 11:48 to-morrow. McNamara is teamed up with Alec Smith, and Ray has Gil Nicholls as a partner.

The gallery followed the four-ball match in which Vardon and Herbert Strong of Inwood were opposed to Ray and A. H. Findlay of Philadelphia. Vardon and Strong worked in a best ball of 70, good enough to win by 3 up and 2 to play. Vardon, aided by a 2 at the fifth green, went round in 73. Ray's long game was spectacular, notably his reaching the 530-yard seventh green with a drive and a cleek.

FOUND AFTER 53 YEARS.

Daughter Meets Father She Had Long Given Up as Dead.

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 21.—To-morrow morning Mrs. Miller French will start back to Clatskanie, Ore., with her father, Capt. Lewis B. Hunt, whom she met for the first time yesterday in fifty-three years. Capt. Hunt is now 84 years old. He is a civil war veteran and his daughter gave him up for dead long ago. When his daughter was 2 years old Capt. Hunt enlisted in the war from Buffalo. His family heard from him regularly until April 6, 1863, when they received word that he had been discharged and was coming home. His uniform arrived, but he did not, and his brother there thought he had re-enlisted and been killed. Five years later Mrs. Hunt married and moved to Wisconsin.

Mrs. French married and went to Oregon. While there she met a friend, who said she had just applied for a pension and suggested that Mrs. French write to the War Department about her father's record. She learned that he was alive in Tarrytown. She immediately sent a telegram to Tarrytown and then started east to see her father and induce him to go West and make his home with her. Mr. Hunt said that he did return to Buffalo ten years after his discharge and finding that his wife had married he decided to let matters take their course.

Sends "Peeping Tom" to Jail.

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 21.—For peeping at bathers in the swimming tank of the Young Women's Christian Association building, Walter Woodward, of 56 Hamilton Avenue, this city, was sent to the county jail for thirty days to-day by acting Judge John H. McGuire, in the Police Court. Woodward pleaded with the court that the offense was no worse than looking at women in modern dress.

LARGEST MOTOR TRUCK ORDER EVER GIVEN AT ONE TIME

ATLANTIC TRANSPORTATION CO., INC.
EXECUTIVE OFFICES
Suite 1011-1476 Broadway
New York City

Brockway Motor Truck Co.,
Cortland, New York.

Gentlemen:

You may enter our order for one hundred trucks, size, etc. as selected, same to be delivered within one year as ordered by us, for which we agree to pay you list price up to the first fifty. After fifty trucks have been delivered, we are to receive twenty per cent discount from list price, and you are to rebate to us an amount equal to twenty per cent of our previous purchases.

It is understood that we do business with you direct and not with your New York agents, whoever they may be. It is also understood that you are to furnish us on consignment or memorandum a sufficient stock of spare parts to enable us to give the very best of service in connection with operating your trucks.

We agree to keep an accurate account of every part sent us and every part used, and on or before the 10th day of each month to send you an itemized statement showing the parts used, together with our check for the amount of such as do not come under your guarantee for free replacement; said parts to be charged to us at twenty per cent from list price.

If this is agreeable to you kindly let us hear from you by return mail.

Yours very truly,

ATLANTIC TRANSPORTATION CO., Inc.

W. J. Gridley

President.

WJG/L

P.S. Gibney tires to be used on all trucks except where pneumatic tires are specified.

WHY DID MR. GRIDLEY PLACE THIS ORDER????

Mr. Gridley had previous experience in the use of Motor Trucks, when he used 67 in carrying the United States Mail in New York City. After an extended search for the most efficient truck, Mr. Gridley gave the above order.

Mr. Gridley knew that a truck to render satisfactory service to The Atlantic Transportation Company must be economical in operation, must be of undisputable quality and must have withstood a grueling test in actual service.

He knew the BROCKWAY truck had run from New York to Meriden, Conn., a distance of 100 miles, on the hottest day this summer, without a particle of trouble.

He knew the BROCKWAY truck had climbed a hill of 14% grade ON THE HIGH GEAR from a standing start.

He knew the 1½-ton BROCKWAY truck consumed $2.40 worth of gasoline and lubricating oil upon this 100-mile country road test (10 gallons of gasoline and 2 quarts of oil).

He knew the BROCKWAY truck had the guarantee of Brockway quality and the personal guarantee of Mr. George A. Brockway, President for more than thirty years of the Brockway Carriage Company, manufacturers of the highest-grade horse-drawn vehicles. He knew that from the Brockway Company he would be assured of getting not only the finest and staunchest quality of material, but a finish and style that is only possible to obtain from the experienced coach builder.

Mr. Gridley has purchased more truck tires than any other man in New York City. Therefore, from his ripe experience he stipulated and had placed in the contract that these 100 trucks must be equipped with GIBNEY tires.

AGENTS

We had planned before receiving this 100 truck order to build about 1,000 trucks this year. From present indications, the Metropolitan District will take most of these at retail—therefore, agents for cities of more than 20,000 inhabitants will have to make their reservations without delay to secure prompt deliveries. Write at once for particulars.

URGE PLAN TO BAN INTERLOCKED BANKS

Strong Sentiment in House Democratic Caucus Against Overlapping Directorates.

SEPARATE BILL ADVOCATED

Leaders Believe Reform Will Not Be Included in Currency Measure—Agrarian Proposal Rejected.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The prohibition of interlocking directorates among national banks, as proposed by the Pujo Money Trust Committee's report, came in for extended discussion this afternoon at the House Democratic caucus on the Currency bill. Modified in several respects, the Pujo Committee's plan was presented by Representative Neeley of Kansas, and was advocated in vigorous speeches by Representatives Byrnes of South Carolina, Stanley of Kentucky, Henry of Texas, and Wingo of Arkansas.

Strong sentiment in favor of the prohibition of interlocking directorates was developed. It was so strong, in fact, that, instead of taking a vote on the matter the leaders obtained an adjournment, by a vote of 97 to 43, until to-morrow, when Chairman Glass of the Banking and Currency Commission will take the floor in opposition to the inclusion of the idea of prohibiting interlocking directorates in the Currency bill.

After the caucus Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, its Chairman, said:

"The caucus seems to be strongly in favor of prohibiting interlocking directorates, but a majority of the caucus, I believe, do not want to attach the prohibition to the pending Currency bill, because they think the prohibition should apply to all interlocking directorates, financial, industrial, and railroad."

The leaders believe that when the vote is taken to-morrow the Neeley amendment will be defeated on the theory that the matter should be considered as separate legislation apart from the Currency bill. Advocates of the Neeley amendment assert that the vote will be close.

The amendment presented by Mr. Neeley, follows:

> No officer or Director of a national bank, State bank, banking association, or trust company admitted under the provisions of this act shall be an officer or Director of any other bank or of any trust company or other financial corporation or institution, whether organized under State or Federal law, that is authorized to receive moneys on deposit or that is engaged in the business of lending money on collateral or in buying and selling securities; and no person shall be an officer or Director of any national bank who is a private banker or a member of a firm or partnership of bankers that is engaged in the business of receiving deposits.

The caucus to-day adopted the first eight pages of the bill. Several changes were made. One was considered important. This consisted of the adoption of an amendment providing that every national bank shall subscribe to the capital stock of its regional reserve bank a sum equal to 20 per cent. of the capital stock of the national bank fully paid in and unimpaired. The purpose is to make it clear that the bank is not to subscribe 20 per cent. of its capital stock, surplus, and undivided profits. Before this amendment was adopted the bill provided that each bank should take stock to the extent of 20 per cent. of its "capital."

Representative Ragsdale of South Carolina, one of the agrarian insurgents against the Administration currency measure, thought the subscription to stock should be based on both capital stock, and surplus, and offered an amendment providing specifically for the inclusion of the word "surplus" in the bill. This was opposed, and Representative Borland offered an amendment making clear the purpose of the bill. It was adopted.

Representative Ragsdale and others argued that unless surplus were included the bill would be discriminatory in favor of those banks which have large surpluses and against country banks with small surpluses and accumulated profits.

The academic discussion of currency reform was continued to-day by the majority members of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency without any very definite consideration of the Owen-Glass bill. There was enough discussion of that measure, however, to show that Senator Owen had decided not to abandon the regional reserve features.

BANKERS MEET TO PROTEST.

A. Barton Hepburn Will Preside at To-day's National Conference.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Delegates from forty-seven States, representing more than fifteen billions of dollars, will meet in Chicago to-morrow in conference with the Currency Commission of the American Bankers' Association, to formulate an official protest against the Owen-Glass Currency bill, which is now pending before Congress.

The meeting, which was called by the Currency Commission, will be attended by the presidents of forty-seven State associations which belong to the American Bankers' Association, the presidents of 191 clearing houses and the members of the Currency Commission. Many of the most prominent financiers in the country will also be present.

The first session will open at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning and will continue into the evening, with recesses for luncheon and dinner. It is expected that the work of the conference will be completed by Saturday night. A. Barton Hepburn, Chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank, New York, and head of the Currency Commission of the Association, will preside at all the sessions. He will deliver the introductory address, after which the members of the commission will be heard, and the open discussion of the question will be launched. No formal programme for the conference has been arranged, but it is understood that every man in attendance will have an opportunity to express his views.

Col. Frederick E. Farnsworth, Secretary of the association and of the Currency Commission, arrived late this afternoon and completed the arrangements for the housing of the other delegates who are arriving on nearly every train from the East, South, West and North. Headquarters have been established on the eighteenth floor of the Hotel La Salle. Col. Farnsworth outlined briefly the proposed action of the association by saying:

"It is not the idea of this conference to criticise the Administration or its work, but to assist in the preparing of good currency legislation. There are four fundamental features of the bill to which the bankers of the country are almost unanimously opposed. These features are the Government control provision, the reserve feature, the portion referring to note issues by the Government, and the stipulation for the refunding of the 2 per cent. bonds. The ideas of the association bankers on these scores are already known, and it is probable that their action will take the form of resolutions protesting and suggesting amendments. I believe it safe to say that the delegates will be found to be in favor of objecting to these features. They represent not only the national banks, but the State banks, savings banks, and trust companies."

After the introductory speeches have been made it is understood that a Committee on Resolutions will be appointed, and that it will take up the bill section by section. Those portions of it which were included in the old Aldrich bill will probably be favored by the conference, inasmuch as the association went on record as backing the earlier measure.

Myron T. Herrick, President of the Society for Savings of Cleveland, and Robert Wardrop, President of the People's National Bank of Pittsburgh, both members of the Currency Commission, will not be able to attend the conference, it was announced to-day. Mr. Herrick is in Europe and Mr. Wardrop is in Canada. The other members of the commission will be present. They are:

A. B. Hepburn, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Chase National Bank, New York City, Chairman; James B. Forgan, President of the First National Bank of Chicago, Vice-Chairman; Festus J. Wade, President of the Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis; Joseph T. Talbert, Vice-President of the National City Bank of New York City; George M. Reynolds, President of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago; John Perrin of Perrin, Drake & Riley of Los Angeles; Luther Drake, President of the Merchants' National Bank of Omaha; Sol Wexler, Vice-President of the Whitney-Central National Bank of New Orleans; E. F. Swinney, President of the First National Bank of Kansas City; Joseph A. McCord, Vice-President of the Third National Bank of Atlanta; J. F. Sartori, President of the Security Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles; Levi L. Rue, President of the Philadelphia National Bank; E. L. Howe, Vice-President of the Princeton Bank of Princeton, N. J., and Frederick E. Farnsworth of New York, secretary.

George M. Reynolds, President of the Continental and Commercial National Bank, and one of the leaders in the fight against the proposed currency law, will arrive to-morrow from New York, where he held a secret conference to-day with Secretary McAdoo. T. J. Davis of Cleveland, Chairman of the Executive Council of the association, will also be present, as will J. Fletcher Farrell, Secretary of the American Bankers' Association, and Arthur Davis of Des Moines, its Vice President.

Hundreds of other prominent bankers from all over the country are expected to attend, though not participating in the conference.

William T. Fenton, Vice President of the National Bank of the Republic, and Charles G. Dawes, President of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, who have been chosen to represent the Chicago Clearing House, have already stated their views of the Owen-Glass measure.

INNESS FOR FREE ART.

Painter Assails Those Who Advocate Duty on Foreign Paintings.

George Inness, Jr., the painter and art advisor of the Century Magazine, who sailed for Europe on the Mauretania last Wednesday, told a friend just before sailing that he deplored the talk of levying heavy duties on foreign paintings and other works of art.

"It is," he said, "almost disheartening in this year of enlightenment to find the law-makers at Washington solemnly talking about holding up foreign art at the Custom House. What is worse, there really seems to be danger that the tariff makers will actually tax art in this way.

"Of course no one can discover who wants the tariff on art. American artists certainly do not. The Century Magazine has fought this absurd tax consistently since 1880, whenever it has been proposed. Every one really desirous of helping American art and artists is against this tariff provision.

"American legislators seem to be the only educated people in the world who do not grasp the fact that fine works of art lead to beauty, and therefore increased value, in trade products. This is not an artistic argument; it is a purely commercial one, and one that is accepted everywhere in Europe."

ATHLETES OF SIX NATIONS COMING

Germany, France, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, and Finland to Compete

IN PANAMA-PACIFIC GAMES

James E. Sullivan Assured of Notable Attendance of Foreigners at San Francisco in 1915.

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—James E. Sullivan, Secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of America, who, with several other American delegates, is now in Berlin attending the sessions of the International Athletic Federation, to-day obtained the promise that a team of German athletes would be sent to San Francisco to compete at the Panama-Pacific Exposition in 1915.

In return for this courtesy it is considered most likely that the American team which is to compete in the Greek Olympic games, known as the "local cycle," in the Spring of 1914 will, upon leaving Athens, make a trip to Berlin to participate in an athletic meet here.

The representatives of France, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland gave assurance to Mr. Sullivan during the afternoon that their countries would be represented at the exposition by teams of athletes. Hungary, it was declared, also would probably send a team.

The International Amateur Athletic Federation was formally organized at a meeting held in the Prussian Diet Building this morning with the United States, Great Britain, Canada, Australia, South Africa, Egypt, Belgium, France, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Germany, Hungary, Austria and Switzerland as its members. Nineteen other countries, including Mexico and the leading South American countries, have been invited to join.

The American delegates are President Gustavus T. Kirby and James E. Sullivan, Secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union; Col. Robert M. Thompson and Joseph B. McCabe. Secretary Sullivan is Chairman of the Committee on Rules, and President Kirby is the second member of the Committee on the Definition of an Amateur, which is under the Chairmanship of Franz Reichel of France. The last named committee will report to the Federation to-morrow.

False starting will be penalized, refreshments or stimulants for competitors in Marathons will be prohibited, and cross-country races over unknown country will be eliminated at future Olympic games if the recommendations of the Rules Committee of the newly organized International Amateur Athletic Federation are adopted.

James E. Sullivan, Secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, is Chairman of the committee, which, taking the American rules as a guide, recommends the setting back of runners one meter for each false start, three false starts to disqualify. This, it is expected, will end the pernicious practice at previous Olympic games of competitors attempting to beat the pistol.

The committee eliminated the so-called blind cross-country race introduced in Sweden in 1912, in which the competitors ran over a course staked out only a half hour before the start. Hereafter competitors are to be provided with blue prints of the course, which will be furnished six months in advance.

The committee also recommends that attendants or bicyclists be prohibited from accompanying the Marathon runners and that the administration of refreshments of any kind be barred. Marathon entrants hereafter are to run under the same conditions as entrants in the ordinary races.

The committee recommends uniformity in the batons in relay races.

The Irish question involved the congress all the afternoon in a wrangle during discussion of the paragraphs of the statutes providing for the mutual recognition of the various national organizations affiliated with the Federation as the sole authorities on legislation, disqualification, &c., in their respective countries.

Ireland has two rival associations. One of them is affiliated with the British associations represented at the congress, while the most prominent Irish athletes, many of whom have visited the United States, are affiliated with the independent Gaelic Association.

All the delegates, except the British, finally agreed to an amendment excepting the associations of Great Britain, Ireland, and the United States from those provisos until the 1916 congress, and allowing them in the meantime to continue their own relations under the present tacit agreement. The British delegates preferred to omit the paragraphs and to leave the whole subject unsettled until the next congress.

TO ELECT PRESIDING BISHOP

Episcopal Church Plans to Eliminate Seniority Rule.

A proposed amendment to make the office of Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church elective in the House of Bishops instead of having its succession based on seniority in the order of consecration will reach final action when the General Convention is held in this city in October. The resolution favoring this change in the constitution was adopted in 1910 at the convention held in Cincinnati. By the constitution no amendment can be made until it has been adopted at one triennial meeting of the General Convention and confirmed at the next. In each case the resolution must be passed by a majority of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote in the House of Bishops and by a majority of the clerical and lay deputies of all the dioceses entitled to representation in the House of Deputies voting by orders.

By the present system of filling the vacancy in the order of seniority, the Presiding Bishop, by the accident of years, may be not onl venerable, but too infirm to fulfill the duties of the office.

CHILD SHOT STRANGELY.

Mother Finds Him Mortally Hurt Near an Open Window.

Eight-year-old Joseph Puccio was left to play in the front bedroom of the family flat on the third floor of 139 Cherry Street after supper last evening while his mother washed the dishes. As she was finishing her task she realized that no sounds had come from the front room and, wondering what mischief the boy might be up to, she went in to see. She found him lying on the floor near the open window that looks on Cherry Street. He was unconscious and there was a wound in his left temple.

The mother leaned from the window and called for help. Patrolman Sullivan heard her cries and ran to the flat. An ambulance surgeon, whom he summoned from the Volunteer Hospital, said that the child had been shot and wounded mortally by a revolver of very heavy calibre or by a small-bore rifle.

He was taken to the hospital, where he died later, and detectives from the Oak Street Station searched the flat. They found no trace of a weapon, and it was thought that the shot came through the open window.

SURE FRITZI SCHEFF IS MARRIED AGAIN

HE RECENTLY HER MANAGER

Comic Opera Star Has Been Twice Wed Before and in May Got a Divorce from John Fox, Jr.

Special to The New York Times.

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 21.—Unless the verandah gossip of the Summer colony here has been utterly misled, Fritzi Scheff has married again. Every one in Sea Bright, who pretends to be well informed, is hastening to tell every one else in the strictest confidence that the erstwhile grand opera singer and more recent star in comic opera has taken for her third husband George Anderson, who opened his cottage here two weeks ago.

Fritzi Scheff has been spending the Summer at Sea Bright since the closing of the "Mlle. Modiste" revival, and so has Mr. Anderson, who is in the theatrical business and has managed one of her tours. Both were staying at a hotel here until the Anderson cottage was opened, where she was seen frequently. Then there was the full-fledged report that the ceremony had been performed. Neither Mr. Anderson nor Miss Scheff was within reach this evening to confirm or deny the story.

It was only last May that the singer was freed through the processes of divorce from John Fox, Jr., the novelist and war correspondent. Her suit was brought in this state and was uncontested. The name of the co-respondent was omitted from the papers, which were opened on May 15, when Justice Keogh made the interlocutory decree final.

Miss Scheff is given to secret weddings. In December, 1908, she, whom Paderewski called the "Little Devil of Grand Opera," slipped away to the country home of Rector K. Fox in Mount Kisco, and was there married to the successful author of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." The marriage seemed a happy one at first, but as long ago as the Summer of 1912 there were whispers of marital differences. The gossips said that the Cumberland Mountains and the Rialto could no more be mixed than oil and water, and, true enough, in the early Fall of that year the news was out that they had parted company.

Her marriage to Mr. Fox followed within a few months upon her divorce from her first husband, Friedrich Wilhelm Gustav Carl von Bardeleben, who resigned a Lieutenancy in the German Army to marry her in 1902, and from whom she obtained a divorce in August, 1908. The report of her intended marriage to the novelist was in the air three days later.

Fritzi Scheff, whose father was a physician and whose mother was prima donna of the Imperial Opera House in Vienna, was born in that city in 1879, and made her first appearance in grand opera when she was 18 years old. That was in Frankfort. Later she sang in Munich, and came to this country in 1900, singing in "La Bohême" in Los Angeles in a cast that included Melba and Gilibert. Maurice Grau brought her to the Metropolitan, where she sang for three years before her entry into the comic opera field with such successes as "Mlle. Modiste," "Girofle-Girofla," and "Fatanitza." She also sang Yum-Yum in one of the Shubert revivals of the "Mikado." Miss Scheff has a reputation for being temperamental in her business relations with the managers who have, one after another, attended to her public appearances.

Mr. Anderson has been on the stage himself, and more recently has been known as the financial and managerial guide of Miss Scheff. He assumed this rôle when she separated from Mr. Fox. Although her last tour was ostensibly under her own management, and was so billed, Mr. Anderson was really in charge, according to those accustomed to know.

FAMOUS OLD ELM GONE.

Tree That Jonathan Edwards Planted in Northampton, Mass., Falls.

The celebrated Jonathan Edwards elm, which has long been the pride of Northampton, Mass., has just fallen to the ground. Its final decay adds another to the number of historic trees which New England has lost in the last half dozen years. It stood in front of the house which was occupied for many years by the noted Presbyterian preacher in the twenty-three years that he was pastor of the First Church of Northampton.

Tradition records that Jonathan Edwards planted the elm in 1726, when he went to Northampton a few years after his graduation from Yale. The house was the home of the Whitney family, which numbered many learned men, among them being Josiah D. Whitney, who held the chair of geology in Harvard for many years; William D. Whitney, the celebrated Oriental and Sanskrit scholar, and who was professor of those languages in Yale University, and James L. Whitney, who for many years was librarian of the Boston Public Library.

In the last twenty-five years many pilgrimages have been made to the Edwards elms, which has been admired as much for its height and beauty as for its historical associations. Twelve years ago, when its trunk was badly decayed, several Northampton residents secured the services of a tree expert. The trunk was hollowed out and the cavity filled with twenty-five barrels of cement. The circumference of the tree just above the ground was nearly twenty feet and its height was about 100 feet.

The peculiar feature about the destruction of the tree which has withstood the storms of nearly two centuries is that when it fell there was scarcely any wind blowing. Notwithstanding the decayed condition of the massive trunk, the branches were well covered with leaves. Hundreds of pieces of the historic elm were carried away as souvenirs. Originally there were two large elms in front of the old Jonathan Edwards home, but one of them tumbel dto the ground several years ago.

BRITAIN MAY BAR PLUMAGE.

Its Exclusion Proposed in a Bill Before House of Commons.

The New York Zoological Society announces that the British Royal Society for the Protection of Birds has reported the introduction in the House of Commons of a "bill to prohibit the importation of the plumage and skins of wild birds, and to amend the enactments relating to the protection of wild birds." The Secretary of the Royal Society report sthat the bill "is the work of a committee which has had before it all the evidence the trade could furnish, as well as the facts and statistics supplied by our society and from official sources."

The measure was presented by Mr. Hobhouse. A careful examination of its terms reveals the fact that in effect the measure proposes to do precisely what is proposed by the Underwood clause in the new Tariff bill, that is, to prohibit the importation of all wild birds' plumage intended for millinery purposes that may seek entry as plumage.

The last clause of the exceptions provides for the use of "the plumage of wild birds ordinarily used as articles of diet and imported for that purpose." This means that wherever game birds are imported in the flesh, their plumage may be used by the millinery trade; but it does not mean that the plumage of game birds may be imported as plumage and used by the millinery trade. Under the terms of the Underwood clause precisely the same condition would prevail in this country, namely, that the feathers of game birds imported in the flesh could be stripped off after their entry and utilized here by the millinery trade.

The effect of the introduction of a plumage prohibition bill in the British House of Commons as a Government measure will be most beneficial to bird protection all over the world. The champions of the Underwood clause in the Tariff bill have all along persistently asserted that if the Underwood clause becomes a law, England and Germany will follow America's example in the prohibition of the use of wild birds' plumage. The introduction of the Hobhouse bill by the British Government, after long and careful deliberation, is a strong indirsement of this prediction. Just how much influence the campaign of the bird defenders has exerted in London during the last three months it is impossible to estimate, but it is a safe guess that the American campaign has afforded substantial encouragement to the sponsors of the British bill.

"The Most Valuable Renting Medium."

The New York Times:

Our advertisement of the Rockfall in The New York Times Apartment House Directory of August 10th has rented two apartments, renting at $1,000 and $1,400, respectively, in forty-eight hours, at a total cost of $15.00.

The effectiveness of The Times Directory may be due to the comprehensive selection of high-class apartments it offers, or it may be due to your splendid circulation, but it certainly does the business.

We shall continue to use The Times Directory in preference to other newspapers throughout the renting season until the vacant apartments in the Rockfall are rented, for we believe you have the most valuable renting medium in New York City.

Very truly yours,

THE THEORY AND PRACTICE OF FINANCE.

Generally speaking, theory is easy and practice is difficult. Not so with finance. There is something about the handling of fiduciary funds which teaches honest men good practice regarding them. But nothing is so hard to learn, or to teach to unwilling pupils, as the theory of banking and currency. Take, for instance, the pending legislation and the practice of the Treasury. The ingenuous friends of the farmer in Congress cannot be taught that the trustees of other people's money will not take orders regarding the disposition of it. They think that all that is necessary is to enact that credit shall be given to every man producing collateral which is declared by law to be "good," and to "require" that the banks shall rediscount such credit advances. A man may do what he will with his own, but he must be more careful regarding other people's property. Bankers may be wicked men, but there are few who would practice their profession according to such foolish legislation.

The Secretary of the Treasury is said to be more or less sympathetic with such theories in Congress. But when he comes to deal with a concrete case he is as hard-hearted toward the farmers as any Money Trust. The farmers get no easy money from him. They do not get any money from him through the banks on warehouse receipts. The Secretary requires commercial paper, preferably two-name paper, with a bank indorsement besides. His counsel to the banks is as sound as his own practice. The funds advanced to them are to relieve the tension incident to the movement of the crops, and not for speculative or other transactions. The banks receiving his favors are not to use them to repay their own loans, but are to pass the funds along to the other smaller banks with which the Secretary cannot come into personal touch. In all cases the interest charged is to be moderate and reasonable. This is good enough to be true, and too good to be of any political use. There are few if any banks which even in the crop season will not make such loans. But they are not the loans the politicians want to ordain by statute.

The Treasury's circular fills two columns in small type. It embraces the theory of asset currency, rediscount, and central banking. The ideas that there shall not be a central bank, and that the Treasury shall be a central bank, are in irreconcilable conflict, and no more with each other than with this circular. Every declaration by Congress regarding the distribution of public funds pro rata, or to the highest bidder, is antagonized in the first paragraph, in which it is asserted that deposits will be made only according to the Secretary's decision, the grounds of the decision and the standard of distribution not being indicated. The following paragraphs express sentiments hostile to inflation which would do credit to the views of those who disapprove the Treasury's action because of its tendency toward inflation. The loans are declared to be call loans—although the Wall Street expression is not used—and the usual reservation is made of the right to call for more margin. No member of the money power ever used more arbitrary methods regarding the terms on which he would allow accommodations to suppliants. Everything must be done on forms, in the manner provided, and the Treasury is far too busy to argue with any who have different views of the money market.

This is Government banking with a vengeance. Also it is Wall Street banking, and Aldrich banking, and everything which is hateful to those who want to bank in every way except that taught by experience, and who fancy that the Government can bank their way if only they are allowed to write the statutes. It would be safer to lend them sixteen-inch guns and smokeless powder for artillery practice on the vaults which hold the gold reserve. A statute is a deadly weapon, and deadliest when used by the least expert. Statutes based upon the principles of the Secretary's circular would end forever the prospects of the country's getting currency based on the speculative hopes of the farmers and planters, for which some statesmen are standing out at Washington. A statute based on the Secretary's circular would be too close a reproduction of the Aldrich plan for any demagogue's use. Either the Secretary must be impeached for heresy toward the Democratic platform, or the Henry-Ragsdale amendments to the Glass-Owen bill must be dropped into the fathomless depths of Granger finance.

THE MEXICAN PROBLEM.

All good citizens must agree heartily with Senator Nelson of Minnesota that the President of the United States is doing all in his power to preserve peace between this country and Mexico. That there are differences of opinion as to the course he has taken is not, at present, very important. The matter is in President Wilson's hands. It is his duty to act according to his judgment. President Huerta of Mexico, whose Government our own has thus far refused formally to recognize, has not received the mission from Washington in a conciliatory manner, but quite the reverse. When Gen. Huerta, in rejecting Mr. Lind's proposals, declares that President Wilson has not the support of Congress or the American public he argues without either official or trustworthy information and without discretion. He has to deal not with the prevailing opinion in Congress, if any one opinion in regard to the Mexican situation prevails in that body, or the many-headed American people, but with this nation's Chief Magistrate. Gen. Huerta can gain nothing from the United States by that method. There are many Americans who criticise, rightly or wrongly, the Washington policy in regard to Mexico, but there is no Huerta party here, nor is it conceivable that there exists a Carranza or a Zapata party. The condition in Mexico now is precisely the same as it was in the first Administration of Juarez and in all the preceding years after the expulsion of the Spanish rulers. Madero undertook to teach the people self-rule, but succeeded only in overthrowing a Government which had preserved peace for thirty years and reawakening the old revolutionary spirit, which has not since been quelled. The situation is only more serious now, to this country, because in the long period $1,000,000,000 of American money was invested in Mexican enterprises. Naturally we are anxious to have peace restored in Mexico, but peace can come only through the Mexicans themselves.

Senator Penrose's ill-judged resolution yesterday must tend further to complicate the situation, which was already sufficiently complicated and distressing. He proposed to send troops to Mexico, in a "friendly way," and to appropriate $25,000,000 for the protection of the lives of Americans in Mexico. This means war, or it means nothing. A "constabulary force" of American infantry and cavalry would constitute merely an invading army. Senator Penrose spoke intelligently on the subject of Mexican relations last week, but now he seems to have lost his good sense. He involved himself in some statements touching the Monroe Doctrine unworthy of a statesman of his experience. The Monroe Doctrine could not be violated by any effort of a European country to protect the lives and property of its nationals in Mexico. But there is not the slightest danger at present of any action in regard to Mexico by a European country. Senator Nelson spoke sanely and quite to the point in reply to Mr. Penrose's queer and uncalled for resolution. He said:

> We agitate intervention, and intervention means war. We should do everything we can to avoid war and give Mexico the same chance we asked for and were given in the civil war.

The opposition to Gen. Huerta's Administration in Mexico is still bitter and widespread, but it seems to accomplish little. He is confident of his ability to restore law and order. It must, by this time, be obvious to everybody that if the Huerta Administration had been recognized by Washington a few months ago the Mexican problem would not now be so serious. But President Wilson is using his own judgment and that his course has been governed by a desire to help a neighbor in a time of trouble is not to be doubted.

"PULLING MISSOURI OUT OF THE MUD."

We are not of those who would disparage the effort of an amateur army of 250,000 men summoned by Gov. Major of Missouri to grade and gravel its roads, giving in manual labor, material, and cash contributions which the Governor values at $1,500,000. The hands of some of this army of good citizens are blistered, they have done yeoman service, and their wives and families have entered into the spirit of the two "good road days." They have resulted, if not in good roads, at least in better roads than the 114 counties of Missouri have ever seen. It is the spirit which this movement has kindled that is all important. In his dispatch to The Times Gov. Major glows with enthusiasm and declares that there is "no horizon which can "bound the present and future bene-"fits." He will call on the House of Governors to make the movement nation-wide. He says:

> With the entire republic working upon the highways of the nation during the same two days, what greater achievement could be had in the good road propaganda?

It may be difficult to get business men, convicts, professional men, day laborers, merchants, and clerks—the entire industrial army, in fact—to work shoulder to shoulder as road-builders every year upon appointed days, but the value of the educational work already accomplished is incalculable. It is better, of course, that professional road builders be put to work, supported by the taxpayers of the State. The taxpayers of Missouri, knowing by experience what is wanted, will not oppose appropriations for this purpose. When they hand over the task to the experts, the genuine sentiment engendered in favor of good roads will find adequate expression.

THAW IN CANADA.

The jail in Sherbrooke, Quebec, in which Thaw is incarcerated is not so strong as Matteawan. Lawyers have rallied about him and undertaken to frustrate the efforts of the Canadian authorities to return him to the proper jurisdiction. They have brought the discredited "brain-storm" alienist, Dr. Evans, to the scene of his detention, so that he may give testimony that Thaw is sane. Sentimental pleas are presented to the Canadian public in his behalf, and the attempt will be made to make him popular and an object of universal sympathy. Proceedings under the writ of habeas corpus which has been sued out are retarded, so that he may not fall into the hands of the immigration officials, who would deport him. Doubtless, plans are being well formulated, too, for another jail delivery in case the legal measures to forestall his return to Matteawan fall through.

There are hard-headed authorities in Canada who may defeat all these schemes. They are opposed by money and all the evil influences that cunning and the spirit of lawlessness can bring to bear. We have seen what Thaw and his family could do in bedeviling the forces of law and order in a State where their methods are well known. We shall look upon the present proceedings in Canada with hope not unmingled with apprehension. It was a bad blunder to put Thaw in jail upon a mistaken charge.

WHEN RHODE ISLAND HAD TWO GOVERNORS.

Seventy years ago Thomas Wilson Dorr was beginning to serve a sentence of life imprisonment for high treason in acting as Governor of Rhode Island in defiance of the fundamental law of the State. Dorr was a man of unspotted character, entirely free from sordid motives, and animated by sincere devotion to the principles for which he risked liberty and life. The conditions which attended his usurpation were sufficiently remarkable to merit a brief recital.

While the property qualification for voters had been discarded in nearly every Northern State, Rhode Island adhered to the system of government provided in the King Charles Charter of 1663, which restricted the franchise to freeholders and their eldest sons. This restriction gave occasion for many abuses, the privilege of voting often being denied to citizens who paid taxes on mortgaged property on the ground that they did not possess sufficient equity in their estates. A majority of the people desired a form of government in accord with the spirit of American institutions, but were resisted by the minority in actual power. The Suffrage Party, as the Dorrites called themselves, held an election in defiance of the charter Government, adopted a State Constitution, and chose Thomas W. Dorr Governor, along with other general officers and a General Assembly. Being debarred from the State House in Providence, the Dorr Legislature met in a foundry in that city and passed various laws which they had no power to enforce. The legal Governor, Samuel W. King, called out the militia, the Dorrites also took arms, and for some time there was danger of a collision. The Dorrites were dispersed ultimately without a battle, and the charter Government remained in power. From a sanitary standpoint it was a healthy "war," as probably more people were benefited by the outing than injured by bullets and bayonets. A Constitution embodying most of the reforms for which the Suffrage Party had contended was legally adopted, and Rhode Island settled down to customary calm and prosperity.

The conviction and sentence of Thomas W. Dorr, as the leader in the attempt to ignore and override constituted authority, satisfied law-abiding sentiment, and there was no vindictive feeling toward him or his followers. Dorr was released after about four years' imprisonment under a general act of amnesty, and continued to reside in his native State, winning back by a blameless life the good-will which he had forfeited by his criminal attempt to substitute a government of usurpation for one of lawful authority. As we have pointed out, the purity of his motives, his absolute freedom in purpose and act from any sordid desire for pecuniary gain, have served to relieve his memory from the odium that would otherwise attach to it.

OUR ART MUSEUM.

The new Municipal Year Book, the publication of which was editorially noticed in The Times yesterday, states that the annual attendance at the Metropolitan Museum of Art is 700,000. This is an average of somewhat more than 1,900 visitors for every day in the year, though, of course, fewer persons go to the Museum on pay days than on free days, and the largest attendance is on Autumn and Winter Sundays and holidays. It is not a bad showing, all things considered, but it might be much better. Presumably Mr. Adamson's estimate includes all the art students who are permitted to copy pictures in the Museum's galleries. There is now no art school connected with the Metropolitan Museum. The Chicago Art Museum has a school and the latest estimate of yearly attendance, including the school and visiting art students, is 1,080,335. The number of ordinary visitors to this institution between June 1, 1912, and June 1, 1913, was 925,607. The Chicago Museum is more centrally situated than the institution in Central Park, but, on the other hand, the population of the metropolitan district is much larger than that of Chicago and its environs, and it is not to be argued that the taste for art and the desire for artistic culture are stronger in Illinois than in New York. The affairs of the Chicago Museum are managed, however, with commendable energy, with an eager desire to make its influence felt as strongly as possible.

In London more than a million persons visit the National Gallery every year, and that institution shares with the Tate Gallery, the Wallace Collection, and the permanent arts and crafts exhibition in the South Kensington Museum the purpose which our Museum alone fulfills in New York. The collections of the Metropolitan Museum, including the works of art not yet displayed, compare favorably in extent, variety, and artistic value with those of any similar institution in the world. Indeed, it seems probable that when the vast building, which was begun in 1876, is completed and all its treasures are placed on view, it will surpass any art museum of Europe. Its influence is large, of course, but it seems that it might be extended. It does not figure in the daily thoughts of the people as much as it should. Too many regard it as a show place to be visited occasionally in a mood of curiosity. Probably we are all proud of it, but most of us could derive more substantial benefit from it. It seems that the Directors should spare no pains to broaden its influence.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

German Trainers in America.

It was Germany that brought the methods of its turn verein to the United States. Exercises of the gymnastic body-building sort were practically unknown until we began to notice the ways of Germany. Schools, colleges, and the Y. M. C. A. took up the idea and amateur athletics developed later, with a "boom" sufficient in the United States to win us world's records and satisfying laurels at the Olympic games. Now Germany is coming to us to learn of American athletic training methods, that she may be able better to compete with Americans at the 1916 games to be held in Berlin.

Our German visitors will find little that bears resemblance to their own turn-verein methods which were our point of departure. The turn verein stands for developmental athletics; the Y. M. C. A., the Public School Leagues, and the colleges seek records. Between the two there is a wide and deep gulf, and we must admit that we feel the German trainers would do better to stay on their own side of it. Building up physically efficient men, such as are the boast of the German Army, is of greater import than developing record-breakers, whose forced training means a very short path of glory, leading straight toward degeneration of the athletic heart and deteriorated muscles. We are grateful for Herr Diem's graceful compliment when he designates the United States as the country which has produced the greatest athletes in the world, but we doubt if our achievements would measure up to the German definition of athlete. Here we measure a man's physical prowess by inches and seconds, and for the moment only, caring little if the world's champion to-day is a physical wreck from overstrain to-morrow.

Ghosts and the Gas Pipe.

In this age of realism comes a haunted house. Naturally, it existed in Boston, but far from the Huntington Chambers—in that region of rationalism, in fact, the Back Bay district. The children and servants who slept on the third and fourth floors would wake with screams in the night, the servants complained of feeling a tapping all over them at night, and the children were pale and worn looking in the morning. Several tenants had occupied the house; each set had the same peculiar experience. Even the older folk who slept on the upper floors heard the uncanny noises recounted by the servants and felt the curious sensations. For a time Boston thought it had nailed the authentic spook of its lifetime.

It wasn't Prof. Muensterberg who exposed the haunt, either. The humiliation of the affair lies in the fact that it was the gas man. He had his own little theory about ghosts, knowing something about gas. He inspected the chandelier and had a look at the furnace. Then he informed the tenant whose parlor furniture was already out on the sidewalk that it was gas poisoning, and not ghosts, that ailed the household.

The doctors upheld him. Poisoning from furnace gas is known to create all manner of mental disturbance, accompanied by anaemia, loss of psychic powers, and greatly diminished vigor. Persons in the first mild stage of carbon monoxide poisoning are extremely sensitive; the slightest noise may be exaggerated to a roar, hence the sounds from an adjoining house might well have convinced the Back Bay residents of a spirit walking about a few feet away.

A Repercussion for the Cause.

From Trouville Mrs. Pankhurst announces that she plans a lecture tour in the United States at the end of the year. While her immediate aim is, of course, to raise money for "the cause," the further object which she hints shows an interesting change of front. "If I can stir public opinion in the United States to a still keener consciousness of woman's right to vote," she says, "I know the repercussion will be felt in England. Americans demonstrate their progressiveness by being in the vanguard of the suffrage movement."

This is indeed a flank movement. Instead of battering John Bull into submission by bomb and brick, she turns to the winning of the ballot in the United States, admitting that the best argument in the women's favor, even in England, is the spectacle of law-abiding women using their privileges wisely and with profit. This is indirect influence pure and unadulterated, and a new method for the militant leader to adopt. Carried to its furthest conclusions, it shows that England, like any other country, will be more readily convinced of woman's fitness to vote by her respect for the law than for a disregard of it based on the ground that she had no hand in the making of it. It removes the underpinnings from Mrs. Pankhurst's oft-repeated argument that the peculiar situation in England calls for force and that nothing save force will be effectual; it admits that the non-militant movement is the one that succeeds and that its success is the thing that persuades. Although not all of us agree with the methods employed by the ladies of our own land, we find them at least to be on a comparatively rational basis, and our attitude toward the granting of the franchise is one of unhampered opinion, not of a prejudice forced on us by the capers of the ladies themselves.

Cursed if He Goes Slow.

More is meant than meets the ear by the adjective "fast," and it would be well to remember in these days of automobile accidents innumerable that the association of the word with a lowering of moral level is not one of chance. Morality seems to be in inverse ratio to the speed with which a community is affected, and every one recognizes the automobile as a terrifying factor in community morality.

Disregarding the increased want of respect for human life, the mere disregard of the rights of other automobilists deserves attention. Matters have come to such a pass now in the City of New York that those who prefer, or are forced, to drive at a very slow pace are treated to all manner of abuse. An automobile going up Fifth Avenue or through Central Park at the rate of eight miles an hour is the subject of abuse in no delicate terms from every chauffeur who finds himself held up in his speed, which has become the all-important goal of his existence. Central Park has become impossible for the enjoyment of invalids who cannot stand the jar and jolt of rapid driving and should not be subject to the nervous strain of other recklessly driven machines running by. Must we be reminded only by a long list of fatalities that every day brings a lessening in the general respect for the other fellow's rights?

ANTI-WOMAN GEMS.

Miss Blackwell Quotes Extravagant Speeches Against Suffrage.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A correspondent quotes in your columns an extract from an alleged "suffrage harangue" of two generations ago which is a joke on the face of it. Here are a few anti-woman's rights gems which were put forth in all seriousness.

When a band of suffragists in 1854 petitioned the New York Legislature to grant married women a right to their own earnings, Assemblyman Burnett of Onondaga said:

> They do not appear to be satisfied with having unsexed themselves, but they desire to unsex every female in the land, and to set the whole community ablaze with unhallowed fire. * * * The object of these unsexed women is to overthrow the most sacred of our institutions, to set at defiance the divine law, which declares man and wife to be one, and to establish on its ruins what will be in fact and in principle but a species of legalized adultery.

In England, when the university examinations at Oxford were thrown open to women, the Dean of Chichester preached a sermon against it, in which he said:

> I have ascertained by extended inquiry among gentlewomen that, with true feminine instinct, they either entirely distrust or else look with downright disfavor on so wild an innovation and interference with the best traditions of their sex.

When Vassar was opened, a prominent woman said: "The mere fact that it is called a 'college for women' is enough to condemn it. Of one thing we may be sure—no refined Christian mother will ever send her daughters to Vassar College!"

When Massachusetts granted school suffrage to women in 1879, a member of the Legislature seriously declared: "If we make this experiment we shall destroy the race, which will be blasted by Almighty God."

And so lately as 1899, when the New York Legislature had under consideration a bill to require that women should form part of every school board, the Albany Association Opposed to the Further Extension of Suffrage to Women sent to the Cities Committee of the Assembly a letter protesting against the bill as legislation which "threatened the home, threatened the sacredness of the marriage tie, threatens the church, and undermines the foundation of our great Republic."

GOOD RIDDANCE TO THAW.

Why Bring Him Back to Burden This State?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

With due appreciation of the embarrassing, not to say humiliating, position of the State of New York in this Thaw matter, I ask, considering the feelings of what remains of us, normal, wherefore the consuming desire to retrieve Harry Thaw? Has he not voluntarily, if not creditably to us, relieved us of his company?

Has he not so obviated the expensive necessity for a further combating of his assisted claims? Were we not reluctantly compelled to recognize him as an incompetent, and were we not so estopped from according him what most of us believed to be his just deserts? Hence, would we not have hailed it as a blessing to be rid of him, in an alternative way, as an undesirable? Would we feel unduly deprived by a return of the whole Thaw family to their native heath?

Why, then, persist in an endeavor to adopt them, inclusive of Harry, as a public charge? In short, if Harry Thaw does not want to stay with us, and we don't want him with us, why seek to re-establish him as a "star boarder"?

'Tis right to vindicate the law,
But does that indicate we must have Thaw?

Stamp Slot Machines.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read the letter to The Times from E. S. Lucas relative to postage stamp slot machines. For the last six months I have succeeded in securing my postage stamps through such machines located at various drug stores in New York City. These machines deliver five cents' worth of stamps for a nickel—contained in a little book especially adapted to carrying postage stamps.

If Mr. Lucas will visit some of our principal hotels and drug stores, no doubt he will see them as I have. AN OBSERVER.

"INCREASED DRINKING."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In its editorial article on the "Increase of Drinking," The Times speaks of the increased consumption of alcoholic beverages as shown by the figures of the internal revenue report. "What the prohibitionists think of it we do not know," you say; further, that you had asked a prominent prohibitionist and had received no reply. I take it, therefore, that you would like to know, and that your readers would like to know, what some at least of the prohibitionists think of it, and that you will be glad to give space in your columns to this letter from National Woman's Christian Temperance Union Headquarters.

First, with regard to distilled liquors, we think it is not so generally known as it should be that the figures of the Government report are based on the number of gallons withdrawn by wholesalers from the bonded warehouses, and that the amount for any one year may or may not represent the actual consumption for that year. It happens that for the year just closed the amount withdrawn does not represent actual consumption.

To the average reader the situation is somewhat confusing, but it is easily explained. Under the law liquor may remain in bond not longer than eight years. At the expiration of that time it must be removed from the Government warehouses whether there is a demand for it or not. During the year covered by the 1913 report a large amount was, it is stated, thrown upon the market because the bonding period had expired. The fact that such a large quantity remained in bond until forced out by the time limit is sufficient proof that the sale of spirituous liquors has been decreasing.

When the liquor is taken from the bonded warehouses the Government tax is paid, and it is then officially recorded as "consumed." The truth of the matter is that much liquor reported as "consumed" from June 30, 1912, to June 30, 1913, is now stored in private warehouses waiting a demand. Those who understand the state of affairs, both liquor men and prohibitionists, have expected just such a showing as that now put out by the Internal Revenue Department. They have expected, too, that it would be generally interpreted as meaning a "marked increase in drinking." They know that while an unusual amount of liquor was withdrawn last year from the bonded warehouses it by no means follows that all of it went down the throats of American citizens. Bonfort's Wine and Spirit Circular of Aug. 10, from which your editorial article quotes, makes this significant remark:

> In view of the enormous production during the last three years we hope the idea prevalent at this time regarding a limited production will be carried into effect during the coming season.

A point to be remembered, also, when we talk about increase of drinking ("notable," "alarming," "shameless," according to the point of view of the talker) is that the so-called consumption includes spirits used for scientific, mechanical, and all other purposes—and "consumption" in these directions is increasing with great rapidity.

Second, we think there is more or less juggling of official figures by liquorites. Desiring, in their effort to discredit the "so-called reform wave," to make the per capita increase appear large, they have a way of bunching together the figures referring to all kinds of liquors, distilled and malt. And newspapers have a way of repeating without investigation this manifestly unjust estimate. For example, some "wet" authority states that the per capita liquor consumption has risen in twenty years from 15 gallons to 21 gallons (this of course including all liquor on which tax has been paid) and the misleading statement goes the rounds.

If it could be proved that whisky and beer drinking has really increased, the question would be, who drinks it? From the Year Book of the United States Brewers' Association we get the information that the average amount consumed per capita in license states is 25.23 gallons, in prohibition States 1.35 gallons. Nine States are "dry" either by constitutional or statutory law. Of the remaining 39 States, 36 are under some form of local option. This means that two-thirds of the geographical area of the United States is "dry" territory, and that over one-half of the population is living under prohibition. In the last five years the no-license population has increased over 10,000,000, which is more than 10 per cent. of the total population of the nation and 30 per cent. increase in the number living in "dry" districts. Since 1868 the population of the country has doubled, while the number of inhabitants of "dry" territory has increased thirteen-fold.

Third, we think that in view of these facts there are more total abstainers and more prohibitionists in this country than ever before, and—granting for the sake of argument the increasing consumption—that drinkers are drinking more than ever before.

EMPLOYER AND WORKMEN.

Co-operation and Good Feeling Should Prevail Between Them.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In my opinion it is the duty of the employer to provide the necessary safeguards and protection for his employes, such, for instance, as good light and air, sanitary surroundings, protection against fire and other dangers, reasonable hours of labor, adequate wages, no child labor, facilities for education and self-improvement, healthful living quarters, opportunity for recreation, &c. These and other advantages should be supplied under all circumstances, and there should be co-operation and good feeling between employer and workingman.

It seems to me quite probable that the better results which would thus be obtained through the greater efficiency of the employes would more than compensate the employer for any extra outlays which he may have to make to provide such protection, so that in the end it would cost him nothing. The hearty co-operation and friendly spirit which would thus be engendered between the employer and his workingmen would be apt to prevent strikes and other troubles, and would decidedly be to the interest of both employer and employe.

THE BATTLE FIELD OF SARANAC

The purple mountains sentinel
A valley filled with human wrack
Where Death meets Life in struggle fell—
The battle field of Saranac.

The heartless sun shines glorying on,
Unheeding Nature's swift attack;
From Heaven, unmoved, stars look upon

Here Nature's Might meets Nature's Wrong,
And each thrusts poisoned weapons back;
Here joy is not nor any song—
The battle field of Saranac.

Save this, all armor for the strife
Men, Nature's highest, helpless, lack:
Here Love in Death greets Love in Life,
O battle field of Saranac!

LEIGH R. HUNT.

TITANIC CLAIMS $16,804,112.

New Suits Just Filed Add $190,391 to the Previous Total.

New claims for loss of life, personal injuries, and loss of property aggregating $190,391.23, which, in accordance with a recent order made by Judge Julius M. Mayer, were yesterday filed in the Admiralty Branch of the Federal District Court, raised the total of the damage claims pending against the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, Limited (The White Star Line), in consequence of the Titanic disaster, to $16,804,112.23.

The additional claims for loss of life amount to $150,000. Francis Walker, as executrix for William Anderson Walker of Orange, N. J., asks $85,000 for the loss of her husband and $1,000 more for clothing and jewelry. The Austrian Consul General for the beneficiaries of Michael Navritil, also called Ludwig Hoffman, has sued for $40,000 for loss of life. Jane Abilahb, widow of George Joseph Abilahb of Beirut, asks for $25,000 for loss of life and $400 for loss of personal property.

New claims for injuries and loss of property are as follows: Marie Eugene Spencer, for loss of property, $3,921.73; Edith L. Rosenbaum, $25,000 for injuries, and $14,569.50 for loss of property; Susie Weber, for loss of property, $200; B. Watts, $1,800 for loss of property, and Masabumi Hasano, $2,500 for loss of property. The latter claimant is a Japanese traveler. Miss Rosenbaum is a fashion writer and buyer.

It is expected that still more Titanic claims will be filed, as Judge Mayer's order allows the matter to remain open until the petition of the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company for limitations of liability is passed upon by the District Court.

FAGAN APPEALS FOR HELP.

Asks Relief for Fire Sufferers Through Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Fagan issued a proclamation yesterday, calling upon citizens to "respond generously to the need for help presented by the present condition of our afflicted neighbors," and asking all who responded to his appeal for relief for the sufferers by the big fire in Jersey City on Wednesday to communicate with the Jersey City Chamber of Commerce.

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce called by President Austen Colgate was held in the afternoon, at which action was taken to co-operate with the Mayor. Ernest Rowe, the chamber's Executive Secretary, will act for the chamber. The members seemed to be agreed to make arrangements, when the needs of the crippled manufacturers are learned, so that the factories may be rebuilt on a better scale with the assistance of the banks.

Forty-five families were driven by the fire from twenty dwellings. There are twelve widows, several widowers, and 145 children in the forty-five families. Thirty-four children and fourteen adults, including the parents, are housed at the Newman Mission. Others were taken by neighbors and friends.

Insurance men said yesterday afternoon the losses did not exceed $750,000. Several of the smaller concerns, owing to the high rates demanded, had no insurance. The neighborhood has been spoken of by insurance agents as the "conflagration district."

BRYAN TO STUMP IN MAINE.

Will Speak for Democratic Candidate in Congressional Fight.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Secretary Bryan will spend two days early in September stumping the Third Maine Congressional District for William Pettangal, the Democratic candidate. This was announced to-day following a conference at the White House between President Wilson, Representative McGillicuddy, and Representative Palmer of the Congressional Campaign Committee. Mr. Bryan will probably speak at Augusta about Sept. 1.

As the campaign will be largely on national issues, the National Administration will take a lively interest in it.

Republican leaders have obtained promises from Representatives Kahn of California, Green and Towner of Iowa, Gardner of Massachusetts, Fess of Ohio, and Anderson of Minnesota, and conditional promises from Senator Borah of Idaho, Representative Kelly of Michigan, and others to speak for the Republican candidate.

TO SAVE HISTORIC STONE.

Protest Over Removal of Anne Royall Rock from Park.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Lovers of ancient landmarks started a protest to-day when they found that the famous stone on which Anne Royall was said to have sat and interviewed President John Quincy Adams while the head of the nation was bathing in the Potomac River had been removed to make room for improvements in Potomac Park.

For several years the stone occupied the identical spot where Miss Royall sat and quizzed the President while he stood in the water up to his neck. Steps will be taken to preserve the stone.

STUDYING OUR HOSPITALS.

Dr. Francini Sent Here by Argentina on Observation Tour.

Dr. Charles Francini of the Military Hospital at Buenos Aires has been sent by the Argentine Government to study the hospitals in several countries, and after seeing those of France is here to look over some of those of New York and other American cities.

"I shall be in this country from fifteen to twenty days," said Dr. Francini at the Breslin yesterday, "when I am going to Germany to look at the hospitals of that country. I am in charge of the clinical laboratory at our military hospital.

"Of course, American hospitals have a great reputation in Argentina. My observations will principally be confined to their laboratories. One of the most interesting experiments we have been conducting lately is with the specific 606, and the results so far have been excellent. Our military hospital is a very large institutions, and it has about 200 doctors on its staff."

TO TEST ALIEN LAND LAW.

Wealthy Japanese Will Bring Suit Against California Statute.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—The first test of the constitutionality of the California alien land law will be begun here within a few days by H. Tanigachi, a wealthy Japanese, according to his attorney, H. A. Chamberlin.

Tanigachi wishes to transfer 200 acres of land to fellow countrymen for agricultural purposes. Because the law provides that aliens, not eligible to naturalization, cannot become possessed of real property within the State.

Tanigachi has directed Chamberlin to obtain an interpretation from the United States courts as to its constitutionality, and Chamberlin says he will carry the case to the Federal Supreme Court if necessary.

SHONTS NOT IN ACCIDENT.

Sends from London a Denial of the Story Cabled from Paris.

According to a cablegram received yesterday by W. Leod Pepperman, assistant of Theodore P. Shonts, President of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the New York Railways Company, Mr. Shonts did not meet with an accident by falling from a French railroad train while traveling from Deauville to Paris, as reported in cables from Paris, published in Tuesday's papers. Mr. Shonts, who is now in London, sent this cable:

"Thank inquiring friends, but have been in no accident."

According to the published cables Mr. Shonts had a narrow escape and his injuries were dressed by Lillian Russell, the actress.

TAXI MEN PLANNING TO EVADE NEW LAW

AUTHORITIES ARE LENIENT

Await Decision on Taximeter Company's Injunction—Independents Crowd to Public Stands.

Except for a spirit of defiance in and around the Waldorf-Astoria, which found expression in hostilities resulting in considerable confusion, no general disorder attended the operation of taxicabs in New York yesterday under the new law as upheld by Supreme Court Justice Seabury and enforced in moderation for the first time. The police took into consideration the fact that the so-called "company" taxicabs have not had time to install new meters and be passed on inspection nor could all the chauffeurs obtain licenses, so only gross evasions of the ordinance were recognized and put down.

Counsel representing the combined taxicab companies and those hotels that controlled private stands under the old ordinance filed notice of appeal from Justice Seabury's ruling to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. The notice was not accompanied, however, by any application for a stay to continue the injunction vacated by Justice Seabury. The cases cannot come before the Appellate Division earlier than the October term of the court.

Another reason for the leniency of the police was that the city authorities are awaiting the decision to-day on a motion for an injunction made by the American Taximeter Company on behalf of its patrons. This motion will be argued before Justice L. A. Giegerich of the Supreme Court. In view of the fact that the taxicab companies had four months' notice of the mandates of the new ordinance, officials of the Mayor's Bureau of Licenses thought that the injunction would not be granted.

Boycott at Public Stands.

The plan of campaign to be pursued by the belligerent companies was indicated yesterday by one of them which advertised widely and put into effect a boycott of the public stands. This boycott was extended throughout the city. Instead of taking up places in turn with independent cabs on the public stands, the cabs of the companies remained in sub-garages, from which they responded to calls. If the boycott succeeds, the public will suffer to the extent entailed by delays in obtaining taxis when they are wanted promptly. Opinions differed yesterday as to what means can be taken to frustrate this move. It was a disputed question whether the taxicab companies could, by assuming to operate as private liverymen who ignore the public stands, seek patronage from the general public and yet evade the provisions of the new law.

Trouble—if it may be called such—started around the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday when the Yellow Taxicab Company's vehicles, waiting on private property in Astor Court, swung into the best places on the public stands around the hotel on the pretext of halting for calls already booked. Independent drivers protested to the police, who said they had no orders to enforce the new law to the letter until the American Taximeter Company's motion was disposed of. Yellow cabs immediately took up positions on either side of the Thirty-fourth Street entrance to the hotel, preventing the independents from moving up.

Whenever a prospective fare was sighted, a starter ran up with the suggestion that the independent cabs be avoided, because the hotel would guarantee the yellow cabs only. Conditions were getting feverish when Mike Vatino, an independent, drove his cab ahead of a yellow cab and halted squarely at the entrance. Vice-President Schwartz, field marshal for the yellow cabs, appealed to a policeman to order Vatino to move on. Vatino refused to move and was taken to the West Thirtieth Street station.

In the corridors of the hotel placards bearing the following were posted:

> For the protection of our guests we have provided a private taxicab service, always available.
>
> We cannot assume responsibility for any overcharge in taxicabs other than those provided by us.
>
> Do not argue with chauffeurs about the amount of fare asked by them; pay them under protest and notify the hotel. We are able to tell from our maps what the fare should be by the shortest possible route, and will refund any overcharge.

Plan of the Authorities.

In order to deal fairly with the situation the city officials will adopt a suggestion contained in Justice Seabury's decision. A city officer said yesterday:

"As soon as the injunctions are dismissed we will give all companies one week in which to get new licenses or withdraw from the stands and operate only from private garages. We will continue to use the white differential rate cards until new meters can be installed and put in operation. A reasonable time will be granted for this."

Some 200 chauffeurs' licenses were granted yesterday at the Bureau of Licenses at 57 Centre Street. Supt. James G. Wallace, Jr., said:

"I am advised by Acting Corporation Counsel Hahlo not to enforce rigidly the law until arguments are heard on the American Taximeter Company's motion to-morrow. In case of overcharging a passenger can have the chauffeur arrested and a police Magistrate can settle the dispute. I would advise the public to use only those cabs having a white flag at the meter for the next few days."

Officials of the independent companies sent all the cabs available to the public stands yesterday and succeeded in furnishing good service to the public.

CITY'S RULERS VISIT MAYOR.

Children Invite Gaynor to Attend Pageant in Central Park.

Five children made up to represent famous rulers of New York called at the City Hall yesterday and invited Mayor Gaynor to visit the New York historical pageant that will be given by the play leaders and the children of the forty playgrounds of Manhattan at the Sheep Fold in Central Park on Saturday. Peter Minuit, who was represented by Emerson McBride of the Riverside Park playground, presented the invitation.

The Mayor complimented the children, and when he was told by William J. Lee, Supervisor of Recreation, who had them in charge, that Fernando Wood was present in the person of Charles Petreusi, the Mayor said he would like to shake his hand.

"So you are Wood?" asked the Mayor as he surveyed with interest the young figure in a Prince Albert coat and big stock. "Well, well, I hope you won't grow up to be like the lawless fellow Wood was."

After thanking the children for the invitation the Mayor said he would try to be present. He then accompanied the group to the front steps of the Hall, where he posed with them for a picture.

OWEN DAVIS WRITES INTERESTING PLAY

IT IS SPLENDIDLY ACTED

Wm. Morris, Olive Harper Thorne, Franklyn Ardell, Irene Fenwick, and Alice Brady Score in a Fine Cast.

THE FAMILY CUPBOARD, a drama in four acts, by Owen Davis. The Playhouse.

Charles Nelson	William Morris
Mrs. Nelson	Olive Harper Thorne
Alice Nelson	Alice Brady
Kenneth Nelson	Forrest Winnant
Kitty May	Irene Fenwick
Mrs. Clement Harding	Ruth Benson
Thomas Harding	Douglas J. Wood
Mary Burk	Alice Lindahl
Mrs. Lawrence Winthrop	Irene Romaine
Lawrence Winthrop	Harry Redding
Dick Le Roy	Franklin Ardell
Jim Garrity	Frank Hatch
Potter	Wallace Erskine
Telephone Operator	Louise Aichel
Elevator Boy	Barney Johnson

"Why Men Go Wrong" might be a sympathetic subtitle of Mr. Owen Davis's very effective drama, "The Family Cupboard," acted at The Playhouse last night. And the very fact that such an extenuating phrase may be found serves to indicate a human side of the story. For it is difficult to see how any one save the sternest Puritan moralist could put the blame on the mere male in this case, after his five years in a house that is not a home and with a wife who is wholly oblivious to her obligations. His wife, however, would except to that opinion. And so, probably, will others of the sex.

The pair sow the wind and reap the whirlwind. And the holocaust is the more appalling since it involves the son, whom they both adore. He is a waster and a prodigal. And when the wife leaves her husband on account of the alluring young female who has been making his neglected life more interesting, the husband, man-like, decides that it is all his fault and promptly discards his quondam companion. The girl, on her part, being both flighty and vindictive, vows to get even. Thereby hangs the tale.

For at this point the son encounters her, finds her "different from any other woman" he has ever met, assures himself that she is a good girl, and proceeds with all speed possible to go from the frying pan into the fire. How the girl ultimately undeceives him, how she leads him to suppose that his father was the one who first started her on the race down hill, and how the unsuspecting boy visits his wrath upon this parent, who, figuratively, turns his left cheek after the boy has slapped him on the right, are incidents in a tale which for three acts at least develops a considerable degree of interest as it goes along, is punctuated by not a few really tense scenes, is lightened by a considerable amount of humor in character and lines, and builds up a number of moving climaxes.

Having said which it is only fair to add that Mr. Davis, who in this play has gone miles ahead of anything he has shown before, is still a little unstable in his methods, and has still the melodramatic way of getting an effect at times by means that are obvious to say the least. He writes capital exit speeches, but he rarely allows a character to leave the stage without one that is supposedly sure-fire. And his habit of talking too much through his people is especially at fault when it serves to weaken such a situation as that at the end of the third act, where, instead of one terse, hearty line growing out of the emotion of the moment, the father delivers himself of a platitudinous jumble which is not only untrue to the situation, but serves to take the force out of what should be the biggest climax of the play.

There is a very bad last act, and there are excesses, too, in the drawing of such a character as that of the little siren-out-of-vaudeville. For example, the demands for money of the boy in the presence of the good young woman isn't in character.

In this girl's attitude here one gets the feeling, elsewhere apparent also, of dishes warmed over. It is not necessary to go further back than Haddon Chambers's play "Passers-By" for the point of resemblance.

The author has been particularly happy in his drawing of a small-time vaudeville "artist," a figure that is both veracious and humorous and that has the advantage of a personality perfectly adjusted to its peculiarities and a very keen appreciation of its possibilities on the part of Franklyn Ardell, the actor, who appears in it.

Mr. Ardell's performance is one of the best in the piece, which, however, has the advantages of an exceptionally good cast.

It has been a long time since anything finer in its line has been seen here than William Morris's sincere and reposeful acting of the father, while the rôle of the mother is particularly well done in its several difficult phases by Olive Harper Thorne.

Irene Fenwick, dealing with complex and difficult material, gives a splendid characterization of the youthful adventuress, and Alice Brady is delightfully natural and appealing in the young girl type.

Forest Winant has made the nervous overwrought young juvenile so peculiarly his own that it is repetition to give him the praise he deserves, and Frank Hatch plays a rather misplaced character with fine discretion. The others are entirely satisfactory. The stage setting was obviously of the storehouse, but that really doesn't matter when there is a play. In this case it seems likely that there is enough to spell popularity at the Playhouse for a considerable length of time, though the superemotion of the last act may be toned down to the general advantage.

J. Z. BATTEN MARRIED.

His Bride Is Miss Marguerite Broughton of Trenton.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 21.—Miss Marguerite Broughton, only daughter of John S. Broughton, Treasurer and General Manager of the United and Globe Rubber Manufacturing Companies, was married at her father's home here at noon to-day to Joseph Z. Batten of Montclair, son of George Batten of New York and Montclair. The ceremony, performed by Bishop John Scarborough of the Episcopal diocese of New Jersey, was witnessed only by members of the two families.

Mrs. Batten has been very popular in society here and has taken an active part in charity work in this city, Spring Lake, and Lakewood.

W. C. Pauly Marries Miss Young.

Announcement was made yesterday of the marriage of Miss Blanche D. Young of Princess Bay, S. I., and William Cyril Pauly, son of Mrs. Frederick M. Pauly of College Point, which took place on Monday afternoon at the "Little Church Around the Corner." The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. George C. Houghton in the presence of a few close friends. Miss Rosalind Pauly, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid and Carl Schulz of Manhattan was best man. Mr. Paul's family was among the early settlers of College Point and his father was one of the most prominent residents of the place. Even the closest neighbors of the bridegroom's family did not know of the marriage.

WHITE MOUNTAIN VISITORS.

Many Out Tramping and Climbing—Social Affairs at the Hotels.

Special to The New York Times.

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., Aug. 21.—Ideal conditions have obtained for mountain climbing of late. So many visitors spent the night at the Tip Top House on Mount Washington to see the sun rise that the accommodations were exhausted, and many trampers had to roll themselves up in blankets and sleep on the floor.

Dr. Morris of New York and M. A. Armstrong of Hampton Roads brought in a string of sixty brook trout at the Mountain View House yesterday.

Mrs. Charles Stuart Smith of New York was among the hostesses at luncheon at the Mount Washington to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gurley have given several small parties of late, and Miss Helen Gurley entertained the younger set.

Col. Downey and Mrs. Downey, with their sons, have left for Washington. Col. Downey's thé dansant at the Mount Washington was the jolliest event of the season.

Mrs. William A. Barron is giving a small tea at her bungalow at the Crawford House this afternoon. Mrs. H. B. Barron of the Twin Mountain House is entertaining Mrs. Brooks, and Mrs. Noble and Guy C. Noble of Burlington, Vt., are the guests of Mrs. D. C. Harrington at Bethlehem.

New York arrivals at the Maplewood Hotel include Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Gould, Robert E. Mundy, who was entered in the golf tournament; I. F. Stone, Howard Major, Dr. George H. Martin, W. L. Richard, H. A. Hageman, and A. M. Chapman, who joined his family.

Brice S. Evans and H. P. Farrington were followed by a large gallery to-day in the finals of the annual invitation golf tournament at the Maplewood. T. L. Fossume and F. A. Morrill, Jr., of New York are golfers arriving at the Maplewood.

Mrs. J. Ullman is entertaining Miss Mary Parsons of Philadelphia at her cottage.

Mrs. Isa Ilsen gave a recital this afternoon in the drawing room of the Iron Mountain House in Jackson.

Mrs. L. E. Cammack of New York and her sister, Mrs. Thomas J. Dolan of Philadelphia, motored to Bretton Woods from the Waumbek for luncheon.

Baron E. Karstein of Germany and A. Pavestadt of the Waumbek motored over for luncheon at the New Profile to-day, and went on through Franconia Notch to see the flume.

Miss Marion Cottle and Miss Bacon, who have been at the Flume House, have returned to Miss Cottle's cottage, at Intervale.

Robert Winsor, who has been ill at the Mount Pleasant House, is again able to be out.

Miss Agnes Page Brown of New York is the guest of Miss Vietor at Cherry cottage, in the Waumbek colony.

Miss Virginia Wright of New York has come to spend some time at the Waumbek, having joined the Thomas Dimonds.

Andrew Shiland has come from New York to join his family at the Waumbek. Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Saloman and W. J. Saloman, Jr., are also there for a few weeks.

Mirza Ali Kuli Kahn and Paul Krug, who have been the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Florian Krug, are leaving Bretton Woods to-day for the Persian Summer Embassy on the Hudson.

C. S. Sweetland has come to join his family at the Mount Pleasant House, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sweetland will join them over Labor Day.

Mrs. de Forest is entertaining her nieces, Miss Anna Sperry and Miss Sperry of Derby, Conn., at the Mount Pleasant House.

Mr. and Mrs. Davison and Miss Margaret Birmingham of Bermuda were among those making the ascent of Mount Washington yesterday.

The Balsams colony at Dixville Notch is planning the annual fancy dress ball. A. R. Monette of New York has joined Mrs. Monette there, and Miss Emily Perkins of Riverdale has gone to the Balsams from Bretton Woods. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stewart, Fancis Guerrlich, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Chase, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferguson are at the Balsams.

Mrs. Emil L. Boas and Mrs. A. Sternfield motored here for a month's stay, coming over the Ideal Tour from New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Jackson and Edwin S. Jackson, Jr., are spending a month here.

Bar Harbor Activities.

Special to The New York Times.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 21.—The regular afternoon thé dansant was held at the Swimming Club this afternoon, with a prize offered by the club for the most graceful dance.

Miss Marguerite Hunt of Baltimore arrived on Wednesday to be the guest of her uncle, Gen. Edward V. Morrell of Thirlstane.

Mrs. Francis Burton-Harrison, who has been spending a few days in New York, has returned to her Bar Harbor cottage.

Philip Livingston of New York, who has a Summer cottage at Belfast this year, is in town for a few days.

James Speyer returned on Wednesday from a trip to New York.

Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh gave a dinner of forty covers at Briar Cliffe this evening in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Lindley M. Garrison.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Margaret Anglin and her company leave this morning for San Francisco, where the actress will present the "Electra" of Sophocles at the Greek Theatre in Berkeley, and open her regular season later at the Columbia Theatre, playing "Antony and Cleopatra," "The Taming of the Shrew," "Twelfth Night," and "As You Like It."

It is announced that negotiations have been concluded between the Chicago Grand Opera Company and Morris Gest, whereby two performances will be given on Jan. 11 at the Chicago Institution's house of the Gertrude Hoffman-Polaire-Lady Constance Stewart-Richardson combination.

George Wilson, who played Louis XI. in the original production of "If I Were King," has been engaged for the Southern-Marlowe revival of the piece in the forthcoming season at the Manhattan Opera House. He will also have important roles in the Shakespearean productions.

Montgomery and Stone and Elsie Janis leave for their tour in "The Lady of the Slipper" to-morrow at noon. They open in Syracuse on Monday, and will then go to Chicago for an extended engagement.

The Palace Theatre opens its season on Labor Day with a bill headed by Fritzi Scheff; the new season being ushered in by a policy of lower prices. Miss Scheff will be assisted by Eugene Bernstein, pianist.

The Schola Cantorum announces two concerts for next season, to be given at Carnegie Hall on the evenings of Jan. 20, and March 31. Julia Culp will be soloist at the first concert, and Emilia de Gorgoza will be heard, probably at the second.

WILLIAMS WINS FROM JOHNSTON

PLAYS FOUR HARD SETS

Survivors Include Clothier, McLoughlin, Beekman, Johnson, Niles, Washburn, and Other Cracks.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—California bowed to the East to-day when William M. Johnston of San Francisco was defeated by Richard Norris Williams, 2d, of Philadelphia in a four-set match that started tamely but thrilled the gallery long before the end came. It was a really great battle, the two youngsters giving an exhibition of solid hitting and splendid placing that will be remembered for a long time. Williams was at the top of his game and served and hit with tremendous force and displayed an ability to find the vulnerable spots in his opponent's court that was almost amazing. The Californian was but little behind him, and only his slow starting prevented the match going the full five sets.

Matters were very even in the first set to 3-all, each man having broken through his opponent's service once. In the eighth game Williams captured Johnston's service again, the Californian erring badly and seeming to have trouble in timing Williams's speedy shots. The Philadelphian served out the next game and the set was his at 6—3. The second set started badly for Johnston, as he lost his service in the first game. Both men were hammering away at top speed. Williams had the advantage throughout and won the set at 6—4. Johnston struggled hard to get his game going, but although he made many pull-ups, he was never quite consistent enough to get to the front.

The play was even better in the beginning of the third set, Johnston's improvement being most noticeable. He got a lead of 3—1, but Williams responded and by a series of almost unbeatable shots drew level. Both men were playing with great determination and the rallies were frequent and very brilliant. Williams's service was broken through in the eighth game, Johnston placing with exceptional cleverness. He followed with the win of the ninth game and the set was his at 8—3. It was an earned set.

Johnston changed his racket at this point and the beneficial effect was seen immediately. He climbed to 3—all by more aggressive play, speeding up his service and putting more twist on it. His forehand drive went better and earned many points by its speed and direction. Williams again responded and won the next game, giving him a lead of 4—3. An exchange of games followed, and Williams needed but a game for the match. He got to 40—30 and netted twice, and Johnston drew out of danger again, winning the game on a fine drive to the corner. Another crisis came in the twelfth game, Williams leading at 6—5, and 40—love on Johnston's service. An out, a netted service, and a service ace deuced it, and the gallery cheered wildly. Wonderful rallies followed in quick succession, Williams always leading and Johnston drawing up by desperate exertion. After deuce was reached Williams ended the game by a cross court shot and a fine drive of the service.

The results in the other matches reduced the number of competitors to ten. McLoughlin won from Robert Leroy in straight sets, although in the third the New Yorker had a lead of 4—1. The Californian gave a dazzling exhibition, varying his pace with great effect. Nat Niles at last got back at G. P. Gardner, Jr. Four sets were required, Gardner getting the third, but Niles was the superior in the other three sets, his shots being more finished and better placed than Gardner's. Strachan and Wallace F. Johnston had straight set wins over Bull and Brown, respectively. Clothier had an easy time with Pate, the latter getting only three games. Washburn dropped a set to Evans, and Leonard Beekman was two sets to love down to Francis Cole, but made a great recovery and finally won out. To-morrow McLoughlin and Clothier meet on the championship court.

The semi-final round of the interscholastic championship was played to-day and G. C. Caner, Harvard, and Jerry Weber, Illinois, came through. Caner's win from W. McKim, Princeton, was in three close sets, while with Blair, Columbia, Weber's match required five. The summary:

All Comers National Championship.—Fourth Round.—R. Norris Williams, Philadelphia, defeated William Johnston, San Francisco, 6—3, 6—4, 3—6, 8—6; John R. Strachan, San Francisco, defeated C. M. Bull, Jr., New York, 6—1, 6—3, 6—2.

Fifth Round.—N. W. Niles, Boston, defeated George P. Gardner, Jr., Boston, 6—3, 6—4, 4—6, 6—1; W. M. Washburn, New York, defeated Rowland Evans, Jr., Philadelphia, 6—2, 6—2, 2—6, 6—2; Leonard Beekman, New York, defeated F. W. Cole, Hartford, 3—6, 4—6, 7—5, 6—2, 6—3; Wallace F. Johnson, Philadelphia, defeated J. G. Brown, Jr., Newport, 6—3, 6—1, 6—3; Maurice E. McLoughlin, San Francisco, defeated Robert Leroy, New York, 6—2, 6—4, 6—4; William J. Clothier, Philadelphia, defeated W. L. Pate, New York, 6—0, 6—2, 6—1.

Interscholastic Championship, Semi-finals.—G. C. Caner, Harvard, defeated W. L. McKim, Princeton, 6—4, 10—8, 6—4; J. H. Weber, Chicago, defeated William Blair, Columbia, 6—3, 5—7, 0—6, 6—3, 6—1.

Dinner for Davis Cup Tennis Team.

ALEXANDER SULLIVAN DEAD.

Lawyer Was Chief of Clan-na-Gael at Time of Cronin Murder.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Alexander Sullivan, a Chicago lawyer, who was at the head of the Clan-na-Gael at the time of the murder of Dr. Cronin in 1889, a case which attracted world-wide attention, died here to-day, aged 66 years.

In 1876 Sullivan was defendant in a sensational trial, accused of the murder of Francis Hanford, a school Principal. Sullivan shot down Hanford on the porch of Hanford's home. In his defense he swore that Hanford had insulted Mrs. Sullivan, and he was acquitted.

Although as chief of the Clan-na-Gael in the United States a persistent attempt was made to involve him in the Cronin murder, he was never indicted, but his name became known wherever the story of that famous crime was told.

Mr. Sullivan was a strong advocate of home rule for Ireland and was counted the intimate friend of Parnell, Davitt, Gladstone, and Redmond. He stumped the country for James G. Blaine for President, and narrowly missed being the Republican candidate for Vice President with Benjamin Harrison.

J. B. Creighton Dead.

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 21.—J. B. Creighton, founder of the town of Creighton, Mo., a financier and railway President, died here to-day. He was 94 years old. Melville E. Stone, General Manager of the Associated Press; Nathaniel Wright of the United States Board of Pardons at Washington, and John Wright of the The St. Louis Times are nephews of Mr. Creighton.

Dies on Ship Near Port.

Richard Kennedy, a member of the Boston School House Commission, died on board the Red Cross liner Florizel, of diabetes, early yesterday morning, when the Florizel was a short distance from New York. Mr. Kennedy with his wife and two daughters was returning from a pleasure trip to Newfoundland. The body was sent to Boston for burial.

Dr. Cleveland Ferris.

Dr. Cleveland Ferris died suddenly yesterday at his home, 326 Lexington Avenue. He was a member of the American Medical Association and the Academy of Medicine and a surgeon at the Polyclinic and St. Luke's Hospitals. He was graduated from Yale in the class of 1903.

Obituary Notes.

JOHN H. LUTES, 77 years old, foreman for the Quinby Carnegie Company of Newark for more than forty years, died on Wednesday at his home in Caldwell, N. J. He is survived by two sons and two daughters.

GEORGE HAVILAND SUTTON, an insurance man, died on Wednesday in Springfield, Mass. He was 73 years old. Mr. Sutton for five or six years attended the peace conferences at Lake Mohonk, N. Y., as a representative of the Springfield Board of Trade, and was also a member of the Massachusetts Peace Society.

URIAH CASE, a lawyer and Justice of the Peace, died on Wednesday at his home in Hartford, Conn. He was 85 years old.

"The Mysterious Envelope"

wasn't so very mysterious after all but it spoiled one dinner party, made another a success, almost resulted in the arrest of two innocent people and put a British colonel in a position of some embarrassment. These happenings in the hands of George A. Birmingham, the Irish novelist, make one of the most amusing stories that have appeared in months. It is in the September Harper's. And there are

Seven Other Short Stories

Alice Brown, Margaret Cameron, James B. Connolly, Katharine Fullerton Gerould, Louise Closser Hale, R. M. Hallet, Albert Bigelow Paine, Dorothy Canfield

A Great Poem Story by John Masefield

No poet of recent years has been talked about, written about and discussed so much as John Masefield. He tells powerful and moving stories in verse, but as yet little of his work has been published in this country. In the September Harper's a most remarkable new poem by him appears. It is, in reality, a story told with exquisite art.

A Caravan in an African Desert

Dr. D. T. MacDougal, the head of the Desert Laboratory of the Carnegie Institution, pictures most vividly a recent journey, which he made by caravan over the hot sands of the great Libyan Desert—a journey full of strange happenings and discoveries.

Every Farmer His Own Capitalist

In Germany a man has worked out a new system of banking—a system by which the farmer becomes his own capitalist and the crops are handled with the money of the farmers themselves rather than by the big city banks. John L. Mathews writes of the interesting workings of this new plan.

Americanisms Real and Unreal

Another of Professor Thomas R. Lounsbury's delightful articles on our language, in which he settles some much-disputed questions and shatters some popular beliefs about Americanisms which are really not American at all.

Carthagena—Once a Treasure Town

In all the Western Hemisphere there is probably no more romantic spot than Carthagena, once the treasure town of the Spaniards—the only walled city of the Western World. William Hurd Lawrence pictures the city as it is to-day and contributes some remarkable drawings in color to illustrate his text.

The New York Times
"All the News That's Fit to Print."

The New York Times is an Institution—more than is usually thought of a newspaper, and more than any newspaper was a score of years ago, or even ten years ago.

It publishes a vital newspaper every day in the year, and it does some other vital things, made necessary by the march of the Twentieth Century toward efficiency in all departments of life.

One of these vital things is The New York Times which guides the searcher after facts directly to that which he needs, in its own pages, and in the files of all important newspapers. It makes it no longer necessary to guess, or depend upon memory.

If you are a man of affairs you cannot realize the practical value of this Index until you begin to use it. Then you will find, as have others who have ordered it, that it is indispensable; and you will wonder that some progressive paper had not begun its publication before.

The Index is published quarterly, in substantial book form, at $1.50 for paper binding and $2.00 for cloth binding, delivered by mail post-paid.

We will send it to you on approval, if you wish.

GIANTS DEFEAT CUBS---REDS WIN IN BROOKLYN---TURF---YACHTING

MATTY SAME OLD PUZZLE FOR CUBS

Holds Them to Two Runs, While Giants Pound Two Pitchers for Eight Tallies.

Christy Mathewson unraveled nine innings of gorgeous pitching before the Cubs at the Polo Grounds yesterday, all the Chicago players responding to the treatment with the exception of J. Evers, who never would enjoy his Summers unless he was making trouble for Matty or McGraw, or somebody else connected with the Giants.

The peppery Chicago manager showed his teeth through a satisfying grin all though the game, and in the fifth inning he got a huge home run out of his system. Johnny pelted Matty hard, but most of the other Chicago bats were stilled. Therefore, chalk up another Giant victory by something like an 8-to-2 score.

Georgie Burns of Utica was stricken with another severe attack of batitis, and went out of his way to make the afternoon unpleasant for Eddie Stack and Earl Moore, two persons who years ago cultivated the pitching habit. Burns's violence is becoming chronic, and as the World's See-reez approaches Georgie will bear watching.

The first sign of a Giant uprising was noticed in the third inning, when Eddie Stack was bounced upon unawares. He was so painfully treated that he was sent to the workshop for general repairs, Earl Moore assuming the tossing trouble. Moore hopes to outlive his Philadelphia reputation. His crossfire ball worked smoothly yesterday and cut the platter at various teasing tangents.

Umpires Charles Rigler and Lord Byron imposed themselves on the opposing teams. Rigler looks natural, but seems a bit wider across the back, making it difficult for 10,000 people to see what is taking place on the ball field. If he wore a diaphanous suit, the folks in the stands could get a better view of the warfare.

Still another familiar face present was that of Jim Vaughn, who used to work for the Yankees. Manager Evers has taken up with Vaughn, and hopes some day to have him pitch a winning game. Vaughn will have to hurry, because the season is near its end.

Stack, the Brooklyn exile, was unmolested for two innings. In the third Snodgrass walked and stole second. Larry McLean singled to centre, and Coach Robinson, the spacious third-base bumping post, held Snodgrass at third. Burns singled to left, scoring Snodgrass.

McLean stalked all the way to second. That was quite a distance for Larry to go without stopping. Shafer introduced another hit, and McLean, still running wild, traveled all the way to third. With the bases full and Larry puffing like a porpoise at third, Manager McGraw doubted very much if McLean would be able to score from third on anything less than a home run, so Claude Cooper was sent in to run for him. On the next play Fletcher forced Shafer at second and Cooper scored.

It required a lot of trouble and pains to harvest that run of McLean's. It took three hits and a pinch runner to stage it properly. Larry Doyle then jammed a two-bagger to left, scoring Burns and Fletcher. That was the finish of Stack. Merkle fouled to Archer and ended the inning.

Murray opened the fourth by sticking a liner into Evers's hands. Snodgrass got another pass, and went to third on Wilson's single. Matty rolled to Corriden, who passed the ball to Evers to force Wilson at second. Evers relayed it to first for what he believed to be a double play. Lord Byron told Johnny to guess again, because he decided that Wilson was safe at second, although he admitted Matty was out at first.

It was all that Evers and Heinie Zim could do to restrain themselves from laying violent hands on Mr. Byron. However, while this was going on Snodgrass scored. Then Burns perpetrated another hit, and Wilson scored.

Snodgrass continued his activity right up to the sixth inning. He opened this round with a triple and scored on Matty's single to right.

The first Cub run came in the third inning. With one out, Wee Tommy Leach singled, and went to third on a single by Evers. Schulte raised a sacrifice fly to centre, and Leach scored. Zimmerman and Evers then tried to impose a delayed double steal, but Evers was run down for the third out. In the fifth inning, with two hands out of the way, Evers surprised Matty with a home-run drive into the right field grandstand. The score:

Harmon Forces In Winning Run.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 21.—With the score tied, two out and three men on the bases in the last half of the ninth inning, Harmon gave Connelly his base on balls, forcing Whaling across the plate with the run which gave Boston the victory over St. Louis to-day by a score of 7 to 6. The visitors took the lead by batting Hess hard in the first, third and fifth innings. Boston found Griner easy after the third inning and drove him from the box in the sixth. McDonald's hit off Harmon drove in the tying run for Boston in the sixth inning.

Zinn, who was purchased recently from Rochester International League club, played his first game for Boston to-day and made a good showing. Perdue beat out a bunt in the ninth inning, giving him the fifth hit he has made this season. The score:

Pirates Best in Slugging Match.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—In a hard-hitting game here to-day Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia by 9 to 6. Pittsburgh made 14 hits for a total of 28 bases, Byrne leading with a home run, a double, and a single, while Miller made a home run and a double, and every one of the visitors except O'Toole getting one or more safeties. Alexander was knocked off the rubber in four innings and Rixey lasted only one, but Marshall finished the game in good style. After being hit hard for three innings, O'Toole settled down until the latter part of the contest, when he weakened, but the home team never got close enough to Pittsburgh's score to be dangerous. Lobert was hit on the kneecap by a fast grounder off Wagner's bat in the first inning, and the injury later forced him to leave the game. The score:

LEON AMES LEADS REDLEGS TO VICTORY

Former Giant Pitcher Captures First Game of Series from Brooklyn.

Leon Ames, who was sentenced to Cincinnati several months ago, made a dash in safety across the New York State line yesterday morning and turned up in the afternoon at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn. "Red" was so delighted with the prospects of being back with his old neighbors for the next seven days before being deported by the schedule makers, that he went through nine full innings against the Superbas and added another victory to his 1913 record. The Dahlenites almost succeeded in getting a clubhouse habeas corpus against "Red" in the third, but he escaped, and then he glided along as smoothly as the big 60 horse power machine which got its now-famous start when the barrier went up for the milkman. The score was 6 to 4.

Two timely hits over the Superbas' infield in the final inning enabled "Red" and the brother Reds to ride on to victory. When the ninth frame began the teams were deadlocked at four runs each and Pat Ragan had pitched three hitless innings in a row, after being dented for nine slams in the first five chapters. There was every prospect of another epidemic of late dinners in Brooklyn, but the Redlegs promptly dispelled the illusion. Bescher, first up, got his right elbow in the path of a fast one and he had to be massaged before taking the jaunt to first base. Little Johnny Bates pushed Big Bob along with a sacrifice, and Dick Egan, playing in the place of the injured Heinie Groh, lined sharply to left field, chasing Bescher home with the run that broke the tie. Egan got to second base on Wickland's infield out and romped home on Hoblitzel's sharp drive over Fisher's head. The dentist was nailed trying to make second base on the throw-in, but this only helped to shorten the game.

The Reds nicked Ragan for a pair of hits in the opening inning, but they could not score. In the second inning Manager Joe Tinker started his team on the right path by pushing the ball to the right field wall for a triple. Dodge pushed his Chief the remainder of the distance with a long fly to Stengel. In the third inning Bescher opened with one of his three hits, stole second according to a schedule which he has been following for years, got another base when Bates drove Moran back to the garden wall for his long loft, and counted on Egan's smash over Fisher's head. Meanwhile, the Superbas were strangers to the hit column.

Ames flirted with the shower bath in the third inning, but escaped without a sprinkle. Fisher singled to centre, Miller gave Wickland his chance to get in solid with a sparkling catch, and Ragan got a Cincinnati base hit when Fisher beat Tinker's throw to second. Moran forced Ragan at second base, while Fisher got to third base. Moran stole, and followed Fisher home on Cutshaw's single past Egan.

In the fourth the Superbas went ahead on singles by Daubert and Smith, and the squeeze play, executed by Miller. Singles by Bescher and Bates, a fielder's choice, and Hoblitzel's single gave the Reds two runs and the lead again in the fifth inning. In the sixth inning, with two out, Smith walked and stole, and came through on Fisher's single to left field. That was about all until the Reds cut loose in the ninth inning. The score:

Brooklyn Signs College Player.

President Charles Ebbets of the Brooklyn Baseball Club yesterday announced the capture of Fred Gross, Captain of the Leland-Stanford University team in 1911 and 1912. Gross is an infielder, having played at second base and shortstop while at college, and his last year on the diamond showed a batting average of .396. He has never played professional ball. Gross's home is at Bairdstown, Ill., and he will join the Superbas within a few days. Catcher Tex Erwin, who was sent to Toronto several days ago, has been returned to the Brooklyn Club, but President Ebbets has given him leave of absence for the remainder of the season with full pay. Erwin has not played since he broke his arm at Chicago several weeks ago and he will not be able to play again this year.

Disabled Athletics Return Home.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Three injured players of the Philadelphia Athletics arrived home from the West to-day to get into condition for the final dash of the American League leaders for the championship pennant. The players are Catcher Lapp, who has a broken finger; Outfielder Strunk, wrenched leg, and Utility Infielder Orr, who has a badly swollen hand. Orr had been playing at the short stop position in place of Barry, who wrenched his shoulder ten days ago. Barry left here last night to join the team, but probably will not play until the Athletics reach St. Louis.

New Haven Pitcher for Cardinals.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 21.—Pitcher Booth Hopper of the New Haven Eastern Association team was sold to the St. Louis Nationals to-day. He will report in two weeks. Hopper has pitched two no-hit and one one-hit games this season.

Athletic Commission for Wisconsin.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 21.—A State Commission to regulate boxing in Wisconsin in accordance with the provisions of the recent law enacted by the Legislature was to-day named by Gov. McGovern. The three members of the commission will elect a salaried Secretary. The law provides for ten-round, no-decision contests, all bouts to be under the supervision of the commission.

Sandpipers Win Polo Cups.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—A large gathering of Summer residents this afternoon saw the Sandpipers win an uphill contest for the Westchester polo Cups, defeating the Philadelphia Country Club 9 to 8, in the last few seconds of play. The game was the best from a spectator's point of view played this season here. The Country Club made but three goals, while their opponents were making nine. In the latter half of the game the Sandpipers made seven of their total points, while the Country Club scored but once.

At the close of the match the members of the Sandpipers assembled in the clubhouse, and received from Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish the individual cups. Line-up and summary:

Rain Breaks Up Cleveland Rally.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21.—Boston won from Cleveland 3 to 2 to-day in a seven-inning contest, the first of a series of three games. The game was called because of rain, while Cleveland was at bat in the eighth inning, and a run and hit made by Boston in their half of the inning did not count. A threatened rally by Cleveland also was nipped in the bud. Boston's runs were made in the third inning. Lewis doubled. Gardner got an infield single and stole second. Yerkes walked. With three balls and two strikes on Wagner all the base runners started to run with the pitcher's wind-up, and when Wagner singled all three scored. Cleveland's two runs came in the second inning. Lajoie singled and took second on Lewis's fumble. Olson sacrificed. Turner walked. Birmingham squeezed Lajoie home on his sacrifice and Turner took third. Turner scored when Wagner threw wild on O'Neill's grounder. The score:

Mack's Cripples Win in a Romp.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Connie Mack's crippled league leaders hit Pitcher Benz all over the field in the fourth and sixth innings, and with some daring base running by Oldring and Collins, defeated Chicago, 7 to 1, to-day. In the sixth the visitors started a batting bee when caused the retirement of Benz, when Schang tripled, clearing the bases. Eddie Collins led his teammates in the batting, making a hit each time he faced Benz. The locals were saved a shutout when Bodie's single was followed by hits by Weaver and Benz, a sacrifice by Rousch, and a pass to Kuhn. The fielding behind Shawkey, who pitched in fine form, prevented Chicago's scoring on three other occasions. The score:

Groom Shuts Out Browns.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—Groom was too much for the St. Louis men this afternoon, shutting them out, while Washington scored a run off Leverenz and another off Baumgardner. St. Louis had several chances to tally, but with men in a scoring position Groom was invincible, and his support was steady. Washington scored its first run when Gandil walked and stole second. He advanced on an out, scoring when Shanks singled. Baumgardner took Leverenz's place in the ninth and yielded a run. Milan tripled and scored on Gandil's single. The score:

ACUSHLA LEADS FIFTIES.

Grenville Kane Sends Victor Over Course for New York Boats.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—The first of the series of three races held off here by the Newport Yacht Racing Association for the New York 50-foot knockabouts, was sailed to-day in a moderate southwest breeze and was won by the Acushla, owned by G. M. Heckscher, and sailed for the first time by Grenville Kane.

Mr. Kane climbed over the side of the yacht five minutes before she left the harbor and handling the wheel like a veteran sent her across the line ten second after the signal, and led the Spartan at the outer mark by a minute and ten seconds. The Acushla's margin over the Spartan at the finish was only 13 seconds.

The yachts were given a ten-mile beat to the windward from the Brenton's Reef Lightship, the start being at 1:10. At no time during the race did the wind blow over six knots an hour and it took nearly four hours to cover the course. The times at the outer mark were: Acushla, 3:27:00; Spartan, 3:28:10; Iroquois, 3:29:28; Barbara, 3:31:52; Carolina, 3:32:28; Pleione, 3:34:15; Samurai, 3:39:10.

The stern boats drew up on the leaders in the run in, and the Pleione, getting the benefit of the flood tide, went up from sixth to third position.

The Acushla and Spartan had several lively luffing matches in the last five miles, but the Ellis boat was unable to pull by the leader. The Barbara and Iroquois went so far to the eastward that both were obliged to gybe in order to reach the finish line. Summary:

Yacht and Owner.	Elapsed Time.
Acushla, G. M. Heckscher	3:52:21
Spartan, R. N. Ellis	3:52:34
Pleione, C. C. Rumrill	3:54:17
Barbara, H. P. Whitney	3:56:15
Iroquois, E. Randolph	3:56:22
Samurai, W. E. Dodge	3:56:52
Carolina II., Pembroke Jones	3:57:08

The yachts will sail the second race to-morrow, probably over the same course.

Veteran Oarsmen to Race for $500.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 12.—James A. Ten Eyck, Sr., father of James E. Ten Eyck, coach of the Duluth Boat Club, to-day accepted a challenge to row James H. Riley, the veteran oarsman of Saratoga Lake, N. Y., in a three-mile sculling match. Ten Eyck is coach of Syracuse University. The men are to row not later than Sept. 9 for a purse of $500. Mr. Riley is 65 years old, and Mr. Ten Eyck is 63. The race will be rowed on Saratoga Lake.

Drew Runs 120 Yards in 0:12.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 21.—Starting 2 1-2 yards behind scratch in the 120 yards handicap dash, Howard P. Drew of Springfield, finished in 12 seconds flat at the annual outing and handicap games of the Rhode Island branch of the Order of Eagles at Crescent Park to-day. The world's record for 120 yards is 11 4-5 seconds, made by Bernard J. Wefers, from scratch, at Staten Island.

LARCHMONT YACHT WINS FIRST HONORS

Gherardi Davis Takes Three Prizes in Atlantic Y. C. Race Week.

Gherardi Davis, who is proud of the fact that he began to sail a boat at the age of fifty-two, demonstrated that he is one of the best small boat skippers in the country by winning the most important prizes during the series races of the Atlantic Yacht Club that ended yesterday on Gravesend Bay. Capt. Davis is the owner of Alice, a Q boat that represents the Larchmont Yacht Club.

Yesterday he was the winner of the Q Division in one of the prettiest races of the year. The contest was sailed in a southeast breeze that held true and steady throughout. The boats were sent twice over a course that was made up of a spinnaker run to Fort Hamilton, a reach on the port tack to Buoy 13½, a beat to Ambrose Channel Buoy 18, and another reach home.

The victory gave Capt. Davis a leg on the Thompson Trophy, first prize in the Q Class, and also gave the Larchmonth Yacht Club the first leg on the new Blackton Trophy. In the former series, Alice scored 15 points, with Spider finishing second with 14 points. The Larchmont Yacht Club, through the work of Alice, scored 8 points in the Blackton Cup series, with the Atlantic Yacht Club finishing second with 7 points scored by Virginia.

Being the final day of the series races, all the point trophies came to an end. The Lipton Cup was won by M. & F. II., the property of Camp & Marchant. It is the second leg that the boat has scored on the prize. The Boucher model for the bird boats, which combined the races during both the Larchmont and the Atlantic weeks, was won by Skylark, the property of C. Dayton. The Vice Commodore Taylor prize for the same class during the Atlantic fixture was won by Zeb Mayhew's Woof.

Poke Along won the Gherardi Davis Prize for Class X, and the George W. Church Prize for the First Division of the handicap class was won by Rohilla. The prize offered by Dr. C. L. Atkinson for the Larchmont Interclub Class was won by Yuron, and Little Dipper won the Zeb Mayhew Prize for the Star Class. The Captain Durland Prize for the butterflies was won by Cabbage.

Last night the club held its annual masquerade ball, and to-day there will be sailed a race for the Childs Perpetual Challenge Trophy, and also one for the Sound and Sea Cup.

The summary of the racing yesterday and the points scored in the series are as follows:

LADY GRATTAN FIRST.

Walter Cox's Mare Wins Granite State Purse at Salem.

SALEM, N. H., Aug. 21.—Walter Cox, before a crowd of several thousand persons, made one of the best drives of the year at Rockingham Park to-day, winning the "Granite State," valued at $5,000, with Lady Grattan. Reusens, from the Geers stable, was counted a certain winner, as last week he won the classic M. and M. stake at Detroit.

Tommy Murphy of New York never won an easier race than the pacing division of the American Horse Breeder Futurity with Tilly Tipton. Of the $3,000 the winner got $2,100, while Homer Baughman and Ella K. R. took $387.50 each.

Binola was the pick of the talent for the 2:20 trot, but Allie Berrifield of Baltimore had no trouble in annexing first money, with Bon Ton, Cochato Maid, Baron Sidnut, and Lady Watts taking turns in finishing in second place. The summary:

Farley Sees His Horse Win.

Special to The New York Times.

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 21.—James Farley, the strikebreaker, saw his horse Billy Miller win the 2:20 trot here this afternoon. The race was the first one on the card, and went six heats, Billy Miller, driven by J. L. Dodge, winning the last three heats. Mr. Farley watched the races from under the large old oak tree at the head of the home stretch, where he has been located during his stay at the track. This was the last day of the meeting, which has been the most successful one ever held at the track. The other two races were won in straight heats, for which the drivers received a special prize of $50 extra for winning in straight heats. Uhlan, the champion trotter, was shipped home to North Randall, Ohio, to-night. The summaries:

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Announcement was made at the race course of the Saratoga Association to-day that Philip J. Dwyer and James Butler of New York had acquired control of the race course at Laurel, Maryland, and that Matt Winn had been engaged to manage a season of racing to be held there in October. This was a more important news development than the running of the local races, for it bings to an end the friction that had existed between the Laurel track, under the management of H. D. Brown, and the Jockey Club.

Mr. Dwyer is President of the Brooklyn and the Queens County Jockey Clubs, while Mr. Butler is extensively interested in the Winter track at Juarez, Mexico, as well as the Empire City track at Yonkers, both of which are under the management of Mr. Winn.

A short time ago, H. D. Brown, anticipating that the Jockey Club would refuse racing dates to the Laurel track, brought suit to enjoin the governing body of the sport from interfering in any way with its conduct in Maryland. This suit was recently discontinued in the courts, and a more recent application for dates during the month of October was laid on the table.

There have been many rumors of the sale of the Laurel track since that time, and it is known that there was friction between Manager Brown and the Board of Directors of the track. This sale will bring to and end the fight with the Jockey Club.

The racing to-day was without any special feature beyond the running of a military steeplechase. This attracted only three starters, and two of them, Kinnelon and O K are owned by Lieut. C. K. Rockwell, while the third, Zagg, raced for Lieut. Karl Bradford. Zagg was a very easy winner all the way, under the guidance of Lieut. T. Milling, though, in his anxiety to make the victory certain, he whipped his mount out, though winning by thirty lengths.

From a racing viewpoint, what was of more importance than the steeplechase, was the appearance of two of the candidates for the Futurity. Harry Payne Whitney's Pennant repeated his former easy victory when he galloped home in front of a fairly good field. The other one to race was Robert Davies's Southern Maid. She was beaten home by Surprising, but there was every excuse for her defeat, and her performance was an impressive one.

Announcement was made by the stewards to-day exonerating Trainer Jacob Byer for the disgraceful performance of P. S. P. Randolph's Besom on Tuesday. Thef inding was that Besom had developed a bruised tendon in the running. The summaries:

FIRST RACE.—For two-year-olds that have not won more than one race; $400 added; five and one-half furlongs—Won by H. P. Whitney's ch. c. Pennant, 108, (Ambrose,) 1 to 4 and out; L. Blume's Orotund, 105, 12 to 1, 5 to 1, and even, second; G. J. Long's Ralph, 108, 10 to 1, 2 to 1, and 4 to 5, third. Uncle Mun, Bac, Spearhead, Stake and Cap and Armament also ran. Won by six lengths; one length between second and third. Time—1:06 1-5.

SECOND RACE.—Military Steeplechase; for four-year-olds and upward; purse $400; about two miles—Won by Lieut. Karl Bradford's b. g. Bagg, 170, (Lieut. Melling,) 6 to 5, and out; Lieut. C. K. Rockwell's Kinnelon, 168, (Lieut. Lyman,) 7 to 10, and out, second. Only two finished. Lieut. C. K. Rockwell's O. K. refused twelfth jump. Won by thirty lengths. Time—4:37.

THIRD RACE.—The Mohawk, for three-year-olds, $1,200 added; one mile. Won by R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s, ch. g., Montressor, 98 pounds, (McTaggart,) 6 to 1, 6 to 5, and out; R. E. Watkins's Barnegat, 113, (Loftus,) 8 to 5, 1 to 2, and out, second; H. J. Morris's Scallywag, 104, (Davies,) 8 to 5, 1 to 2, and out, third. Briar Path also ran. Won by eight lengths; two lengths between second and third. Time—1:38.

FOURTH RACE.—Selling, for three-year-olds and upward, $400 added; six furlongs. Won by J. Butler's ch. g. Compliment, 106 pounds, (Byrne,) 3 to 1, even, and 1 to 2; R. F. Carman's Luria, 105, (McTaggart,) 6 to 1, 2 to 1, and even, second; J. W. Schorr's Afterglow, 107, (McCabe,) 30 to 1, 10 to 1, and 5 to 1, third. Moncrief, Thrifty, Swish, Ann Tilly, Discovery, Sir Denrah, Capt. Elliott, Nello, Flammation, Hammon Pass, and Chrysesis also ran. Won by a head; three lengths between second and third. Time—1:13 1-5.

FIFTH RACE.—Handicap; for two-year-olds; $500 added; six furlongs—Won by R. F. Carman's b. c. Surprising, 118, (J. McTaggart,) 5 to 1, 2 to 1, and even; R. Davies's Southern Maid, 120, (Moody,) 8 to 2, 3 to 5, and 1 to 4, second; E. R. Bradley's Black Toney, 113, (Loftus,) 7 to 1, 5 to 2, and 7 to 5, third. Punch Bowl, Cross Bun, Cutaway, Harry, Trumps, and Water Melon also ran. Won by one length; one length between second and third. Time—1:12 4-5.

SIXTH RACE.—Selling; for three-year-olds and upward; fillies and mares; $400 added; seven furlongs—Won by A. Miller's b. f. Trifler, 94, (McCabe,) 1 to 12, and out; C. H. David's Inferno Queen, 103, (Martin,) 20 to 1, 2 to 1, and out, second; J. Livingston's Ballyshe, 99, (Walsh,) 12 to 1, 1 to 3, and out, third. Time—1:26 2-5.

Grapperon and St. Yves to Race.

Andre Grapperon and Henri St. Yves will meet Saturday night at the Brighton Motordrome in a special match race over the two-mile route for the best two heats out of three. The European title will go with the contest, Grapperon being the champion, having won the honor in 1907 after St. Yves retired from the game to try his hand in the aviation field.

CENSURES PUBLIC ALONG WITH I. W. W.

Denouncing Anarchy, Says Mr. Fitch, It Resists by Anarchistic Methods.

WEIRD DOCTRINES REVIEWED

Underlying Cause for Intolerance of the Haywood Union in Its Lack of Principles.

When "Big Bill" Haywood, the chief I. W. W. agitator, and his lieutenants gave up the Paterson silk strike and departed for the good reason that the workers, having reached the starvation point, were determined to go back to work, he gave the men the somewhat dubious consolation that he would be back in six months to do it all over again. The "outlaw organization" John A. Fitch calls Haywood's aggregation, and he describes its astounding viewpoint in an article in The Survey, being just to it, notwithstanding, for he condemns the Paterson public and its officials as sternly as he does the I. W. W. trouble brewers for what he regards as their outlaw attitude in dealing with this outlaw army.

To all communities which have exhibited impatience and a mob-laid spirit toward Haywood and his mischief makers Mr. Fitch applies the same criticism as they apply to the I. W. W. chiefs. He holds they have shown an equal disrespect for law and order. He says:

"Equal protection of the laws is one of the guarantees of the Federal Constitution. No one may be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. 'Equality before the law' is a much quoted phrase supposed to sum up American principles and practice. Is there a provision anywhere in our charter allowing the police to suspend these rules in the case of the 'agitators,' 'disturbers,' or 'anarchists'?

"There is another opposition—and to-day it seems to be the larger and stronger—that regards the I. W. W. as a peril that must be resisted to the end. But this element, partly through ignorance, partly through the excitement of fear, and partly through a consciousness of illegitimately acquired possessions, is willing that the organization be repressed, even illegally, and with flagrant disregard of the constitutional rights of individuals.

"Something over a year ago I. W. W. agitators in San Diego persisted in speaking on a street corner where the police had said they must not speak. From that action alone grew Vigilance Committees of citizens, who, in defiance of law and of inviolable rights of individuals, masked themselves and kidnapped the disturbers, rushed them out into the desert, ill-treated and tortured them, and warned the survivors never to return.

"The strike of textile workers at Little Falls, N. Y., conducted by the I. W. W. was marked by police aggression. There was considerable violence during the three months' tie-up and the strikers were guilty of a share of it. But on the part of the police, there was violation of constitutional rights. The right of free speech was interfered with, and acts of incredible violence were charged against the officers of the law. They interfered with strangers on the streets, they locked union organizers in a condemned jail with no charges against them, they raided the strikers' headquarters and confiscated private property, and they assaulted strikers at night, returning from their meetings. As a final evidence of their desire to put obstacles in the strikers' way they even tried to close up the soup kitchen where hungry men were being fed.

"Justly or unjustly, Paterson has long been noted as the home of anarchists. In remote corners of the continent this report has found its way where nothing else about this New Jersey city is known. The citizens of Paterson know that there is ordinarily as little disorder in their town as in any other of its size.

Edict Against the I. W. W.

"The I. W. W. must go is the sentiment that has prevailed at every council of disinterested citizens anxious to aid in ending the strike. A great meeting was held in Paterson, called by the Board of Aldermen to discuss the strike. The clergy of Paterson were there. They had been holding meetings for several weeks—Jews, Catholics, and Protestants, all together—trying to find a reasonable basis for a settlement. I do not recall having observed in any other city such active and united interest in social and industrial matters on the part of the clergy."

But it was not possible to get the conflicting forces together because all the mediators, like the employers, Mr. Fitch found, couldn't tolerate the I. W. W. What impressed him more than anything else was the attitude of the so-called "best people." They found it difficult to talk calmly about the I. W. W. He had seen "some Patersonians, wearing immaculate linen and irreproachable clothing, men who pride themselves on preserving the amenities, shouting at me, red-faced and gesticulating, their denunciations of Haywood and his fellows."

"'These people never should have been permitted to come here at all," said one, "but having come they should be driven out. It is to the disgrace of Paterson that they have been allowed to remain.'

"Paterson," observes Mr. Fitch, "like every other place where the I. W. W. has appeared, denounces the leaders of the new organization as preachers of violence, lawlessness, and anarchy; and then proposes that methods frankly violent, lawless and anarchistic be used against them. I use the word 'proposes' advisedly. It has gone beyond mere generalization and has reached the stage of concrete proposal.

"'I asked the Mayor of Paterson under what law the hall had been closed to the strikers. He said that it was done "in the interest of decency and the welfare of Paterson."'

"'But what legal justification for this action was there?' I asked.

"'The strikers have given all the justification necessary,' said the Mayor, 'by their actions.'"

Mr. Fitch then comes to the reasons for all this. He says:

"Without making any attempt at a logical analysis of industrial philosophy, I will mention the things that seem to me to account for this tooth-and-nail resistance. These are, first, the understanding that the I. W. W. proposes to dispossess the owners of property; second, sabotage, and third, anti-patriotism. The general feeling on these questions is intensified by untruthful statements in newspapers and by the acts of the I. W. W. leaders themselves, to the average person bewildering and well-nigh unaccountable.

The Hayward Doctrines.

"What is to be expected when a labor leader tells his followers that they are the rightful owners of the mills and factories, and that they must get possession by striking and striking again, using the gain in wages and conditions secured each time as a sort of base of supplies for the next conflict and keeping ever on, with the sole end in view of weakening the employer and so driving him out of business? How can an employer sit down and dicker with a union that refuses to sign a contract because it wishes to be free to attack again at any time—a union that is confessedly striking not so much to get improved conditions as to batter at the defense of the employer in order to hasten the day of his downfall and dispossession?

"Sabotage apparently means anything that the user of the word wishes. It means the "withdrawel of efficiency" one of the industrialists told me. If a strike should be lost the workers go back to their machines, but do not work as efficiently as before. This is one way of putting it. In France, where the term originated, it has been defined negatively. It does not mean injury to human beings—which leaves a rather wide field for what it may mean. One speaker at Paterson has given the strikers definite instructions on how to spoil machinery and goods without getting caught. Another speaker with fine scorn said, 'The manufacturer puts other material than silk into his goods, he sizes it and he weighs it and sells to you for silk material that will fall to pieces in six months hanging in your closet. But that is not sabotage. He adulterates your food and poisons the babies' milk, and that is not sabotage. This is business.'

"A sense of wrong, however, is not sufficient to account for the I. W. W. It is a sense of wrong that has fostered all union movements. If there were no grievances to be adjusted, the appeal and necessity of organization would not be strong. Two compelling factors stand out as the explanation of the I. W. W.: the indifference to the needs of unskilled workers that has characterized 'old-line' unionism and the trend in industrial management. In the constitutions of many of the older unions are clauses preventing the admission of unskilled workers. This has left adrift a vast substratum of unskilled, poorly paid, and unorganized workers for whom the American Federation of Labor has succeeded in doing little. To these the militant I. W. W. comes as an agency of hope. Truly, they have 'nothing to lose but their chains' and there is 'a world to gain.'"

TARIFF OPPONENTS FLAG.

Senate Makes More Headway with Bill—Vote on Wool To-day.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Republican Senators gave evidence to-day of tiring over continued fruitless opposition to the tariff schedules, and rapid progress was made with the bill. The fight on free raw wool was postponed until to-morrow.

The flax and silk schedules were approved as amended by the Finance Committee and Democratic caucus. Senators McCumber and Gronna ineffectually sought to transfer flax from the free to the dutiable list. To the silk schedule, which gave the Finance Committee much trouble, having been entirely rewritten, with specific duties substituted for the House ad valorem rates in most instances, not an amendment was offered to-day nor a criticism made by a minority member. One paragraph, relating to woven fabrics in the piece at 45 per cent. ad valorem, was passed over for revision, at the request of Chairman Simmons. The schedule was disposed of in fifteen minutes.

Consideration of the paper schedule was begun, but the paragraph relating to print paper and the proposed countervailing duty on paper valued at more than 2½ cents per pound, was passed over, at the request of Senator Lodge, until to-morrow.

When the paper schedule is disposed of to-morrow, Senator Simmons will call up the wool schedule, expecting a vote on free raw wool before adjournment for the day. The schedule was dismissed in general debate to-day, Senator Pittsman of Nevada, a wool-growing State, expressing his approval of free wool and averring it was for the best interests of the wool producers of his State. Substitutes for the wool schedule have been submitted by Senators Smoot and Penrose, and a third substitute has been prepared by Senator La Follette.

Besides paper and wool, the sundries schedule and the free list remain to be considered. Then will come the income tax, cotton futures tax, and administrative features. Senators hope to vote on the bill by Sept. 15, if not earlier.

TO TEAR DOWN ASTOR HOUSE

Bids Asked from Wreckers to Demolish South Half of Building.

The Public Service Commission issued yesterday an invitation to building wreckers for bids for the destruction of the south half of the Astor House, at Broadway and Vesey Street. The bids must be in by Sept. 2 at 12:15 P. M. The successful bidder must start the work of demolition within two days after the contract has been awarded, and the work must be completed within fifty-five days thereafter, exclusive of Sundays and holidays. The bidders are required to deposit $500 with their bids, and the successful bidder must deposit $2,000 more at the time of the signing of the contract.

The successful bidder will be allowed to keep the material of that part of the structure that is wrecked, but the contract provides a penalty of $153.33 for each day of delay beyond the fixed time. The commission states that this is the actual cost to the city for failure to turn the plot over to the contractor. The new Broadway subway will run under the south half of the property.

Some weeks ago it was suggested that the Federal Government buy the Astor House as the site for a new Federal Building, to take the place of the present Post Office Building, and the suggestion was received with favor by Postmaster Morgan and other United States officials. No decision has been received from Washington, however.

TUNNEL RECORDS SAFE.

Plans of Working at Shaft No. 9 Not Destroyed in the Fire.

The work of clearing away the débris from the mouth of Shaft No. 9 of the new aqueduct at St. Nicholas Avenue and 149th Street, where the structure above the street level was destroyed by fire Wednesday evening, was begun yesterday. George H. Flynn, the contractor in charge of the work, said it would take about two days to get things in shape to resume work in the shaft.

Nothing inside the shaft was damaged except a small portion of the lining near the surface. There is, however, considerable water in the shaft to be pumped out. The wooden structure destroyed by the flames will be reconstructed.

The office of the contracting concern doing the work, which is situated in the northern section of the shaft inclosure, was not damaged by the fire and the records and plans are not lost.

Three of the laborers who were injured during the fire, and who were removed to the Knickerbocker and Washington Heights Hospitals, were much improved yesterday. They will recover, the surgeons say. Mr. Flynn said that he had started an investigation with a view of learning the cause of the fire.

CROWD CHASES THIEVES.

Pursues Two Men Who Robbed Harlem Candy Store.

James Reilly, who, according to the police, has spent twenty-three of his thirty-three years of life in jails and reformatories, and who lives at 424 West 124th Street, and Christopher Walsh of 529 West Forty-ninth Street, were arrested in West 181st Street, near St. Nicholas Avenue yesterday afternoon after a chase from Amsterdam Avenue and 185th Street, where they were alleged to have robbed a candy shop. When arraigned before Magistrate House in the Harlem Police Court, they were held in $1,000 for the Grand Jury.

Detectives Hyman and Foley were on the steps of the St. Nicholas Avenue Police Station when they saw the men, followed by a crowd, running east through 181st Street. The policemen joined in the chase. Mrs. Mamie Mancuso told the detectives after they caught the men, that they had just robbed her candy shop at 2,515 Amsterdam Avenue.

GAMBLERS ELUDE POLICE.

Escape from House Near Fifth Avenue as It Is Raided.

At midnight last night Inspector Gillen, with two police sergeants and three detectives, went to a house in East Thirty-eighth Street, just off Fifth Avenue, and, after putting two uniformed patrolmen in front of the building, ascended the stoop and rang the bell. A servant opened the door, and the Inspector, followed by his men, went to the rear parlor. As they entered the parlor they heard a noise in the extension, but, on entering this room, found it vacant. A roulette outfit, consisting of a mahogany and rosewood wheel trimmed with silver, a roulette table, and 1,100 poker chips, were found in the room.

These were confiscated by the Inspector and sent in a patrol wagon to the West Thirtieth Street Station. The Inspector then searched the premises for five men who, he said, he knew were in the house a few minutes before he entered. He could find no trace of them.

GREATEST YEAR IN SUGAR.

All Records in Importation and Consumption Exceeded This Year.

All high records in the consumption of sugar in this country were broken in the fiscal year just ended, and more sugar was brought into the continental United States in that time than in any previous year, according to the latest figures made public by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce at Washington. The quantity of sugar imported from foreign countries and from insular possessions of the United States in the year ended June 30, 1913, was 6,500,000,000 pounds, and exceeded by 500,000,000 pounds the previous high record for the year 1912.

Of the 6,500,000,000 pounds brought into this country in 1913 Cuba alone furnished 4,333,000,000 pounds; Hawaii furnished 1,000,000,000 pounds; Porto Rico 750,000,000 pounds, and the Philippines nearly 250,000,000 pounds. The rest came chiefly from South America. A notable change was marked in the importations from Java, which in former years amounted to as much as 1,000,000,000 pounds, but which in 1913 amounted to 13,000,000 pounds.

The quantity imported from Europe, chiefly beet sugar, on the other hand, increased from 6,500,000 pounds in 1912 to 182,000,000 pounds in 1913. This amount, however, was materially less than in earlier years, the total quantity of beet sugar imported in 1901 having been 908,683,078 pounds, and in 1897 as much as 1,865,567,495 pounds.

The value of the year's importations, despite the increased quantity, fell below that of the year preceding by $30,000,000. The total value of the sugar imported from foreign countries was $104,639,823. That coming from Hawaii was $36,807,820; that from the Philippines, $4,593,199. The average value a pound of sugar imported from foreign countries in 1913 was 2.2 cents, as compared with 2.81 cents in 1912, 2.46 cents in 1911, and 2.6 cents in 1910.

Approximately half of the sugar consumed in the United States in 1913 came from foreign countries, one-fourth from the insular possessions of the United States, and about one-fourth from plantations in this country. Cuba supplies nine-tenths of that from abroad; Hawaii about one-half of the importations from our own islands, and beets nearly two-thirds of that from our home fields.

Sugar from Cuba made its highest record in 1913, when 4,311,744,043 pounds were furnished as against 3,509,657,596 in the former high year of 1910. That from the Dutch Indies, principally from Java, made its lowest record in many years, being but 12,759,756 pounds, against 340,396,410 pounds in 1912, 916,858,331 pounds in 1901, and 1,162,202,854 pounds in 1900.

The United States, according to the latest figures, is clearly at the head of the list of sugar-consuming countries, the figures for the current year suggesting a consumption of more than 8,000,000,000 pounds, while the latest available figures indicate a consumption in India of about 6,000,000,000 pounds, in Great Britain of about 3,750,000,000 pounds, in Russia 3,000,000,000 pounds, and in Germany 2,750,000,000 pounds.

$35,000 IN STRIKE BENEFITS.

Cloakmakers' Union Distributes Pay to 7,000 Who Quit Work.

The sum of $35,000 was paid out yesterday as strike benefits to the 7,000 cloakmakers who are striking against the sub-manufacturers. The money came from the treasury of the Cloak and Skirt Makers' Union, and was the first payment of strike benefits in the present dispute. The distribution was made in the halls in Manhattan and Brooklyn, where the strikers meet. Unmarried strikers were paid $5 each and married strikers $8 each, the payments to be kept up weekly while the strike lasts.

It was stated by a representative of the Consolidated Cloak Manufacturers' Association, which was formed this week to fight the present strike and is made up of sub-manufacturers with a number of independents, that large numbers of the independent manufacturers were joining the new body in expectation of being called on to pay an advance in wages if an arbitration board to which the demands for higher wages made on the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association have been referred grants the increases. He said that a lockout probably would be declared by the independent manufacturers in the new association if the increases were granted.

WOULD DEODORIZE JERSEY.

West End Association Takes Steps to Purify Trans-Hudson Breezes.

The West End Association has asked persons living along the riverside to cooperate in seeking relief from the acid fumes and other odors wafted across the Hudson from industrial works on the New Jersey shore. The association, through Attorney General Carmody, will present a complaint to the New Jersey authorities, and if they fail to remedy the conditions the matter will be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States—the course followed by Georgia in a similar difficulty with works in Tennessee.

"If the present plan should fail through lack of individual effort," says the letter sent out by the association, "there is no reason to expect that any further concerted movement to abate the nuisance would ever be made."

TEASED A BOY POLICEMAN.

Rubenstein Thought It Good Fun Until Arrested for Assault.

Moses Ropker, one of the boy "policemen" recently appointed by Park Commissioner Stover to keep other children from littering up the lawns of Central Park, caused the arrest last night of Alexander Rubenstein, 15 years old, of 88 East 113th Street, after the latter had struck him on the head with a ninepin.

According to "Captain" Ropker, he was in the Park near the greenhouse at 106th Street when Rubenstein started to "kid" him about the badge provided by the Park Commissioner. The "Captain" objected, and it was then, he says, that the other boy assaulted him.

Ropker blew his police whistle, and Park Policeman Bloss arrested Rubenstein on a charge of juvenile delinquency.

UNDERPAID GIRL WORKERS.

25 Per Cent. in Kansas City Earn Less Than a "Bare Existence."

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 21.—Twenty-five per cent. of the 25,000 woman workers of Kansas City receive less than $6 a week, the wage needed for a "bare existence," according to a report of the Board of Public Welfare, issued to-day. The report is based upon two years' investigation.

The workers are thus classified: Manufacturing and mercantile pursuits, 4,500; mercantile establishments, 3,900; telephone exchanges, 1,182; agricultural pursuits, 55; professional service, 2,007; domestic and personal service, 13,475.

Seventeen per cent. are married women; 14 per cent. are separated, divorced or widows; 69 per cent. are unmarried girls. Seventy-five per cent. are living at home or with relatives.

A wage of $8.50 is necessary for a girl living in a boarding or lodging house in order to live comfortably, while $6 a week means a bare existence, according to the report.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

It is stated in Constantinople that two foreign syndicates have recently made proposals to the Government for the creation of sugar refineries in the Provinces. One of these is a Rumanian agricultural syndicate and the other is a Franco-Ottoman group. The Ministry of Agriculture is making a study of these projects.

Plans for the foundation of a new hospital at Parel, a suburb of Bombay, as a memorial of the late King Edward, are now being framed. The total cost will amount to about $700,000.

There is being erected by an American trading company for the Gomei Kaisha Fujita Gumi at Osaka, Japan, a modern sawmill that is to be fitted throughout with the latest American machinery for sawing logs into various dimensions of lumber, also with the automatic devices for moving it from one set of saws and planers to the other.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

See How You Look with a Veil.

A new method of selling veilings has been introduced this season by an importing firm. Instead of wholesaling these goods in full pieces, they are cut in 1½-yard lengths, and put up in sanitary, transparent envelopes. This does away with the need of handling and cutting as each sale is made, and insures the retailer against waste and mussed stock. One thickness of the goods is wound over a light card bearing a printed picture of a woman's face. This, seen through the transparent envelope, gives an excellent idea of how the veil will look on the wearer. Chiffon veils, with satin borders, and mourning veils are also sold in single envelopes. These envelopes are not transparent, but a small oval window of mica allows the color and texture of the goods to be seen without taking them out. Tuexdo and shadow effects are the most popular in veilings, with terra cotta, mahogany, old gold and ombre shades the most-wanted of the chiffons.

No Drop in Raw Silk Prices.

Raw silk prices continue to advance in the various markets. At Milan the steadily rising cost of cocoons is held responsible. Reelers are booked several months ahead there, and will offer silks in small lots only. Prices are again mounting at Yokohama after a few days of steadiness at recent levels. Sales there for the week amounted to more than 5,000 bales. Sellers have withdrawn from the market at Canton. The fifth crop is again smaller. Shipments for the first three months of the present season are larger than last year, but most of them have been directed to the European markets. The Shanghai market was practically unchanged. The demand at New York is broadening, according to H. L. Gwalter & Co., and prices are advancing on all sorts. Canton filatures, size 14-16, are especially in demand and hard to get.

Keeps Sale Dates Secret.

A prominent store in an Eastern city has found it good business to keep the dates of its special sales secret until its customers ask for them. During the preparation for these sales, however, there is plenty of publicity given them, according to the Butler Way, the store's advertising telling everything except the date. Up-to-the-minute merchandise is used in the window displays, and with it are placed cards bearing the legend, "Special sale, inquire date inside." This method is found not only to arouse curiosity and to help business at the sales, but to encourage buying on the part of customers who come in only with the intention of asking the date.

Another Salesman's Voting Plan.

Leon Meyer of Cohn, Brown & Co., who is conducting the campaign here to make it possible for salesmen to vote when away on business trips, told a TIMES reporter yesterday that he had evolved a simpler plan than any so far brought to his notice. He outlined it as follows:

The salesman shall register at the Election Bureau and receive a slip to identify his registry, numbered and signed for future identification. Also he shall receive a special ballot containing candidates' names, or a blank ballot if no nominations have been made before his departure. In addition, an official envelope shall be given him. At the time of election this ballot shall be sealed in the official envelope, and this, together with the identification slip, shall be inclosed in another envelope and mailed to the Election Bureau. Upon receipt, the officials shall open the outer envelope, verify the signature, and deposit the official envelope containing the ballot, sealed, in the ballot box.

Mr. Meyer thinks that this plan would insure absolute secrecy. It is not unlikely that a committee made up of Mr. Meyer, L. Schiff, Murray Garson, and Gustav Spaulding, all members of the Associated Traveling Salesmen of New York, will go to Washington in September to discuss the matter with members of Congress.

New York Styles Suit Honolulu.

"We do not buy in San Francisco. All our buying is done in the New York market," said J. G. Silva of H. Hackfield & Co., the leading dry goods store of Honolulu, who is now in this city. "We find that we can get as fashionable goods here as if we bought abroad. Our climate demands about the same weight fabrics the year around, for we have an equable temperature, like your May and early June. I am now buying all the fashionable silks, both imported and domestic, such as crêpe, charmeuse, and voile. There is a great deal of social life in Honolulu, and the women give a great deal of thought to dress. They are fond of light colors, but not bright or brilliant ones. The head of our firm is soon to start on a six months' European trip, but it is for a vacation, and not for buying purposes."

Parcel Post as Advertising Aid.

Speaking of the parcel post as a means of distributing samples or small packages of goods, in conjunction with advertising in a particular field, H. Dumont, of the Pacific Coast Borax Company, says: "The consumer as a rule does not relish being used as the instrument for interesting the retailer in carrying the goods. One call will probably end the consumer's interest in the product, and the effect of the advertising will be lost. If, on the other hand, there is an opportunity to get by parcel post a small quantity of the goods at the regular price, the consumer will undoubtedly take advantage of it, and if the profit on this small sale is then turned over to the retailer, it will undoubtedly interest him in stocking the goods, more than a mere request from a consumer."

BUSINESS NOTES.

Notices containing sample ballots have been issued for the annual meeting and election of officers of the Garment Salesmen's Association, which will be held Monday night at the Hotel McAlpin.

The headquarters of the newly organized Far Western Travelers' Association are at 13 Astor Place. An up-to-date office system is being installed under the direction of Secretary Stenge.

The Garment Salesmen's baseball team has accepted the challenge of the Associated Traveling Salesmen of New York. The game will be played to-morrow afternoon, the latter organization's field day, at College Point.

A late report gives the sugar movement at United States Atlantic ports, in tons, as follows.

Receipts, 51,847, against 50,839 last week, 43,741 last year, and 28,192 in 1911; meltings, 64,000, against 64,000, 40,000, and 51,000, respectively; stock, 289,583, against 301,736, 201,028, and 176,342, respectively.

Dan Talmage's Sons Company telegraphed the New Orleans rice crop movement to date as follows:

Receipts, rough, (new and old,) 37,400 sacks, against 28,200 last year; sales, cleaned, (new and old,) 21,800 pockets, against 23,000 last year.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

The situation locally in cotton dress goods for Spring shows little change. Jobbers have not placed a normal amount of business with the converting trade, but some of the importers have sold short as much as they care to, pending the passage of new tariff.

Small black velvet hats with harness bands of black extending under the chin and large roses at the right side are recent novelties in the millinery field.

Separate coats need not harmonize with women's Fall suits. Popular coat materials are chiffon, lace, net, and georgette crepe.

Separate skirt fabrics for wear with suit coats of different material are shepherd checks, plaids, and stripes.

Considerable interest is being displayed in dresses having a three-tier skirt, with each tier accordion-pleated and wired at the hem. All three tiers stand out from the body of the dress. Rather wide featherbone is used, emphasizing the hoopskirt effect.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Tax Sustained on Pipe Ferrules and Window Blind Cloth.

In sustaining a protest by the Metropolitan Tobacco Company, the Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday held that pipe ferrules were not smokers' articles, under the tariff act of 1909. Collector Mitchel exacted duty of 60 per cent. under Paragraph 475. The importers claimed a tax of 45 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 199, as manufactures of metal. The board ruled that the articles were only parts of what will become smokers' articles.

It was decided that Lancaster window blind cloth imported by F. H. Shallus, was properly returned at Baltimore at 3 cents a square yard and 20 per cent. ad valorem, under Paragraph 321, act of 1909, as filled cotton cloth. The importer claimed duty under Paragraph 315, as painted cloth at specific rates according to count of threads, value, &c.

Irish, Parker & Butler were sustained in a controversy over goods invoiced as check toweling, and check union glass cloth, taxed at New York 45 per cent. ad valorem, under Paragraph 332, as cotton cloth. The protestants showed the goods to be in chief value of flax, dutiable at 30 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 357.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Reactionary Influences Prevail on Stock Exchange—The Money Position.

Prices moved uncertainly yesterday in a market which at times was very thin. The morning's trading was somewhat larger than the previous day's, but in the afternoon business became stagnant. The Mexican situation seemed to be exerting considerable influence. The very uncertainty of that situation gave it cautionary effect and caused it to exert restrictive influence upon Stock Exchange operations. The financial aspects of the possible sequels to the situation now existing in Mexico were being considered, and some of the conclusions drawn helped to give this situation increased importance as an influence in shaping stock market sentiment. The events which have occurred since Monday have served to lessen the concern which was caused by the dispatches received on that day, but they have not removed that concern entirely. Among the other things which contributed to the prevailing tendency of prices yesterday were the reduction in the Chesapeake & Ohio's dividend, the further pressure upon Southern Pacific which grows out of the Union Pacific's sale of its holdings of that stock, and the continuance of the drought in Kansas.

The publication yesterday of the conditions under which the banks of the South and West are to have an opportunity to obtain increased deposits of Government money made it plain that more would be required of the banks in the sections which are to receive this cash than is usually required in connection with the deposit of Treasury funds. Some of the conditions imposed may have the effect of retarding, if not of lessening, the flow of cash from the Government's vaults into the banks, but if the money is much needed no doubt the banks will find it profitable to take it, although these deposits of Government money will cost the banks more than those which have been made in the past. The Secretary of the Treasury was well advised in emphasizing in his circular the fact that these funds are placed at the disposal of the banks for temporary use only. They are, in fact, to be subject to recall by the Treasury at any time, although the Government's present purpose is to withdraw them only gradually, beginning in December.

While the Treasury here is proceeding with the transfer of a large amount of cash to the banks, the reserve position of the European banks continues to improve. The Bank of France showed the expected increase of $5,000,000 in gold holdings, and at the same time reported a decrease in circulation and in discounts. The Bank of England's statement showed a gain of $6,000,000 in gold on hand. Its percentage of reserve is the highest reported at this date since 1896, and within a fraction of the percentage held in that year of money plethora. This market was reminded yesterday of one of the sources from which demands for money will come later on, when the countries which have been at war in Southeastern Europe come to finance the obligations which have been assumed during the struggle. Inquiries were made here regarding the terms on which the Turkish Treasury notes could be placed in this market. It is hardly necessary to say that those who made these inquiries received little encouragement. To judge by the movement of the exchanges, Italy appears to have obtained another foreign loan, for Italian exchange in London has risen about three-quarters of 1 per cent. within a week. Reports were heard of further engagements of gold in South America for shipment to New York, but no additional transactions of this kind were formally announced.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 2@2½ per cent., with the last loan at 2 per cent. The renewal rate was 2¼ per cent.

Time money rates were 3¾@4 per cent. for sixty days, 4½@4¾ per cent. for ninety days, 4¾@5 per cent. for four months, 5½@5¾ per cent. for five months, and 5½@5¾ per cent. for six months.

Clearing House exchanges, $291,527,066; balances, $14,839,065; Sub-Treasury credit balance, $1,498,995.

FOREIGN RATES.

Discount rates abroad yesterday were: London, 3¾ per cent. for short bills, and 3⅞ per cent. for three months' bills. Paris, 3¾ per cent., and Berlin, 5 per cent. Money was 4 per cent. in Berlin, and 2¾ per cent. in London.

The Berlin check rate on London was 20 marks 45 pfennigs. The Paris check ratt on London was 25 francs 24½ centimes.

Foreign exchange rates at the points noted were quoted as follows:

CABLE AND SIGHT RATES.

S.P.'S EFFORT TO SELL BONDS

Asks Leave to Offer Certificates at 6 Instead of 4 Per Cent. Discount.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—Because of the stringency in the money market the Southern Pacific Company filed application to-day with the State Railroad Commission for permission to float the unissued remainder of its $10,120,000 equipment trust certificates at a discount of 6 per cent. instead of 4 per cent., as originally allowed when the loan was approved on April 11.

The application stated that about one-half of the certificates had already been sold.

CROP MONEY SENT OUT.

Baltimore, Atlanta, Richmond, and Memphis Get Funds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The first deposits of the Government's $50,000,000 crop moving fund were made to-day in reserve cities in the Southern States, among which were Baltimore, Richmond, Atlanta and Memphis.

Baltimore will receive between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 and Chicago and St. Louis will divide in the neighborhood of $15,000,000. Richmond, Atlanta and Memphis received $750,000 each.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

An Awkward Law Surmounted.

One of Gov. Sulzer's Stock Exchange bills passed in the recent frenzy for reform provided a severe penalty for a broker who should hypothecate, without the owner's consent, securities bought on a margin for more than the amount still due from the customer, in the event of a loss to the customer through such hypothecation. This law, which seemed fair enough, soon proved embarrassing. As interpreted by the brokers, the rise of a point or two in stocks held on margin lessened the customer's debt to the broker, and so made him liable for having borrowed more from his bank on the collateral than was due him from the customer. For instance, if a customer bought 100 shares of Steel at 60 and paid $2,000 down he still owed his broker $4,000. The broker ordinarily could borrow $4,800 on the 100 shares as collateral, but to comply with the law he took only $4,000. If the stock sold at 62 the customer's debt was reduced to $3,800. To meet this situation most of the houses have been asking marginal traders to sign a consent to the effect that "all securities carried in my marginal account may be loaned by you either for the sum loaned thereon, or for a less or greater sum without further notice to me."

Exchange Seats Firm.

Gloom, which has long resided within the walls of the Stock Exchange, is in danger of eviction. The report that the last seat sold had brought $46,000 was confirmed by the authorities yesterday, and 1,100 members mentally added $5,000 each to their assets. The pessimist's discomfiture was completed by a well authenticated rumor that there were several bids of $45,000 for memberships, with no offers to sell. It was but a few weeks ago that a seat sold for $37,000.

Safeguarding Government's Money.

Secretary McAdoo has sent circulars to the Western and Southern banks desiring part of the $50,000,000 of Government funds which he proposes to deposit for crop moving purposes, in which he outlines the conditions on which the temporary deposits will be made. To the lay mind, the number and scope of the requirements seem onerous, but bankers say that most of the restrictions are plainly necessary in view of the fact that this is the first time in history that the United Staes has acceped commercial paper as security for its money. An old-time employe of the Treasury Department is credited with having drawn up the provisions governing the use of commercial paper as security with such expert care that there is not even a remote chance of the Government's losing money through the new departure. The rule requiring banks applying for the special deposits to have outstanding circulation equal to at least 40 per cent. of the amount authorized by law has been retained, although there has been some discussion of the possibility of reducing this amount for the sake of many institutions which could not qualify without taking out more circulation than they are accustomed to have.

Where Objections May Lie.

The Secretary says that special deposits are made to lessen the financial tension so common at crop moving times, and that such deposits shall not be used by the depositories to discharge their obligations toward other banks. Bankers said yesterday that this might cause trouble, since few institutions could afford to pay 2 per cent. interest on the deposits and keep them strictly segregated from their other resources. Altogether, the requirements are not expected to prove burdensome, and the item of expense, which must be borne by the banks, is not likely to add materially to the cost of the special deposits.

Small Tonnage Decline Predicted.

Prices concessions in some of the finished products are reported in the steel trade to have stimulated buying in these lines to a substantial extent during the week, and as an increased demand has been noted by several of the companies for semi-finished material, a comparatively small decline is expected in unfilled orders in the next monthly statement of the Steel Corporation. Shipments are figured to be running along on a scale approximately as large as in July, so that if the report of forward contracts as of Aug. 31 shows an improvement over July 31 it will be credited directly to the broadening of business. Pittsburgh advices say that the buying of wire has picked up in marked fashion, and it is predicted that the American Steel and Wire Company will show for the month average daily orders for 6,500 tons, as compared with about 3,500 tons in July.

A Thrill for Wall Street.

Rumors spread in Wall Street with marvelous rapidity, and none has ever gone the rounds with greater speed than a tale yesterday that an attempt had been made to rob one of the big banks of the financial district. Pedestrians watched for the newsboy with his extra telling all about the sensational crime, and when he failed to appear they sought the news tickers for information. They found that one agency had the story, although it did not describe a bank robbery, but an alleged attempt to steal a bag of gold in transit from the bank's vault to an express wagon. The narrative was brief and left much to the imagination. In fact, when further inquiry was made into the matter, it was found that the imagination had to supply nearly everything. The bank robbery boiled down to a fistic argument between a revengeful citizen and a Broadway policeman, which happened to occur in front of a bank where bags of specie were actually being placed in a wagon. Wall Street, nevertheless, experienced a thrill of excitement which helped liven up rather a quiet day.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Prices Moved Downward Generally—New Haven Bonds Were Weak.

New Haven debentures receded in the outside market yesterday under comparatively heavy trading. The market generally was inclined to heaviness. United Cigar Stores gained some ground early in the day, but lost the advantage and more later.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

A renewal of fears regarding the outcome of the tangled Mexican situation dominated the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange practically all day. There was an initial decline on the 9:30 o'clock call, with the losses, compared with Wednesday's closing figures, ranging from ⅛ to ⅞ of a point. In the subsequent trading there was an early rally, on which stocks were supplied, with the market again weakening. After that there was a period of hesitation and irregularity. A sharp decline in Missouri Pacific, accompanied by further corn damage talk, was a late afternoon feature.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Friday, Aug. 22.—The Times says in its City article to-day:

"There was no alteration yesterday in the rates for day-to-day advances and short fixtures, but the supply available was abundant at the close.

"Discount quotations were nominally unaltered. They were firm in the morning, with three months' bills offered fairly readily at 3⅞ per cent., but the supply diminished after the Bank of England return appeared, and the rate became weak. The Bank bought £151,000 of bar gold.

"There was hardly any business in many of the leading Stock Exchange markets, and the tone was mildly depressed.

"Canadian Pacific and American shares were offered in the late dealings. Mexican ordinary was flat."

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Prices were quiet on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes 87 francs 92½ centimes for the account.

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—Trading was quiet and price changes were slight on the Boerse to-day.

Capital Increases.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 21.—Notices of increase of capital stock were filed by the following corporations to-day:

The North River Insurance Company of New York, from $350,000 to $500,000.

Typewriter Speed Key Company of New York, from $50,000 to $125,000.

The Ferdinand Hirsch Company of New York has reduced its capital from $250,000 to $12,500.

CHESAPEAKE DIVIDEND CUT.

Reduction of 1 Per Cent. Due to Flood Troubles in the Spring.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Directors met expectations yesterday by voting a reduction in the dividend from 5 per cent. to 4 per cent. Floods in the Ohio Valley last Spring were mainly accountable for a slump in the road's earnings. Frank Trumbull, Chairman of the board, said after the meeting that the reduction of one per cent. was considered conservative by the Directors, in view of the extraordinary conditions which interfered with the company's prosperity last year.

"For the last four years the company has earned an average of 6.8 per cent. per annum," he said. "We would have shown a 7 per cent. surplus this year, but for the unusual obstacles met with. This is normally a seven per cent. road. The floods and the miners' strike cost us about 2 per cent. on the stock. The property loss from the overflow was only about $350,000, but loss of traffic and other items brought this up to $1,000,000.

"The miners are back at work with a wage schedule binding on them for two years, and the outlook is very good. I think we ought to earn seven per cent. this year. We got our own lines repaired before the connecting roads did, and we are still turning business over to them faster than they like it. To facilitate the movement of coal we authorized to-day the expenditure of another $160,000 for the construction of a second unloader on the pier at Toledo. We have spent $1,000,000 already on that pier.

"Our earnings statement will soon begin to make more favorable comparisons with corresponding periods of the previous year. By Sept. 1 operating expenses will be compared with the time last year, when we began to pay the higher wage scale, and by Jan. 1 we shall be comparing results with those for the period when we began to show losses last year. Our needs have been financed by the recent note sale to the end of this fiscal year, or June 30 next."

The Chesapeake's stockholders now number 6,100, as against 5,100 last March. There are five times as many names on the books as there were in 1908, when the late Edwin Hawley got control.

A decrease in the company's net earnings through the heavier outlays for maintenance, was partly offset through a special dividend of 4½ per cent., paid on the Hocking Valley stock, but the surplus for dividends, which was $4,274,000 in 1912, was reduced to $3,298,000 last year. This balance is equivalent to 5.2 per cent. on the $62,792,000 of stock. The company has been paying 5 per cent. for two and a half years.

DIRECTORS TO RAISE CASH.

They Hope to Get $200,000 for Roseville Trust Company Deficit.

Efforts are being made by some of the Directors of the defunct Roseville Trust Company in Newark, which was closed by the State Department of Banking and Insurance following the disappearance of Raymond E. Smith, the Secretary-Treasurer, to make up the bank's shortage, so that their reputation as business men may not suffer.

Not all the Directors are in favor of raising money to meet the deficit. It is the object of those in favor of the plan for all Directors to meet their proportionate share. The Directors favorable to meeting the depositors' demand believe they can raise about $200,000. Three Directors, William Odell, Edward Dunn, and William Fairlie, have agreed to make up $70,000.

No clue as to the whereabouts of the missing bank official has yet been found by the score of detectives looking for him. Frederick E. Day, proprietor of the Park View Hotel, Newark, told the police yesterday that he believed Smith was in his place for a short time on last Wednesday. Another report had it that Smith had bought a ticket for Buffalo at the Park View Station of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and boarded a train there.

Safe and Saleable and 7%

Very rarely can obligations of America's great railroad systems be obtained at a price to yield 7%. CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC DEBENTURES, DUE 1932, furnish this opportunity.

They are selling on the New York Stock Exchange at about 80 and interest, yielding over 7%, and the decline from the original offering price of 97½ in 1912 is due exclusively to general liquidation.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

George H. Burr & Co. are offering an issue of $200,000 guaranteed first mortgage 6 per cent. bonds of the Standard Timber Company at par.

R. M. Grant & Co. were successful bidders for $143,000 Middlesex County (N. J.) road improvement 5s, dated Aug. 1, 1913.

Governors of the Stock Exchange voted yesterday to close on the Saturday preceding Labor Day, giving the brokers a three-day holiday.

The Hocking Valley Railroad Company declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent. yesterday, placing the issue on an 8 per cent. basis, an increase of 1 per cent. The Chesapeake & Ohio owns $8,825,000 of the $11,000,000 of stock outstanding.

E. H. Rollins & Sons announce that the issue of $4,000,000 collateral trust 6 per cent. serial notes of the Huntington Land and Improvement Company, indorsed by H. E. Huntington, has been heavily oversubscribed.

The Stock Exchange seat of Philip Kearny has been posted for transfer to F. A. Plummer.

There was a sharp decline in the price of Union Pacific rights to subscribe to Southern Pacific stock yesterday, with 150,000 changing hands. The rights opened at 36, sold down to 26, and closed at 30.

NEW MEMBER HAZED.

Stock Exchange Wakes and "Initiates" R. G. Estee.

With the sharp advance in the price of seats, an old custom which had been allowed to fall into disuse with the depression in stock trading, was suddenly revived on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday when R. G. Estee appeared on the floor for the first time, following his election to the exchange.

Mr. Estee is a member of Gilbert Elliott & Co., and is well-known in the financial district. In his honor most of the brokers suspended operations to participate in his initiation. The result was the most strenuous hour in the new member's life. Mr. Estee bore the rough treatment good naturedly and led the way to the Luncheon Club when it was all over.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

Grain and cotton prices were advanced strongly at times in yesterday's trading, but late reactions left only small net gains where gains were scored. The September crop option dropped sharply in the afternoon for a net loss of ½c a bushels, and the other months were carried down partway in sympathy. Predicted rains where it is needed caused cotton to recede. Provisions were firm, but heavy selling depressed cottonseed oil.

WHEAT.

The wheat market showed a steady undertone throughout the greater part of the day, and while there was a partial reaction late in sympathy with corn, the close was ¼@⅜c net higher. Offerings were comparatively small both at home and abroad. The export demand showed, however, some improvement, and sales were reported of 25 loads, but, if the weakness in the ocean freight market is any indication of the condition of the export trade, the demand is still very light as export rates have been declining steadily with little or no demand for room.

There was some fear expressed regarding low temperatures in Canada, where there was some possibility of frost, and some uneasiness was evident regarding the effect of the recent rains in the Spring wheat belt. The Northwestern Miller said that hot forcing weather was the rule last week, and that considerable rain had fallen since Saturday, Northern North Dakota being fairly flooded. Just what effect this soaking will have is uncertain. The crop is now out of the way of harm from frost, samples of wheat indicate a superior quality, and the estimates for the three States ranged from 175,000,000 to 200,000,000 bushels.

In the local market No. 2 red Winter wheat was quoted at 94½c, cost, insurance, and freight, export basis, and 95¾c, free on board; No. 1 Northern Spring, $1.00¾, free on board.

CORN.

The corn market was moderately active and nervous. Prices early in the day advanced ⅝c to ¾c on the general absence of rains over the belt and on covering, but late in the session there was a sharp reaction on rumors that there had been private settlements with September shorts in Chicago. At the close the September position was ½c net lower, while other positions were unchanged to ⅛c higher. There were predictions of unsettled weather, with lower temperatures, throughout the West, and private advices from Kansas City said that it was cloudy, and that the map looked more like relief than at any time yet.

In the local cash market export corn was quoted at 84¼c, nominal, free on board.

OATS.

The oats market was moderately active and firmer early on smaller receipts at interior points, but on the advance there was active profit taking and the market later moved off softly in sympathy with corn, closing net unchanged to ⅛c lower. The local cash market was steady, standard white being quoted at 47½ to 48c, No. 2 48½c, No. 3 46½ to 47c, No. 4 46 to 46½c, ordinary clipped white 46½ to 48c, fancy clipped white 48½ to 49½c, all elevator.

COFFEE.

Cost and freight offers from Brazil were 10 to 15 points below those of Wednesday, and the market was heavy from the start, closing near bottom at a net loss of 7 to 12 points on sales of 58,000 bags. Havre closed at net decline of ¼ to ¾ franc, while Hamburg was ¼ to ½ pfennig lower. Receipts in Brazil, were again liberal, and, during the last week stocks in Rio and Santos have gained 240,000 bags, compared with a gain of 35,000 during the corresponding week last year, and the total is now 2,352,000, against 2,041,000 last year. The weather in Brazil was unsettled with rains in two districts and showers in one.

Spot coffee—Steady, 9¼c for Rio 7.

COTTON.

The cotton market continued active yesterday, but was more or less unsettled, and after making new high ground for the movement lost most of its advance, closing steady, net unchanged, to 3 points higher. Very bullish crop advices from the Southwest and further scattering complaints from the Eastern belt stimulated the buying movement during early trading, but around 11.65 for December offerings became very heavy following private predictions of rain in the belt before the end of the week and reports of an easier spot basis in the South. Closing prices showed reactions of 11 or 13 points from the best.

First prices were 4 points lower to 3 points higher, and after selling about 5 to 6 points net higher right after the call, the market broke to a net loss of 6 or 7 points on the active months. The official Western belt forecast for clear weather in Texas and the detailed weather reports showing no precipitation of consequence in Texas or Oklahoma with continued high temperatures firmed the market up again during the middle of the day, and during the noon hour the buying was particularly active. New Orleans, Memphis, and Wall Street houses were active buyers on this advance, which carried prices 11 to 14 points net higher and about 77 points above the low level of last week. Profit taking was very heavy around these figures. Several reports were received during the day indicating that the Southern spot basis had weakened on the advance in futures without attracting much demand. Southern spot markets officially reported were unchanged to ⅛c higher.

COTTONSEED OIL.

There was heavy liquidation in the near positions in the cotton oil market, and in consequence prices were weak and lower, these months closing at a net decline of 18 to 40 points, while the later positions were somewhat steadier, closing net unchanged to 10 points lower. The pressure was particularly heavy in October. The firmness in lard and cotton failed to have much influence on the market, and prices late in the day were at the bottom.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was moderately active and prices were firmer, owing to moderate receipts of live hogs at Western points and on firmer hog prices. Reports from the West indicated that hog cholera prevails to a more or less limited extent in most of the leading hog States.

Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 19,000; estimated for Friday, 16,000; Kansas City received 5,000 and Omaha 6,500.

MISCELLANEOUS MARKETS.

BEEF.—There were no price changes reported yesterday.

SUGAR.—The refined sugar market was steady and unchanged. The local raw sugar market was firm and there was little business done. Prices were unchanged. The London beet sugar market was steady at former prices.

MOLASSES AND SYRUPS.—There was a fair demand for molasses and syrups, but no price changes occurred.

RICE.—The market was steady and unchanged. Trading was of hand-to-mouth character.

FLOUR AND MEAL.—The market was quiet and steady. Better business was reported in Kansas grades. City bran advanced to $24.40 for bulk and $26 for sacks, middlings to $24.50@$30.50, and red dog to $31.60.

OILS.—Refined petroleum was steady and unchanged. Linseed oil was firm at the recent advance.

NAVAL STORES.—The turpentine market advanced again yesterday, being quoted at 42 cents. There was a fairly active demand from jobbers. Resin was firm in sympathy with the turpentine market, but was steady and unchanged.

ARGENTINA WANTS AMERICAN BANKS

C. C. Lewis, Manager of Traction Lines, Tells How We Have Missed Trade.

GRAFT IS ELIMINATED

United States Business Methods Welcomed Where Politics Are Governed by Photograph.

C. C. Lewis, an American, who has been manager for eight years of the electric light and tramway companies in Cordoba, Argentina, which are owned by British capital, says he does not see how it is possible for Americans to get their proper share of trade in Argentina until American banks shall have been established in that country.

"This lack of American banks is the general complaint I hear from Americans who are doing business there," said Mr. Lewis yesterday at the Wolcott. "The poor banking facilities and the fact that every transaction has to be done through London militate against American exporters.

"Cordoba used to be a seat of the Spanish Government, and it has what is said to be the oldest university in the Western hemisphere. The place was always conservative, and development did not begin until the last decade. It is a town of 130,000 inhabitants, and is now on three railways, and its streets are well paved with wooden blocks. It is one of the few places in Argentina where hydraulic power is available, and in a country where Cardiff coal costs $13 gold a ton this is a big asset.

"The municipalities of Argentina are well governed—better, I should say, than in the United States. In town governments there is very little graft. As for the country at large, the new election law passed at the instance of President Saenz Pena has made a great advance in the matter of suffrage. More people are voting than ever before. The main difference between the secret ballot in Argentina and here is that there the Election Boards do not do the counting. The ballots, when all in, are sent to the Post Office and delivered to the Federal authorities in Buenos Aires.

"A month or so passes before the results are made known. Then every citizen gets a small book containing his photograph, together with details as to his personal appearance and occupation, which is used at the polls to identify him. This book is also useful wherever the man happens to be. It may save him from false arrest.

"Business in Argentina was excellent until the outbreak of the Balkan troubles. That war had the effect of holding back capital, and, as most of the capital we get down there comes from Europe, a lot of development work has been held up. For the last eight or ten years the price of land had been boomed out of reason. Restricted credits have had the effect of bringing such prices to a normal level.

"There has been a big increase in the last few years of the number of Americans in the country, and of the amount of business American manufacturers are doing there. It would experience a much bigger growth if there were American banks in the country. As it is, the returns of the last two years show that American business has gone ahead faster than any other, proportionately.

"There is no marked antipathy toward Americans in Argentina," said Mr. Lewis. "I think the Argentinians admire American development and ingenuity, but they seem to think the United States has ulterior designs on all the Latin American countries."

B. & O.'S GOOD SHOWING.

Net Earnings for First Month of Fiscal Year Are Up $300,398.

The report of the Baltimore & Ohio for July, the first month of the new fiscal year, shows that the system earned $8,838,910 gross and $2,692,809 net, as compared with $8,052,885 gross and $2,392,411 net in July 1912, an increase of $785,925 and $300,398 respectively. The gross revenue for the month was $176,617 less than in June, which was a record month, but the total was $1,517,653 ahead of July two years ago, since which time gross earnings increased from $88,145,000 to $101,556,000, a growth of $13,411,000 or 15 per cent.

During July $1,258,439 was expended on maintenance of way and structure, as compared with $1,137,679 the preceding July, an increase of $120,559. The amount spent for maintenance of equipment was $1,332,749, a decrease of $102,595.

The Baltimore & Ohio is still paying "flood" bills and will not be entirely through with expenditures on that account until the completion of its new bridges, which are now in an advanced stage of construction.

SAYS TREES DIE AS BIRDS DISAPPEAR

HAS REFUGE FOR SONGSTERS

Tennesseean's Hobby Is to Study Birds and Their Habits in His 160-Acre Reservation.

Benjamin L. Dulaney owns a forest and bird preserve within the limits of Bristol, Tenn., which is said to contain more song birds than any other space of woodland of the same size on the American continent. There are 160 acres in the reservation, and caring for the feathered songsters, and studying them, is Mr. Dulaney's hobby. In an idle moment at the Waldorf yesterday the big Tennessean consented to give some results of his recent observations.

"I have come to the conclusion," said Mr. Dulaney, "that the disappearance of certain of our trees, notably the chestnut, is due to the neglect to preserve one species of birds, the woodpecker. I understand there are few woodpeckers left in this part of the country, and that the chestnut tree is almost extinct. Owing to this dearth of their enemies the borers, on which woodpeckers prey, and other destructive insects have come in force.

"There are many varieties of the woodpecker, each of which takes care of a particular form of tree pest. As for the harm the bird does to a tree, that is nil. He simply digs out a hole for the family nest in the Spring. When you hear him tapping the tree at other times he has only located a borer, and is going after it, and he has a way of finding it. I am positive that if we had protected our birds in time we would have saved many of our forest trees.

"I am keeping my forest wild because I love songbirds. They have come to know that there they are safe. The boys of the neighborhood have been taught to become friends of the birds. Why, in my own yard I have seen as many as thirty or thirty-five nests at one time.

"As the English sparrow is a pest, I have naturally been at some pains to prevent my woods from being tenanted by these birds. During this Summer I have been studying these sparrows, and do you know they have the child labor problem worked out to a fine point. I am speaking now of a particular group of sparrows which I had under observation.

"I watched a nest for six weeks. The sparrows had not built it. Robins put it up last year, and in the Spring the sparrows moved in and took possession. The mother bird laid only one egg at a time, and the first egg was the only one she herself actually hatched. As soon as one egg cracked the mother bird would lay another, until finally there were in the nest young in all stages, from a fledgeling to a bird newly hatched. The actual hatching of the last five eggs was done by the warmth of the eldest, and those that came in succession. If this isn't an instance of child labor, I don't know what is.

"I had a small shotgun for killing English sparrows, and I wanted to kill the parent birds. I discovered that among the sparrows on the place there was something communistic, because no sooner had I killed a couple of what I thought were parents, when other sparrows would come and bring food to the young. In all, I had to shoot fifteen birds before I cut off the food supply of the occupants of the nest.

New Ships! Quick Trip!
To JAPAN and CHINA
Time Reduced Nearly ONE WEEK
10 Days Now Takes You to Japan—15 Days to China
On New Canadian Pacific Empresses
These new ships are the finest vessels ever brought into Western waters—providing every possible luxury of equipment and service.
Time saving gives TWO EXTRA WEEKS on the round trip to spend in sight-seeing or transacting business.

Empress of Russia---Empress of Asia
Japan and Return Now $300

If tourists knew how restful, refreshing and invigorating is this 10-day voyage on the cool, blue Pacific; how sumptuous the accommodations offered, and how delightful the typically Oriental service—and then how amusing and interesting is little Japan and her people—everyone with six weeks to spend in touring would make it their vacation trip. Costs no more than a European visit.

With additional interests en route to the Pacific coast—the marvelous Canadian Rockies, America's "50 Switzerlands in One"—the beautiful cities of Vancouver and Victoria, and all the wonders of the fascinating Puget Sound country.

All described graphically by our new folder, just off the press, which tells of ships, voyage and countries you may visit.

PASSENGER VESSEL FIRST IN BIG CANAL

Panama Railroad Liner Will Take Goethals and Other Officials Through.

COLONEL DISDAINS POMP

So the Opening Will Be Devoid of Special Ceremony—Oregon to Sail Through Later.

Neither the battleship Oregon nor the whaler Fram is to be the first ship to go through the Panama Canal when that waterway is ready for the passage of a vessel early next year. Instead a regular passenger boat of the Panama Railroad & Steamship Company leaving New York on a regular trip will be scheduled to go to Panama City instead of stopping at Colon, and will go directly through the canal.

At Colon Col. Goethals and other officials will be taken aboard for the first trip, but otherwise there will be no attempt to make a great display of the first passage.

Col. Goethals himself has insisted upon this plan being followed and has put his foot down upon any suggestion of sending the Oregon through first. The Oregon may be the first of the battleships to go through and the Fram may be the first foreign ship to use the waterway, but Col. Goethals, never an advocate of pomp and display, believes that whatever honor is coming to any steamship belongs to the Panama Railroad boats.

As a matter of fact, the opening of the canal will be regulated by the arrival at Colon of one of the regular boats, so that there will be no delay at the Atlantic end. It has not yet been decided which boat will make the trip, but the choice lies between two—the Advance and the Allianca—whichever one is due in Colon about the time the canal is ready will be selected for the journey to the Pacific.

There is to be no official opening of the canal to be followed by its closing for a period while more work is being done. Of course work will go on all the time, but when the Advance or the Allianca makes the trip any other boat can follow at once.

At the same time the harbors and docks at each end, the supply depots where ships of all nations can get coal, oil, and food, and the great repair shops—greater than any navy yard or ship yard in the world—will be practically finished, so that once the waterway is thrown open everything will be ready for any emergency, from docking and supplying the requisites of a thousand-foot ship to the repairing of battleships of the navy.

Huge Terminal Facilities.

The terminal facilities for the canal, now under construction, provide for a system of piers at both entrances to the waterway, with appliances, many of them never before used, for the rapid handling of cargo.

It should be understood that a large amount of the trade by way of the canal will not be through traffic; that is, ships from New York, New Orleans, Liverpool, and other ports will touch at Cristobal on the Atlantic side, unload part of their cargo, and then sail to other ports on the Atlantic seaboard. Ships for the west coast of the Americas and for the Orient will pick up this freight and carry it to its destination.

At the Atlantic entrance, where there was no natural harbor, a great harbor has been built by the construction of a mole, at right angles to the canal channel, for a distance of three-quarters of a mile out into the sea. Projecting from this mole inland will be the great terminal docks. A quay wall and two piers are being built, and space has been arranged for three more piers should the traffic demand it. The piers are 1,000 feet long, and the slips between them 300 feet wide, so that two 1,000-foot ships can dock at one time without entering the canal itself.

The piers and quay walls will be equipped with cranes and modern machinery for rapid handling of cargo. The direction of the mole is such, with relation to the canal and the immense breakwater, which juts out from Toro Point, that it will break the force of the heavy seas which the violent "northers" of Winter pile up in Colon Harbor. It is now thought that this method of construction will make unnecessary the building of an eastern breakwater, originally provided for in the plans of the canal.

At the Atlantic entrance will be a great coaling station for the navy, where 400,000 tons of coal will be stored. Here also will be immense fuel oil tanks and the commissary plant as a base of supplies for the army and navy. Commercial vessels will be allowed to buy fuel and supplies, but private companies will be allowed to enter into competition with the Government, if they care to.

The arrangements at the Pacific end will be about the same except that the terminal docks will be five miles inland from the beginning of the canal. Beside the terminal quay and docks will be a dry dock, capable of taking any ship now built or contemplated. It will be situated behind Sosa Hill, where an enemy's guns cannot reach it.

Between the dry docks and the wharves will be the Government marine works, in which repairs to naval vessels and commercial ships will be made by the United States Government. This means that the United States will go into the business of ship repairing, and it is likely that the plant will be kept running day and night, for ships from all over the world will put in for repairs.

Inland Harbor Could Float Navy.

The United States made up its mind to go after the commercial ship repair business in order to prevent a monopoly of the use of the canal by powerful "interests," who might run ships of their own and greatly handicap other companies' boats by tying up the repair shops. Several large corporations, however, will build plants at one entrance or the other of the canal and at least two big oil companies will enter into competition for the fuel oil trade.

One of the most important features of the canal, not generally known, is the great harbor that has been dredged in a secluded part of Gatun Lake, the 164 square mile artificial lake. Here all the ships in the United States Navy could be assembled at one time and be safe from the fire of other ships. The United States does not believe that its ships will ever have to turn tail and run, but if they do, a place of refuge is provided.

CANAL FIGURES INCREASED.

Slides Add More Than 9,000,000 Yards to Excavation Estimate.

PANAMA, Aug. 21.—Revised figures of the excavation remaining to be done to complete the canal show an increase of 20,126,000 cubic yards over the estimate of July 1, 1912. More than 9,000,000 yards of this increase is due to slides in Culebra Cut.

The total excavation for the completed canal will reach 232,353,000 cubic yards, of which 25,748,051 yards are yet to be removed. Much of this will be handled by dredges after the water is let in.

MITCHELL IN STRIKE ZONE.

Will Address Michigan Miners To-morrow—Arrests Continue.

CALUMET, Mich., Aug. 21.—John Mitchell, Second Vice-President of the American Federation of Labor, will visit the copper miners' strike district Saturday to deliver two addresses to the strikers, one at Calumet in the forenoon and one at Houghton in the afternoon. He is the first labor leader of national reputation to come here.

To-day the Third Regiment of the Michigan National Guard was moved from Calumet to Ahmeek, four miles north of Calumet, where it is said a back-to-work movement is to be started. To prevent possible trouble, Gen. Abbey decided to establish a strong force there. The First Regiment will remain in Calumet, and the Second on the south of the district.

Eight shafts of the Calumet and Hecla are now hoisting rock. Three more of the Hecla Conglomerate Lode Branch were put in commission to-day.

Arrests of strikers continue to be made daily for alleged intimidation. As the result of the rioting in Calumet Wednesday afternoon seven strikers are now under arrest. The inquest into the death of Tazan, one of two strikers killed in a fight between strikers and deputies near Painesdale recently, was started before Coroner Little at Houghton this afternoon and will be continued to-morrow.

OFFICIAL GRADING OF CORN.

Seven Grades Tentatively Established by Department of Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Seven grades for commercial corn tentatively formulated by the Department of Agriculture's office of grain standardization were announced to-day. The descriptions were given out by Acting Secretary Galloway, so that the public might be fully informed regarding them before they were finally adopted as the official American standard grades.

A formal meeting will be held here in the latter part of September or at some time during October, when the Government officials will listen to any objections or suggestions from the corn trade or others interested before the grades are officially adopted.

Yellow corn of all grades shall be at least 95 per cent. yellow.

Mixed corn of all grades shall include corn of various colors not coming within the limits for color, as provided for under white or yellow corn.

ALEX. T. McGILL HELD.

Put Under $10,000 Bail on a Charge of Manslaughter.

Alexander T. McGill was arrested yesterday at his home, 123 Belmont Avenue, Jersey City, on a charge of manslaughter. Louis Parreidt was killed early in the morning a week ago on the Hudson Boulevard in West Hoboken in an accident to McGill's automobile. McGill was driving. The machine struck an electric light pole and was wrecked. David Montagnon of St. Louis is in the North Hudson Hospital with probably fatal injuries received in the accident. The warrant was sworn out by Assistant Prosecutor James M. McCarthy on "information and belief" that McGill "did kill and slay" Parreidt. McGill gave $10,000 bail to answer to the Grand Jury in September.

The warrant was issued and the bail fixed by Judge George G. Tennant of the Court of Common Pleas. Mr. McGill is a son of the late Dr. John D. McGill, President of the Hudson County National Bank, and is a nephew of the late Chancellor Alexander T. McGill.

WOULD TAX PULITZER GIFTS.

University of Missouri Sues for Inheritance Levy Under State Law.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—The University of Missouri to-day filed suit in the Probate Court for the payment of inheritance taxes on bequests made in the will of Joseph Pulitzer, owner of The New York World and The St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

One suit is for the payment of an inheritage tax of $14,450 on sums aggregating $292,000, which are set aside from the earnings of The Post-Dispatch for the Philharmonic Society of New York; the Metropolitan Museum of Art of New York, and the Columbia University School of Journalism. If further amounts are paid to these beneficiaries up to $500,000 each, as provided by the will, the university demands an inheritance tax on those payments.

The university also sues for an inheritance tax of $4,500 on bequests made to editors and managers of the Pulitzer papers.

The Pulitzer will sets aside shares of stock, the income of which was to be paid to the editors and managers. The attorney for the institution asserts that under this clause more than $88,000 was paid between February, 1912, and July, 1913, and that ultimately the editors and managers of the Pulitzer papers will receive amounts aggregating $2,700,000. This estimate is based on tables of life insurance companies.

The suits are filed under a statute which imposes a collateral inheritance tax of 5 per cent. on all legacies except those bequeathed to direct heirs of the maker of the will. Under the law the University of Missouri is the beneficiary of this inheritance tax.

The case will be tried before Probate Judge Holtcamp on an agreed statement of facts probably in September.

The legal question involved is whether a collateral inheritance tax can be levied against bequests to charitable and educational institutions. Attorneys of the university assert that the fact that the institutions involved are outside of Missouri prevents them from claiming tax exemption.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The disturbance over the north central regions has increased in intensity and has been attended by thunder showers during the last twenty-four hours in the upper lake region, the Upper Mississippi and Lower Ohio Valleys. There have been scattered showers, mostly light, in the Lower Missouri and Lower Mississippi Valleys, the East Gulf States, and in the Southern Rocky Mountains.

Fair weather has prevailed in the North and Middle Atlantic States, the Plains States, and the Pacific regions.

Temperatures have fallen in the Rocky Mountain regions, the Plains States, and lower Ohio Valley. The weather continues cool in the Atlantic States. There will be showers during Friday over practically all of the region between the Mississippi River and the Atlantic Coast, and the showers will continue in the Atlantic and Gulf States on Saturday.

The weather will be generally fair on Friday over the western half of the country and on Saturday in all the western and central districts.

Temperatures will rise slowly on Friday in the North and Middle Atlantic States and fall in the Upper Mississippi Valley and the Middle West. The weather will be cooler Saturday in all interior regions.

Winds along the North Atlantic Coast will be moderate southeast to south Friday, becoming brisk Saturday; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate southeast; South Atlantic Coast, moderate northeast.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND SATURDAY.

Eastern New York—Increasing cloudiness, followed by showers late Friday and Saturday; slightly warmer Friday; moderate to brisk southeast to southwest winds.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Unsettled and warmer, probably showers, Friday. Saturday, showers; moderate to brisk southwest winds.

New England—Increasing cloudiness, followed by showers late Friday and Saturday; warmer Friday; moderate east to south winds, becoming brisk Saturday.

Western New York—Thundershowers Friday and probably Saturday; cooler Saturday; moderate to brisk southwest winds, shifting to west Friday night or Saturday, with squalls.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has approved the following:

Report from the first assistant chief examiner recommending that the request of the President of Queens for the approval of the transfer of Bernhard Winter from the place of foreman at $4 a day to Inspector of Street Openings at $1,200 a year be denied, because a preferred list for Inspector of Complaints exists.

Report from the first assistant chief examiner, recommending that the Commissioner of Public Works of Queens be asked to renew his request that an examination be held for promotion from second to third grade clerk in the Bureau of Street Cleaning during the month of September.

Report from the first assistant chief examiner recommending that the request of the Assistant Secretary of the Board of Estimate, that the name of Edward J. Kelley be certified for appointment as engineering chemist from the eligible list of chemist for the Bureau of Highways, Manhattan, be denied, because that examination was limited to questions on paving materials, and Mr. Kelley failed in the examination for fuel engineering chemist.

Report from the first assistant chief examiner recommending that the eligible list of junior architectural draughtsman, grade B, be certified in response to the request of the Fire Commissioner for an eligible list from which to fill a vacancy in the place of architectural draughtsman, at $1,050 a year.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination, to be held at the New York Custom House on Sept. 10, for apprentice plate cleaner, transferer, and engraver, for men only, to fill a vacancy, at $1.60 a day, in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington, D. C., and vacancies requiring similar qualifications as they may occur. As difficulty has been experienced in obtaining eligibles for this place, qualified persons are urged to enter this examination. Competitors will be examined in spelling, arithmetic, letter writing, penmanship, copying from plain copy, elementary physics, and mechanical drawing.

Applicants must have had theoretical and practical training of a mechanical character in metal work, such as is usually acquired in manual training schools or similar institutions or in occupations that give training in the handling of tools and machinery requiring great precision and accuracy in measuring and adjustment. Applicants must have reached their sixteenth but not their eighteenth birthday on the date of the examination. Further information may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Rents Small Broadway Store at Average of $20 a Square Foot—Harlem Flats Sold—Bronx and Suburban Buyers—Leasing Market Active.

The realty market was in a quiet condition yesterday. Few sales were reported, and those were of a minor nature. A store lease of more than ordinary interest was announced by W. J. Schoonmaker, who rented one of the small stores in the Wilson Building, on the southeast corner of Broadway and thirty-third Street, to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for a long trem of years. The store is 24 by 45 feet, and the estate of George B. Wilson of Philadelphia has been asking $22,000 a year for the premises.

The lease, it is understood, was a trifle under that figure, but it probably averages close to $20 a square foot, which is a high mark for inside stores in that locality. The drug store in the McAlpin Hotel on the Thirty-fourth Street corner of Broadway was leased over a year ago at a reported rate of over $20 a square foot, but that is a large store. The United Cigar Stores Company has a long lease on the small corner store in the Wilson building, paying close to $30 a square foot, the highest rent for store property in this city.

Buyer for Harlem Flat.

The five-story flat, 104 West 137th Street, on a lot 25 by 100 feet, has been sold to an investor. Hyman Straus is the owner of record. The structure, which is located 100 feet west of Lenox Avenue, is reported to have been held at about $31,000.

Investors Buying Tenements.

Paul A. McGolrick and Vincent A. Clarke have sold for Gertrude Sawyer 443 West Fifty-sixth Street, a five-story tenement, on a plot 25 by 100.5 feet. Joseph B. Peck is the buyer.

Bradley Martin has taken title to 145 East Thirtieth Street, a five-story tenement, recently purchased from Henry Phipps.

The Mack Construction Company has sold to an investing client of A. V. Amy & Co. 2,195 Fifth Avenue, a five-story double flat with stores, on a lot 25 by 75 feet, located between 133d and 134th Streets.

Bronx Borough Deals.

The New York Real Estate and Security Company has increased its holdings in the Bronx by taking title to the two five-story new-law tenements at 1,044 to 1,048 Forest Avenue, on plot 75 by 170.

Long Island.

The Windsor Land and Improvement Company sold at Hempstead to C. G. Economides, a plot 60 by 104 on Hempstead Parkway; to M. Considine, a plot 40 by 100 on Hempstead Parkway; to M. Dullingham and A. Patterson, each a plot 40 by 100 on Lawson Street; to M. Lynch, a plot 40 by 115 on Grand Avenue; to R. Haberman, a plot 40 by 100 on Cambridge Road. The same company sold at Valley Stream to A. Logue, a plot 60 by 85 on Chester Street; to J. Rogers, a plot 40 by 85 on Chester Street. The same company sold at Floral Park to E. Callahan, a plot 40 by 100 on Belmont Street; to R. Wahrburg, a plot 40 by 100 on Iris Avenue. The same company sold at Rockville Centre to A. & G. Ruotolo, a lot 42 by 120 on Carroll Avenue.

Sales at Mountain Lakes.

Several residences have been sold recently at Mountain Lakes, N. J. J. M. Hopler purchased a house on Morris Avenue, Mrs. W. C. Stewart bought a newly completed dwelling on the State Road, J. H. Gooding bought a 14-room house on a plot 150 by 365 feet, C. E. Henry purchased a Swiss chalet, and Mrs. L. M. Ives bought a home on the Lake Drive. From June 15 to Aug. 15, the company states that homes and plots to the value of $150,000 have been sold.

Commercial Leases.

The Cross & Brown Company has leased for the Oakland Motor Company, the entire building at 131 West Fifty-first Street to the Garden Garage Company for a term of years.

The McVickar, Gaillard Realty Company has leased the entire building at 240 West Fifty-fifth Street for Sadie Bonwitt to the Empire Rubber and Tire Company for a term of years.

Worthington Whitehouse leased for a term of years, 40 East Fifty-third Street, for the County Holding Company to Mrs. Grace Wood, interior decorator.

Unger & Watson, Inc., has leased for the Bloomingdale Leasing Company to Frederick W. Reichman the store at 2,650 Broadway for a term of five years at the aggregate rental of $10,000.

$219,684 for Queens Buildings.

There was a considerable decline in the building operations in the Borough of Queens this week as compared with other weeks, due in a large measure to the inactivity of speculative builders. Altogether there were sixty-four applications for new buildings of an estimated cost of $184,210, forty-three applications for alterations of an estimated cost of $16,780, and thirty-six applications for plumbing permits at an estimated cost of $18,694. The total amount of the operations for the week was $219,084.

FOES SEEK MY PLACE, SAYS JUDGE SPEER

Accused Jurist Tells The Times His Attack on Spy System Provoked Reprisal.

CALLS INQUIRY PARTISAN

He Asks a Suspension of Judgment on Charges Which Can Be "Easily Refuted."

By Telegraph to the Editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOUNT AIRY, Ga., Aug. 21.—Responding to your telegram asking for a statement regarding the charges laid before the House Judiciary Committee by the Examiner for the Department of Justice, I am convinced that the original animating motive was a strong desire in a certain quarter to get control of the Judgeship, the duties of which I have performed for nearly twenty-nine years.

I also think that the charges are largely in reprisal for my address before the Iowa Bar Association, in which I declared that the spy system of the Department of Justice, directed at American judges, is subversive of the independence of the judiciary, once regarded as the chief felicity of the Constitution.

The evils of the system are clearly illustrated by my inability to give you a more definite reply. The examination was secret. It was bitterly partisan, and was intended to be injurious and with the avowed purpose to make the accumulations the basis of my impeachment.

My court was in actual session. No Judge was ever subjected to greater interference with the orderly and effective performance of his duties.

I cannot and do not know the charges. So far, however, as they have been outlined by newspaper reports, they are capable of the easiest and completest refutation.

Since you kindly give me the opportunity, may I not express the hope that the public, and particularly my brethren of the bench and bar, will form no opinion of these charges until I know what they are, and have had the opportunity, if need be, to prove how little I merit them. EMORY SPEER.

(Judge of the United States Circuit Court of Claims for the Southern District of Georgia.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Federal Judge Emory Speer of Georgia, charged with official misconduct in papers filed with the House Committee on Judiciary, will attend any hearings the committee may hold to take evidence in the case. He telegraphed to-day to Representative Hughes of Georgia, a lifelong friend and college classmate, asking that he arrange for his appearance at the proper time. Mr. Hughes immediately conferred with Chairman Clayton of the committee, and later notified Judge Speer that he would be permitted to be present with counsel.

A conference of the Georgia delegation in the House has been called for to-morrow to consider what course it should adopt in view of the charges made against a Federal Judge within their State.

The sub-committee will report to the delegation as to whether the charges are sufficiently serious to warrant a House resolution being offered to impeach the Judge. Such a resolution would be referred to the Judiciary Committee, which will resume consideration of the Department of Justice's report next Monday.

NOT HIS BROTHER'S KEEPER.

An Angry Woman Has Her Brother-in-Law Summoned to Court in Vain.

Mrs. Anna Gershel of 2,495 Broadway had her brother-in-law, Benjamin Gershel, in the Jefferson Market Court yesterday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. She told Magistrate Levy that her husband, George, had left her in January, and that ever since she has been trying to find him.

"My husband is that person's brother," said Mrs. Gershel in pointing at the defendant, "and I have been trying to serve papers upon my husband, and in making that effort this man has beaten and struck me. When I went to see him in a Fifth Avenue restaurant on July 29 and asked him to tell me where my husband was he called me names.

Gershel denied having used any improper language to his sister-in-law, and Labella Larapella, cashier in the restaurant, said that she had not heard him using any disrespectful language.

"I don't blame you in wanting to find your husband," said the Court, "but this man is not his brother's keeper, and you must not trouble or annoy him."

STORE MANAGER HELD UP.

Robbers Cover Him with a Pistol and Empty the Cash Register.

Two men walked into the Great Atlantic and Pacific grocery store at 187 Monticello Avenue, Jersey City, yesterday, and one of them asked for five cakes of a brand of soap which was in plain view under the back counter, and for which it was evident Peter Piche, the manager, who was alone behind the counter, would have to stoop. He did stoop. As he straightened up he found a pistol pointed at his face, and he was commanded to throw up his hands, which he did.

One of the men then slipped behind the counter, too $44, all the cash register contained, and warned the manager to keep still until they had left the store. At the door they spoke to a third man, who evidently had been on guard there. Two of them jumped on a passing Jackson Avenue car bound for Hoboken and the third disappeared.

SUES HERBERT FOR DIVORCE

Wife Begins Suit Against Actor's Son in Cincinnati Court.

A suit for divorce was filed yesterday in the courts of Cincinnati by Mrs. Viola Herbert against her husband, Joseph W. Herbert, Jr., of 536 West 111th Street, according to a dispatch received here last night from Cincinnati. In her petition Mrs. Herbert alleges that her husband has refused to provide for her.

Mr. Herbert is the son of the late Joseph W. Herbert, the actor, who appeared in "Fascinating Flora" in 1907, and "A Lovely Dream" in 1908. His mother, Mrs. Joseph W. Herbert, said that he and Mrs. Viola Herbert were married about three years ago, but had been living apart for some time. Mrs. Viola Herbert is staying with her parents in Ohio. Her husband is at present in Harrisburg, Penn.

Reformatory Inmate Commits Murder to be Sent to Prison.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Aug. 21.—Edward Morton, an inmate of the State reformatory here, stabbed and killed Charles Bartle, another inmate, late today. Morton said he bore Bartle no ill-will and that he stabbed him so he could be sent to the Indiana State Prison in Michigan City, where the prisoners received tobacco.

"As I have not long to live, could you not let me have some tobacco?" Morton asked Supt. D. S. Peyton, when told that Bartle was dead.

Both men had been sentenced to the reformatory for petty larceny and were employed in the shoe shop. Morton used a shoe knife and drove it into Bartle's back as they came out of the barber shop.

TRAIN DERAILED; FOUR HURT

Illinois Central Coaches Roll Down Mississippi Embankment.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21.—A northbound Illinois Central passenger train was derailed when running forty miles an hour through Boguechitto, Miss., at noon to-day, and four persons, Ira Watson, a jeweler of Brandon, Miss.; T. Cunningham of McComb, Miss., and two negroes were seriously hurt.

The engine tender jumped the track at a switch. The engineer immediately put on the emergency brakes, but the baggage and combination coach rolled down a fifteen-foot embankment, and the next three cars landed across the track. Three sleeping cars remained on the rails. One of the two tracks was cleared at 6 o'clock to-night.

MINERS WAIVE RECOGNITION.

6,000 Lead Men Now Dickering for Increase of Pay.

FARMINGTON, Mo., Aug. 21.—Representatives of the 6,000 striking lead miners in St. Francois County agreed today to eliminate recognition of the union from their demands on mine owners. Settlement of the strike is expected soon.

The agreement to eliminate recognition was made at a secret session of operators, union leaders, and the State Board of Arbitration and Mediaton. The only difference remaining to be adjusted is wages. The men demand an increase of 50 cents a day. The mine owners offer 25 cents.

Girl Rescues 6-Year-Old from Canal

Special to The New York Times.

ROCKAWAY, N. J., Aug. 21.—For three hours last night little 6-year-old Charles Doland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Doland of Wall Street, clung to an old mattress floating in the Morris Canal after he had fallen from the bridge spanning Wall Street, and succeeded in keeping himself afloat. Hearing the cries of the child, Miss Marion Schofield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Schofield of White Meadow Avenue, without taking off any of her clothes, dived overboard and swam ashore with the youngster.

Fell Four Stories; Not Hurt Much.

Jacob Shadd, 18 years old, a painter, who gave his address as Thirty-ninth Street and Ninth Avenue, fell from a window on the fourth floor of 103 Chambers Street yesterday, and later, when examined by an ambulance surgeon, was pronounced not to be injured severely. Shadd was removed to the Hudson Street Hospital, however, for a more thorough examination.

FUSIONIST REVISION FOR COUNTY TICKETS

NO CHANGES FOR QUEENS

Committee of 107 Takes Up Bronx Protests—Republicans Put Forward Wadhams.

The Executive Committee of the Fusion Committee of 107, after wrangling for several hours yesterday, decided to rearrange several of its county tickets. Just how many changes are to be made will be announced later. It was decided to leave the Queens ticket, with Robert W. Higbie as the Fusion choice for Borough President, as it was originally made up, as the anti-Higbie factions could not unite upon any other candidate.

It was announced that the Kings County slate would be rearranged so that the nomination for Sheriff would be given to Lewis M. Swazey in place of John T. Rafferty, and that Edward T. O'Loughlin, the present Register, would succeed Jesse Fuller, Jr. Mr. Swazey is a Republican and Mr. O'Loughlin a Hearstite, elected on the Fusion ticket four years ago. It was also decided by the Fusionists not to have any nominations for Municipal Court Judges.

The committee took up the Queens situation first. A majority of members were in favor of substituting some one for Mr. Higbie, particularly as Mr. Higbie had announced his willingness to withdraw. An effort was made to have the dissatisfied Fusionists agree upon Borough President Maurice E. Connolly for renomination. The Fusion Executive Committee was willing to accept him, but each faction stuck to its own candidate and the committee decided that the only way out was to leave the ticket undisturbed. The committee then sent a letter to the Queens County Progressive Committee. It said:

"The Citizens' Municipal Committee of Queens recommends to all voters in the Borough of Queens who believe in non-partisanship and efficiency in municipal government the name of Robert W. Higbie for Borough President and membership in the Board of Estimate and apportionment.

"After most careful consideration of the problem of effecting a complete fusion in Queens upon a worthy candidate, and after holding many conferences with representatives of anti-Tammany organizations, we have become firmly convinced that of all the candidates suggested the one pre-eminently worthy of nomination is Mr. Higbie. We have found no adequate reason why all Fusion parties cannot unite in his support. With such fusion he can be elected. The Executive Committee is unanimous in announcing its final determination to stand by his nomination.

"In the confidence that the Progressives of Queens are actuated in this campaign by patriotic and not partisan motives, we urge the Queens Borough Progressive Committee to designate Mr. Higbie for the coming primaries."

The Fusionists were plainly alarmed at the action of the Progressive Party in Kings in bolting part of the Fusion county ticket on Wednesday night. They were afraid the Republicans might do the same, so they hurriedly got together and decided that something must be done at once. After the majority declared in favor of making some substitutions, a sub-committee was appointed to confer with the anti-Tammany leaders in Kings and the Bronx, in order to promote harmony among the warring factions.

The Republican Committee of Seven, headed by Samuel S. Koenig, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, which was appointed on Wednesday night to wait on the Fusion Committee to try to effect a change in the Fusion judicial slate, met Norman Hapgood and Joseph M. Price, the leaders of the Fusion committee yesterday. What happened at the meeting was not given out, but it was learned that the Republicans asked the Fusionists to put William H. Wadhams on the ticket for Supreme Court Justice instead of General Sessions and put Isidore Wasservogel, Assistant District Attorney, in Wadham's place, taking Benjamin N. Cardozo off the ticket entirely.

The Independence League, it is said, is planning to bolt the Fusion judiciary ticket. The Independence Leaguers are angry over what they consider a breach of faith on the part of the Fusionists in not naming James A. Allen for City Court Judge.

It was announced at the Fusion headquarters that campaign headquarters for Mr. Mitchel, Mr. Prendergast, and Mr. McAneny would be opened to-day on the fifth floor of the Fifth Avenue Building.

B. WASHINGTON AT HOME.

Col. Watterson Tells of the Feeling Toward the Educator at Tuskegee.

Col. Henry Watterson is an outspoken admirer of Dr. Booker T. Washington, and is loud in his praise of the work that is being done at Tuskegee. When the Colonel was in New York last he was telling about a visit he had paid to the institute, and his feelings when addressing a body of 1,500 young men and women, whose fathers or grandfathers had been slaves, and how he had enjoyed the experience.

"One incident connected with my stay in Tuskegee rather impressed me as giving some insight into the opinion that is held locally as to the value of Dr. Washington's work," said Col. Watterson. "I stopped at a hotel that had evidently been at one time a fine old mansion, and it was kept by a couple whose talk throughout gave one the idea that the war had not been over ten years. The woman was extreme in her utterances, and it was just as if I had stepped into a hotbed of secession. But with it all, the woman knew and appreciated what Booker Washington had been doing for his race, for after a long tirade about the terrible wrongs inflicted upon the Southerners by the hated Yankees, and so on, she suddenly stretched out one arm in the direction of the Institute.

"'Well,' she said, earnestly, 'I must say, "Thank God for that niggah on the hill yondah!"'"

BOY SHOOTS PLAYMATE.

Lad Accidentally Wounded by 10-Year-Old at Picnic—May Die.

Special to The New York Times.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Aug. 21.—John Holton, the fourteen-year-old son of William Holton of McCullough Street, is lying in the Memorial Hospital in a precarious condition as a result of having been accidentally shot at a rifle range at the picnic of the Morristown Division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, held at Morris Plains yesterday.

Holton and Raymond Regan, the ten-year-old son of Edward Regan, of 139 Madison Avenue, were playing about the shooting gallery when Regan picked up one of the guns, lifted it to his shoulder to sight a duck, and accidentally pulled the trigger. The bullet entered Holton's body an inch below the heart, penetrating the left lung and coming out near the left shoulder blade. The injured lad was hurried to the hospital in an automobile in an unconscious condition.

DOG FINDS RUNAWAY GIRLS.

They Were Sleeping Out on a Mountain with Circus Companions.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 21.—Two 16-year-old girls from Newburg, N. Y., who had left their homes with two youths who deserted a circus in that city, slept in the open in South Mountain Reservation last night, and this morning were arrested by Park Policeman Brodesser. Brodesser's dog discovered the runaways. The boys had taken off their coats and rolled them around their shoes to make a pillow for the girls, and had put their vests on the girls to keep them warm while they shivered in the cold.

The prisoners said they were Clifford Brown, eighteen years old, of Chatham, Ill., and Olmstead Hearst, nineteen, of Gaston, Ala. The girls said they were Jennie Gleason and Annie Grant. They had become tired of their humdrum home life, they said, and joined the boys in a spirit of adventure. The boys had promised to take them around the world, but their cash lasted only until yesterday.

According to the girls, they left their homes on Sunday afternoon, spent Sunday night in New York and Tuesday night in Plainfield. They came here last night and sought a sleeping place in the woods. The girls insist that they left home voluntarily and were not enticed away by their male companions.

Brown and Hearst were arraigned before Recorder Felix McGee in the Millburn Police Court and held on a charge of abduction. Extradition papers are being awaited from Newburg. A policeman from that city appeared later to take the girls to their homes

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Annie Grant and Jennie Gleason ran away with Hearst and Brown, who were employed by a carnival company that played here last week. The girls were brought home to-day. The extradition of Hearst and Brown will be sought on a charge of abduction.

FLUSHING HAS A DOG HUNT.

Strays Rounded Up in Search for Those Bitten by Rabid Animal.

Alarmed by the death from hydrophobia of Mrs. Nina Lang, residents of Flushing have started an energetic campaign against stray dogs. Dr. G. J. Goubeaud, the Health Department's veterinarian, and his assistants yesterday collected twenty-five of the strays, and these dogs are being held for observation. Some of them were bitten by a fox terrier that was found to have rabies and was destroyed by the doctor.

Another dog that bit some of those now under observation is still at large. Yesterday this dog was trailed to the edge of the meadows, but there all trace of the animal was lost.

William Ostrander, the five-year-old son of Knox Ostrander, who was bitten by the same dog that caused the death of Mrs. Nina Lang, is now out of danger, according to Dr. Goubeaud.

MISS MITCHELL A BRIDE.

Marriage to Prof. Goodspeed Celebrated at Philadelphia.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Miss Edith Warren Mitchell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell Mitchell, was married to Dr. Arthur Willis Goodspeed, Professor of Physics of the University of Pennsylvania, at her parents' home in Edgewater Park, to-day. Prof. and Mrs. Goodspeed started for Hopkinton, N. H., the bridegroom's Summer home.

The bride is the great-great-granddaughter of Gov. Pleasants of Virginia and of Major Samuel Coleman of Revolutionary fame.

Dr. Goodspeed is well known in Philadelphia. He is a descendant of Joshua Morse, an officer under Washington. He was graduated from Harvard with honors and is a member of the Society of Arts, London, and the French Physical Society.

IGNORES MOTHER IN COURT.

Mrs. Davis in Tears When Daughter Refuses to Speak to Her.

Reine Davis, the 18-year-old daughter of Adolph J. Davis, a mining promoter, of 2 Stone Street, was brought before Supreme Court Justice Giegerich yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus sued out by her mother, Mrs. Alma J. Davis, who said that for the last ten years relatives of her husband at Plattsburg, N. Y., had been keeping the girl. It was ten years ago that Davis procured a Colorado divorce from his wife in an undefended action. Mrs. Davis is contesting the validity of this decree on the ground that she was never informed that the suit had been started. She has initiated a divorce action of her own in the Supreme Court, Kings County.

Although Mrs. Davis had not seen the daughter since she was a child of 8 years, the mother recognized her immediately as she came into court, and walked over to her with the words:

"Reine, my daughter, don't you know me?"

The young woman gave no sign of recognition and the elder woman stretched out her arms with the cry:

"I'm your mother."

Miss Davis said nothing and turned her head away. Tears came into Mrs. Davis's eyes, and she turned away to be comforted by a woman friend.

Pending the outcome of the Brooklyn suit Justice Giegerich directed that Mrs. Davis should be allowed to visit her daughter at Plattsburg.

BUYERS TALK PROSPERITY.

Not All of the Thousands Now Here Follow Beaten Paths.

Commenting on the fact that one Broadway hotel night before last put away 1,813 persons under its roof, and that all the other hotels are now filled, the room clerk at one of them was moved yesterday to discuss buyers.

"There are more in this town just now than you would think," he observed. "Of course I know that the united capacities of the hotels that are believed to be the headquarters of buyers would be only a few thousand, but there are the hotels in the side streets and those uptown. You would be surprised at the number that get away from the beaten path when they come to New York.

"There are thousands of buyers in high-class boarding houses and thousands more are visiting friends here in town. Besides, the number who make their headquarters when they come East at New Rochelle or some of the suburban towns, or towns at the seaside within easy distance of New York, is considerable. How do I know? For one reason, because lots of them have their mail sent here.

"This year there seems to be a very large number of proprietors of stores in small towns who have come on to buy. You will find a lot of them at the more expensive hotels. Of course there are lots of people who come to New York at this time who don't want it known that they are here to buy. Others take care to register the names of their firms. But I want to tell you that they all seem prosperous just now."

This statement was partly borne out by a conversation between four women buyers that was overheard in the dining room of a hotel on Broadway at luncheon yesterday. They were talking about automobiles, and were giving their preferences for different makes. Each spoke as if she was accustomed to drive her own car, and the members of the party at the next table, who were merely New Yorkers and were rejoicing that the price of taxicabs had at last come within reach, were compelled to listen in undisguised envy.
